However, pressure of other postponed business prevented the board from holding a full-scale discussion and it was decided to hold the matter until a special meeting to be called early next week.

PWC Winter Carnival Will Conclude Tonight

The Prince of Wales Carnival program yesterday featured a volleyball game between a team of faculty members and a students' team. The students won 22-20 in a hard fought game.

The faculty team captained by Gordon Bennett put up a gallant fight but just didn't have the goods to deliver a victory for their seven paper - waving cheer-leaders.

The game was part of the week - long winter carnival which ends tonight.

Other activities for the day included the judging of the snow sculptures by Miss Eleanor Lowe and Miss Mary MacDonald, both art teachers at the college and the variety show, "North Atlantic" which was staged last night in the auditorium for the second time.

The snow sculpture exhibition is situated on the college lawn and in front of the Vocational School and Montgomery Hall. The winning sculpture will be announced tonight at the closing dance and its creator will be presented with a prize by Dr. Frank MacKinnon.

Other prizes will be awarded to the actors in best act in the variety show, the person who has done the most for the winter carnival, and to the beard - growing champion, Donald Waugh, who was chosen last Monday night.

Today PWC hockey, basketball and bowling teams will host teams from the Nova Scotia Agriculture College, Truro.

Following the hockey game there will be a dance in the college gymnasium where the various prizes will be awarded. Mike Duffy will spin the platters.

RUSSIA WARNS

committee by his American counterpart, Defence Secretary McNamara, Malinovsky declared:

"I maintain emphatically that in retaliation to the 344 missiles with which Mr. McNamara is threatening us, we shall deal a simultaneous blow of several times more missiles and of such a tremendous nuclear yield that it will wipe off the earth all targets, industrial and administrative - political centres of the United States, and will destroy completely the countries which have made available their territories for American war bases."

Malinovsky declared the Soviet Union can overcome American plans to replace ground rocket bases around Communist countries with nuclear submarines carrying Polaris missiles.

"I must declare with all responsibility that this will not give the Pentagon leaders the military advantages they expect to obtain," he said. "Our navy, in co-operation with rocket forces and the air forces, can equally successfully cope with both ground and submarine nuclear rocket bases."

CLAIMS RED WIN

Concerning last fall's Cuban crisis, Malinovsky claimed — as Khrushchev and other Communist leaders had before him — that it was a big victory for the Soviet Union and for Fidel Castro's Cuba. But, he went on, "American imperialism is proceeding with its treacherous policy."

He said the U.S. has embarked on new provocations by sending "submarines against our peaceful merchantmen." He added:

"These actions are fraught with grave consequences which nobody can foresee. The responsibility for this will rest with the United States of America, and them alone."

Montague Plant Plans Underway

Gordon Reid, construction superintendent of Fraser Valley Frosted Foods Company, Limited, Chilliwack, B.C., will supervise construction of the company's Montague plant and moved to Montague yesterday.

The million-dollar plant, to be built and equipped by the provincial government, is expected to be in operation in August.

Construction is expected to begin immediately. Already, a major well on the plant site has been completed and the water samples are being sent out of the province for testing. Three wells are expected to be necessary to supply the 2,000,000 gallons of water per day the plant will require.

According to a government source, the company has decided to use Island people in key fieldman positions in plant operations. Supervisory fieldmen from the company's British Columbia operations will train the fieldmen, and applications for the positions are now being received. It was pointed out that a good agricultural background is a requirement for a fieldman's position.

During the past week, special tests were run on the underground formations at the plant site, and it was found that the ground will support the plant, particularly the heavy freezing section.

The town of Louisbourg, N.S. was originally founded as a fort against the British in 1720.

Word Awaited On PC Speakers
