EXHIBITION NOTES

Mr. Edward Wood, of Pownall showed six bags of grain and won five prizes. Good!

We congratulate the owner of "Provider" whose colts and fillies literally scooped the prizes in the carriage classes in which they were entered.

In the prize list, the name of Miss Scott was published instead of that of Mr. Clifford Scott, of North River, who was the winner for Early Sunrise potatoes.

Mr. Warburton, the efficient secretary of the exhibition association, and his painstaking assistants, Messrs Allen, Peake, Johnston and Harris, have our thanks for courtesies extended.

In the children's department the judges seem to have overlooked, in some way, the scrap book shown by Katie F. Burns. It was the most elaborate of the scrap-books, and was very neatly and creditably made.

In the display in the building this year was not commensurate with the advancement of the country, the show in the cattle sheds was highly creditable. It was pleasing to note several new exhibitors competing successfully with the old stagers.

The races yesterday afternoon were witnessed by a large number of people. The sixth and closing heat in the 2 28 class was finished after THE EXAMINER was sent to press. It was captured by Bjou in 2.33, with Montrose a good second and Flashlight third. Bjou got first money, Montrose second and Flashlight third.

A good article gains in public estimation, and the re-appearance at the exhibition year after year, of Jordan's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and purified Cod Liver Oil as well as Jordan's Liniment proves that these sterling articles are gradually winning their way in the regard of the people. It is pleasing to note that there is a firm measure of appreciation for good home-made articles. Such articles ought always to be preferred.

Mr. Clarke, of London, Ontario, was the judge of cheese this year. He says that the cheese on exhibition was excellent in every respect but flavor. In that respect it is somewhat wanting. This opinion was we learn, endorsed by Mr. Haywood, a wholesale cheese buyer of Liverpool, England. Our farmers ought to make a note upon this point. The good flavor of cheese is spoiled by bad food for the cows and uncleanness of the milk cans.

The workmen on the New St. Dunstan's Cathedral, about 125 in number, visited the exhibition grounds at six o'clock on Tuesday evening and had tea there. They paraded from the new Cathedral, headed by the League of the Cross Band and marshalled by Messrs Duffy and Welsh, former of the stone and wood work respectively, to the grounds. They were accompanied by His Lordship Bishop McDonald and Rev. R. B. McDonald, Mr. Payette and Mr. LeMay.

The exhibition of this year was under a disadvantage on account of the late harvest and the failure of the fruit crop. It is not surprising, therefore, that the show in the exhibition building was not up to the mark of former years, and that the attendance was also deficient. Still the managers of the exhibition would do well to encourage a little more than they have done, those who are able to supply special exhibits. Such things add greatly to the attractiveness of an exhibition, fill up the bare and empty spaces in the exhibition building, and are from every point of view desirable.

RECITAL AT ST. PETER'S HALL.

A Large Attendance—Everyone was Pleased

The first of a series of entertainments to be held this autumn and the ensuing winter took place in this hall last evening. It was a decided success. There was a large audience which greatly appreciated the rich treat. Miss Gertrude Davies' recitations were, of course, the chief feature of the evening, and she excelled herself. During the six selections given by her she kept the unflinching attention of the large audience and was repeatedly applauded. We regret that space will not allow us to refer to each of her numbers as they were all worthy of special mention. Perhaps the best in the serious view was "The Sin of Omission," the lesson in which might afford food for thought for many days to those who heard it. But in the two selections "Traver's First Hunt" and "The French Tenor" she showed herself to have as much power in staccato passages as she has in those of a slower movement. The animation with which she described the anguish of a man who could not ride, "pricking on the plains," jumping over hedges, ditches, etc., on a horse noted for his running away propensities and suggestively called Satan, literally compelled one to follow her. We venture to say that if Miss Davies improves as much in the future as she has in the past she will, with her great natural ability, and, if we may so express it, splendid technique, be a brilliant ornament to the art which she has made her own.

Mr. Vinnicombe played three splendid violin solos, the last of which, a selection by Godard, was loudly applauded. Mr. Vinnicombe has, we think, done a great deal to educate the taste for music in this town and the enthusiasm with which his classical selections were received last evening must have been a great satisfaction to him.

Miss Minnie Palmer was loudly encored and in response sang that beautiful old song "Oft in the still night."

The reading by His Lordship the Bishop of Nova Scotia was called a "fool's prayer." It was magnificently rendered in his deep earnest voice and was resolutely encored, but without avail. Last, but by no means least, we must mention Miss Ethel Davies' song "The Better Land," by Cowper, which she sang very sweetly. St. Peter's Hall is now a little gem. The old schoolroom has lately been very considerably enlarged. The room is artistically fitted up, due regard being had to the necessity of good acoustic properties. Indeed the architect, Mr. Harris, has in this matter designed the hall so well that Miss Davies' voice, even when lowered to its fullest extent, could be heard in all parts of the room. Another good point is the fact that the ventilation has been made almost perfect by four air shafts, one in each corner of the hall. Again, there are five means of exit, and the Hall being on the ground floor, no one need have any anxiety on the score of fire. The electric lights are suspended below reflectors on the ceiling. Altogether we may say that the Hall has been made as perfect in every way as was possible, and is both a splendid roomy school for the boys and an excellent hall for an entertainment such as that of last evening. The stage was very artistically mounted and reflected great credit upon the taste and painstaking care both of Mr. Harris and Mr. L. W. Watson.

There are to be a series of entertainments and lectures in St. Peter's Hall throughout the winter and we understand that tickets are to be obtained for the whole series at the low rate of one dollar.
