Harkness Tangles With CCF On Support Program

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Harkness, a hog-raiser from away back, tangled in the Commons Friday night with CCF House Leader Hazen Argue on the merits of the government's farm prices support program.

The result appeared inconclusive.

Mr. Argue, a Saskatchewan farmer and sole opposition member from the Prairies, said farmers generally feel supports under the new Prices Stabilization Act are not high enough to cover production costs and give a fair return.

This, he said, was despite the fact that the act stipulated that the government, in setting supports, should be "guided by the estimated average cost of the consumer" and by other relevant factors.

Mr. Harkness said determination of production cost is extremely difficult. In all cases the government tried to reach a "reasonable" cost figure and relate it to the support.

When the discussion turned to hogs, the minister spoke more positively. As a long-time livestock raiser in Alberta he said he has raised "at least 10,000 to 20,000 more hogs" than Mr. Argue, who is mainly a grain farmer.

Mr. Harkness said he estimated production cost of hogs, at $18 a hundredweight liveweight, worked out to about the same as the support price of $25 a hundredweight, dressed, at Toronto.

Besides, the ratio between cost of feed grain and market prices of hogs had never been better.

"Anyone who can't make money now shouldn't be in the hog-raising business," the minister said.

Mr. Argue replied that the minister was merely saying that grain raised for feed isn't worth as much as it used to be.

He pointed to the minister's statement that support prices are operating for only four products whose market prices have fallen to the support level: butter, cheese, skimmed milk and wool.

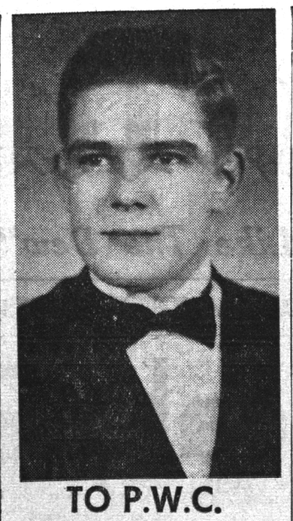
ONLY AIDING BIG ONES?

He quoted Olaf Turnbull, a member of the advisory committee under the Stabilization Act, as having said the act was designed to protect the large farm operator "and let's the devil take the hindmost."

Mr. Harkness said he is glad that market prices for most supported products are still higher than the established floors. He hoped they would stay that way.

The minister said that since the act was presented last fall he has taken pains to point out it would not be like the United States farm parity price system—"one of the most colossal failures in history."

"But you promised parity prices," Mr. Argue interjected, and quoted from election campaign speeches of Prime Minister Diefenbaker promising "adequate parity" supports.



TO P.W.C.

John Wilmer Blanchard, Charlottetown, son of former PWC professor, Dr. J. H. Blanchard and Mrs. Blanchard has been appointed to the staff of Prince of Wales College. He will teach Latin and Greek.

Mr. Blanchard graduated from Quebec's Joliet College in 1954, receiving a B.A. degree from the University of Montreal with which Joliet is affiliated. Prior to enrolling at Joliet College, he had been a student at the local Model School, where he earned his Grade Eight certificate.

Since graduation he has been employed with a local insurance firm.

Simms Bldg. Put To Many Uses-Takes On New Role

The Simms Building on the corner of Kent and Hillsboro Streets, until recently occupied by the Naval Reserve H.M.C.S. Queen Charlotte has been sold by the Provincial Government to the trustees of Central Christian Church.

The building has had a rather checkered history. First built as the Simms Packing company, it was used for some years as a meat packing plant.

For a short time the National Candy Company manufactured candy in the building but shortly after the diststrous Falconwood fire of December 1931, the Provincial Government bought the building as a temporary hospital.

Shortly after the outbreak of World War II the building was taken over by the Department of National Defence and used as a basic training and induction centre of the R.C.N.

Since the war the former meat packing plant and candy factory has served as headquarters for the Naval Reserve training program in the Province. The Navy lease expired a few weeks ago and was not renewed.

Says Pulp, Paper Business Quiet

QUEBEC (CP)—The president of Price Brothers and Company, Ltd., sayst he immediate outlook for the pulp and paper industry is not encouraging.

The opinion was given by President A. C. Price in a report Friday to shareholders. He reviewed, without quoting figures, business during the two first quarters of 1958.

The industry was in a slump last year, the report said, and in 1958, "there has been a further considerable decline in the first three months."

"This has been common to all companies in the industry. In vie of the overproduced situation, the large inventories held by the newspa percompanies and the still uncertain situation in business generally, I think we must look forward to difficult times for some time."

P.E.I. Highlanders Will Hold Reunion Here Today

Ex-members of the Prince Edward Island Highlanders (Black Watch), from all parts of the province, and from many other sections of the Dominion, have indicated that they will be on hand today to take part in the World War Two Regiment's second annual re-union.

Special speaker at the evening banquet to be held in the Charlottetown Armouries will be Major (Rev.) C. W. Foggo, C.D., Protestant Padre of the Unit from 1942 to 1944. Mr. Foggo is minister of Granby United Church, Granby, P. Q.

At 3.00 p.m. the old comrades will parade to the Cenotaph, where a wreath will be laid by Mrs. C. C. Thompson, assisted by Mrs. T. B. Rogers.

Mrs. Thompson is the widow of the late Lt.-Col. C. C. Thompson, M.C., first wartime commander of the Island battalion, while Mrs. Rogers is the widow of the original second-in-command, Major T.B. Rogers.

The ceremonies at the Cenotaph will also include Last Post and Reveille sounded by Bugler "Knobby" Gallant; Binyon's "To the Fallen" recited by the Parade Commander, Lt.-Col. W. J. MacDonald, E.D., and the "Lament" played by WO1 Pipe Major Wilfred Burke.

During the return march to the Armouries, Lieutenant Governor Hyndman will take the salute in front of City Hall.

The parade will proceed from the Armouries to the Cenotaph by way of Kent, Queen and Grafton Streets. It will return to its starting poing by way of Great George and Kent Streets.

DOPE RING HIT HARD

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge has imposed prison terms totalling 117 years on eight members of a narcotics ring. One key figure, Peter Casella, 50, was sentenced to 40 years—the heaviest punishment ever given here in a narcotics case. Casella was accused of supplying drugs to other members of the ring.

Arrested On Forgery Charges

Charged with uttering forged documents against several Charlottetown firm, two men from Sydney Mines, N.S., and one from Augustine Cove, P.E.I. will appear in City Police this morning.

The three were apprehended in Summerside yesterday following an intensive investigation carried out by Deptuy Chief Sterns Webster and Constable Charles Ready of the Charlottetown Police Department.

Chief of Police C.W. MacArthur said yesterday that the total amount of goods obtained by the use of the false documents was estimated to be approximately $600.

Figuring that the men had departed in a westerly direction from the City, Deptuy Chief Webster and Constable Ready yesterday called on all places of business on the road to Summerside, and were successful in picking up their trail at Read's Corner.

Ike Calls Khruschev To Summit Talks About Aug. 12

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called on Russia's Premier Khrushchev Friday to join him in UN summit talks aimed at devising ways to safeguard the Middle East against indirect aggression.

Eisenhower suggested the heads of government of the 11-member United Nations Security Council convene about Aug. 12.

And for the first time in the current exchange of letters with Khrushchev, Eisenhower promised to show up at such a face-to-face conference either in New York or an acceptable European city.

"If such a meeting is arranged," he said, "I expect to attend and participate and I hope that you would do likewise."

Eisenhower laid down his proposals in a letter which rejected Khrushchev's bid to consider the Middle East crisis at an emergency five-power meeting outside the United Nations.

SCOLDS KHRUSHCHEV

Eisenhower scolded the Soviet leader for the harsh language he used in a message to the president four days ago.

Khrushchev had accused Eisenhower of wanting to expand what he termed aggression in the Middle East while stalling on Russia's bid for an immediate heads-of-government meeting.

Eisenhower's reply, backing up a proposal Prime Minister Macmillan made Thursday, came as UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold met with diplomats in New York to make arrangements for a top-level meeting.

Eisenhower refused to retreat on his insistence that any summit talks be held within the framework of the Security Council. Besides the big four countries, members are Nationalist China, Japan, Sweden, Iraq, Canada, Colombia, and Panama.

He assailed Khrushchev's desire to limit the meeting to the Big Four — Russia, the United States, Britain and France—plus India, as a move to have big nations dictate to smaller countries on far-reaching decisions involving war or peace.

DISMISSES CLAIM

Eisenhower dismissed Khrushchev's repeated claim that U.S.-British troop landings in Jordan and Lebanon threaten to plunge the world into war.

"The problem of the Middle East is not one of a threat of aggression by the United States but rather the threat, by others, of further indirect aggression against independent states," he said. "This problem is clearly the responsibility of the United Nations Security Council."

Eisenhower gave no hint what proposals he might set forth at a summit meeting to block indirect aggression. But State Secretary Dulles Thursday told a press conference of these two possibilities:

1. A round-the-clock check by a special UN group on inflammatory radio broadcasts originating in or beamed to the Middle East.

2. Creation of a UN standing force to throw a mantle of international protection around any threatened Middle Eastern nation.

Eisenhower said nothing about the other main purpose of a Middle East summit meeting — to discuss Russia's charge that British - American troops have imperilled world peace.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A youth who received a kidney from his twin brother in a rare operation died Thursday night. Doctors discovered last year that Leon Masden, 20, of nearby Shepherdsville had diseased kidneys.

Child Doing Well After Delicate Heart Surgery

Friends of Chaplain and Mrs. W.B. Taylor, H.M.C.S. Cornwallis will be following with interest the progress of their son 3½ year old Craig Taylor who underwent an intricate heart operation at Children's Hospital in Boston yesterday. Reports thus far indicate that everything has gone according to schedule.

The congential condition for which the child is undergoing surgery was considered to serious to undertake a year ago but advances made in heart surgery in the last twelve months have made such an operation feasible.

Performing the operation on the child is the renowned heart surgeon Dr. Gross of Boston.

Chaplain Taylor is well known to many people in Prince Edward Island. He received part of his education at Prince of Wales College.

Mrs. Wallie Rodd of the Charlottetown Motel is a cousin of the Navy Chaplain.

Claims Economic Forecast Less Rosy Than Fleming's

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says in an Ottawa dispatch that the trade and commerce department's current report on economic prospects "is considerably more pessimistic than the budget forecast" of Finance Minister Fleming.

"The report—which the government has consistently refused to table in the House of Commons—paints a far less rosy picture of the present and future of Canadian economy than did Mr. Fleming in his budget address," says the dispatch by Mark Harrison of The Star's Ottawa staff.

The report is a confidential forecast prepared annually by officials in the trade and commerce department.

Among what it describes as "sharp discrepancies" between the finance minister's budget predictions and the forecasts of government economists, The Star's story lists:

Sees Lebanon Keeping Ties With The West

By EDWIN SHANKE

BEIRUT (AP)—President Camille Chamoun expressed belief Friday that Lebanon will maintain its friendly Western ties under president-elect Fuad Shehab. Cairo and Damascus urged the general to dump Chamoun now and get U.S. forces out of the country.

Rebels broke the calm that followed Shehab's election in Parliament Thursday with a blast that wrecked two stores near the main post office. One person was killed and several others were wounded. It was the rebels' reminder that the crisis is far from over even though they backed Shehab, the army commander.

The rebels demand the immediate resignation of Chamoun and quick withdrawal of the 10,000 U.S. Marines and paratroopers landed last month at Chamoun's request.

Chamoun gave the rebels this answer: "I am not prepared to resign before the end of my term"—Sept. 23.

The United States appeared to supply the other answer, sending mor troops into Lebanon. The U.S. Embassy said more are on the way.

Shehab has given no hint of his future course except to say he does not intend to resign from the army until Sept. 24, the day he is scheduled to take office.

The work of the Bible Society is "ecumenical" . . . that is: it serves the Christian church throughout the world. The Society produces and circulates the Scripture without note or comment and it is because the Society does not engage in interpretation of the Bible that it is able to serve all denominations, whatever their doctrinal position or their system of government. That does not mean that the Society believes that the Bible needs no interpretation, but because it believes that it is the church's task to explain, teach and interpret it. It is in Bible Society work as nowhere else that Christian people from most churches find a place where they can work together for all believe the Bible is God's inspired Word and contains His Word to Man. The Bible Society is a true servant of the churches, producing new translations as they are requested by missionaries at home and overseas and reprinting editions as they are required by the churches and its workers.
At this time the Society is being forced to curtail its work because of lack of funds, due to increased demands in the face of rising costs. We can help by making a contribution through one of the eighty-three branches on the Island and also by purchasing books and religious supplies at The Bible House in Charlottetown.

OPEN IGY MEETING

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Scientists of East and West Wednesday opened the fifth general assembly of the International Geophysical Year committee. The assembly discussions were expected to cover future space studies, proposals for extending the IGY for one year beyond its December closing date and suggestions aimed at turning Antarctica into an international arena for peaceful scientific research.
