Home, School Ass'n Meeting At Montague

"The school and the home remain the centres of fundamental instruction in the development and mental growth of a child, and through the aids of radio and films the child in the school has full advantage of every means possible for development", Dr. L. W. Shaw said last night at a special community meeting at the Home and School Association held at the church hall in Montague.

The primary purpose of the meeting was to demonstrate to the public the great use to which films can be put to help in the teaching of children.

Dr. G. S. A. Inman, president of the Association, gave an outline of the purpose and field of action of the Home and School Association. Mr. Bramwell Chandler, gave a brief address on the development of the Film Board, and emphasized the need for films as teaching aids since they make a unique and correct impression on the mind of the pupil.

He said that the Film Board had a large number of films which were at the disposal of the schools and throughout the Province. Following Mr. Chandler's address several films were shown by Mr. Eric Duvar.

Dr. Shaw commended the Montague Home and School Association on the progress which they had made since the formation last year. He felt that such an organization could do a great deal in removing the apparent misunderstandings which might arise between the school and the home through each appreciating the problems of the other.

In referring to the use of films as an aid to education, he said that films helped to develop an interest in the subject without which the fundamental necessity for learning was lacking. He explained that films did not take the place of the teacher, but that they assisted the teacher in explaining certain facts which could not be so well presented from text books.

He said that the new courses of study which will be devised will leave a place for the inclusion of radio broadcasts and films, all of which will assist the teacher in developing the minds of the student in the fields of learning.

Mr. C. Ross Ford, supervisor of schools for Ottawa, spoke briefly on the relation of films to technical and vocational training, as was particularly exemplified during the last war when the training of the service men had to be speeded up to fit them for military service.

Mr. Edward MacPhail, attendance supervisor and correspondence instructor for the Province, outlined the policies of the Department of Education respecting school attendance in relation to family allowances and also gave an outline on what had been accomplished through correspondence instruction courses during the past years.

Mr. H. J. Hynes, school supervisor, Montague, said that such meetings of the Home and School Association are most important since they bring to all an appreciation of the problems encountered by each.

Mr. Hynes then moved a vote of thanks to Dr. L. W. Shaw, C. Ross Ford and Mr. Edward MacPhail, for their kindness in coming to Montague in the midst of their many duties to make the meeting such a success.

At the conclusion of the meeting Dr. A. D. MacKenzie thanked the parents and the speakers for their attendance, and invited all to remain for tea, which was served by the ladies of the Home and School Association.

posal placed before the conference when it opened Monday. At that time the Federal authorities offered to implement recommendations made by a parliamentary committee earlier this year. The committee had suggested inauguration of a plan of contributory pensions of $40 a month for those of 70 and over regardless of means and a similar payment for the needy of 65 to 69. For the 65-69 class, the cost would be shared 50-50 by the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Consider Pensions For All

By today's decision, the Governments will consider a constitutional change to give effect to the first part of the proposal — universal pensions for the 70 and over — and turn over the second phase — pensions for the needy of 65 to 69 — to a committee for further study. Needy persons of 70 and over now receive basic monthly pensions of $40 a month. Some Provinces supplement this by an additional payment. For the basic pension, the Federal Government pays 75 per cent and the provinces 25 per cent. Though the official statement did not say so, the proposal for an indirect Provincial sales tax obviously was aimed at providing the Provinces with enough money to finance their 50 per cent share of pensions for the 65-69 classes. A number of the Provinces indicated to the conference that they would be unable to carry this additional burden and some suggested that they be allowed to finance it through a sales tax. Marwell Construction Company of Vancouver. Another major contract for $400,000 worth of automotive spare parts went to George Crothers Limited, Toronto.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — Premier J. Walter Jones opened negotiations for a new financial agreement between Prince Edward Island and the Federal Government by presenting a bill for $782,402, to cover what he termed "a 20-year Ottawa oversight". He then charged that national policy had "worked to the great detriment and disadvantage of Prince Edward Island," and called for increased federal assistance.

Going back to the time of confederation, the Premier told the Federal-Provincial fiscal conference that Ottawa had agreed to pay to the island an annual sum of $45,000 for construction and maintenance of local works. The terms of Confederation provided for the grant, because of the lack of public lands and consequent loss of revenue by the province from that source.

"But," said the Premier, "the Federal Government deducted from this grant the sum of $30,120.10 every year, which represented interest at five per cent per annum on an amount of $782,402.33 advanced to P.E.I. to purchase lands from absentee proprietors."

In 1930 other "landless" provinces had had public lands transferred to them by the Dominion Government, and have received, in addition, the annual grants which had previously been paid to them as compensation for such "public lands" as a source of revenue," he said. "This would mean that Prince Edward Island is entitled to receive an outright payment of $39,120.10 for twenty years, or a total of $782,402," said the Island Premier.

Detailed Statement

He informed the conference that his financial staff would present a detailed statement "which would show, that on an equal and equitable treatment with other provinces, this loan should be cancelled, and the full amount of $46,000 per year be paid to us since 1930."

The detailed statement "will be submitted so that the Federal Government can cure this oversight," said Premier Jones. He said Prince Edward Island required fairer and more adequate share of assistance from the Federal Government. "The citizens of our Province have borne with patience a national policy which has been distinctly not beneficial; which has worked to the great detriment and disadvantage of Prince Edward Island, as compared with the larger central provinces."

He continued: "The citizens of other provinces grow rich at their expense; they see the best of their youth attracted to other provinces just as they are entering the period when they might become an asset to the community."

Because the Island is concerned with primary production, and because of lack of industry, there is a heavy migration of the province's youth each year, he said. Prince Edward Island benefits very little from heavy expenditures on defence projects, he said, and urged "some adjustment be made so that when an extra billion dollars is spent yearly for defence, primary producers such as Prince Edward Islanders, are not relatively imposed upon." He saw "spreading out of industry" as a possible solution.

He said the Island's submission to the conference "will indicate the necessity of, and the right to, substantially increased federal assistance for the public services which the province has undertaken, and in many cases pursuant to policies promoted by the Federal Government, which we were obliged to adopt."

ATLEE FEARS

accept the principle behind the American suggestion that the Peiping regime should not be left to enjoy the fruits of its Korean aggression unhampered by the West if Gen. MacArthur's forces are forced to evacuate.

Agree On Five Points

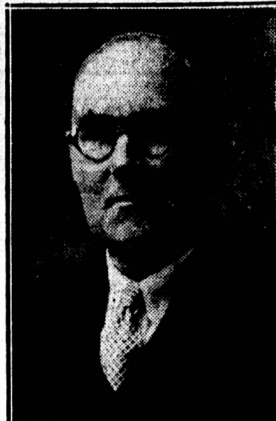

The five main points on which the President and Atlee are firmly agreed during their crisis talks thus far are:

- 1. The United States and Britain are ready to negotiate a settlement to end the Korean fighting but not at the cost of "appeasement" of the Communists.
- 2. Western Europe's defences must be rebuilt at a far quicker pace and a supreme commander — Gen. Dwight Eisenhower — named within a week or 10 days.
- 3. Britain and the United States will tighten drastically their export controls to choke off any shipments of strategic materials to Russia and her European satellites.
- 4. United Nations land, sea and air forces will continue to fight on against Chinese Communist forces in Korea unless forced to evacuate. There will be no unilateral withdrawal to save manpower for use in other theatres.
- 5. Both countries will try to work out some international arrangement which will assure Western countries a steady flow of raw materials needed for military and civilian output.

In talking about the idea of a naval blockade of Red China, informants said as yet there has been no talk of adopting measures to stir up revolt against the Peiping regime. Nor has there been consideration, they said, of a constant air force bombing campaign against China's main military centre in Acheson and Defence Secretary Marshall are reported to believe such bombing possibly might lead to a full-scale war with the Chinese Communists.

Atlee was described by his aides as still hopeful that peace talks can be arranged.

Joint Meeting Next Week On Potato Problem

A joint meeting of the Prince Edward Island and the New Brunswick potato marketing boards will be held in Moncton on either Monday or Tuesday of next week. It was learned last night. All members of both boards have been requested to attend.

The Ministers of Agriculture in both Provinces and their deputies are expected to be present. The Government men are expected to report on what they learned at the recent Federal-Dominion conference in Ottawa stated that the door was still open to negotiations and that it was not impossible that some support might be granted. This support might not be much higher than present prices he added.

Mr. W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture is still in Ottawa and will return home shortly.

Seeking Royal Commission To Probe Liquor Trade

"The Canadian Temperance Federation has asked the Dominion Government to appoint a Royal Commission to inquire into all phases of the liquor traffic," said Rev. Howard Christie in his report to the Provincial Temperance Federation in Summerside. The Government was also asked to amend the Criminal Code so that the findings of an on the spot scientific test to determine the amount of alcohol in the blood could be taken as valid evidence in a court of law. It was also asked that the plea of drunkenness no longer have the effect of being a valid defence in the commitment of crime.

Mr. Christie in his thirty minute address spoke to the fifteen member executive on his recent trip to Ottawa representing the province at the biennial meeting of the Canadian Temperance Federation. Rev. John Linton the new General Secretary will visit the province early next year. Business included the appointment of the Chinese Communists.

Ex-Airmen Organize Ch'town Association

The new Charlottetown Wing of the R.C.A.F. Association was organized in Charlottetown last evening at an enthusiastic meeting held at the Vocational School.

Mr. Stanley M. McInnis was elected as first President of the new group. Other officers are: Vice President, Dr. R. H. Kennedy; Secretary, Miss Mary Robins; and Treasurer, George Hood. Additional members of the executive are Peter Sinclair, W. R. Burdette, C. M. Sinclair, and Stewart Chandler.

Guest speaker at the meeting which was attended by approximately 100 ex-Air Force personnel, was Vice President of the Maritime Group of the Air Force Association, Mr. MacDonald outlined briefly the aims and objects of the Association of which there are seven groups across Canada, each comprised of a number of wings in the different communities.

It was suggested that the new wing should have a specific object, and the promotion of Air Cadet work was one project discussed. Other purposes of the organization are to continue and renew old fellowships; keep members in touch with aviation developments; assist in public ceremonies, and function as a nucleus for a reserve unit should it prove necessary.

It was stressed that the new Association was not in competition with the Canadian Legion, but rather that its aims and objects were complementary of the work of the Legion. Group Captain H. G. Richards, Commanding Officer of the R. C. A. F. Station at Summerside, stated that he was very much in accord with the forming of the Charlottetown Wing, and offered assistance whenever required.

A committee—Gordon MacMillan, Dr. J. A. Clark and Rev. H. Christie to prepare a brief on matters the Temperance Federation are planning to bring to the attention of the Provincial Government.

Increase Shown In Electrical Installations

1225 electrical installations have been made in the Province during the seven month period from April 1 to October 31, this year, it has been learned from Major W. H. Pooles, Provincial Electrical Inspector.

756 of the installations have been made in rural areas and 469 in Charlottetown and Summerside. The buildings wired in the rural areas are situated in various localities throughout the Province.

The installations in the rural areas are being made at the rate of 108 a month or 1300 a year. The work, however, is slowed down during the winter so that less than 1300 installations are made during the twelve month period.

The professor is accelerating each year. Major Pooles stated, "so that it will only be a matter of a few years until all who wish electricity will have it available to them."

Sixty-six electrical contractors were employed on the installations during the seven month period. 87 journeymen and 81 apprentices were at work on the projects. 38 men with special licenses, who did bench work or maintenance work, were employed.

Three electrical inspectors are employed at the work in the Province. Two of these men are located in Charlottetown and the other works out of Summerside.
