FOR THE WOMEN

Help Wanted.

And still beyond your household duties reaching, Stretch forth a helping hand: So many stand in need of helping comfort All over this wide land.

Perchance some soul you aid to-day To-morrow may with the angels sing: Some one may go straight from your earthly table To breakfast with the king. —Harpers Baz ar.

Nerves and Food.

Sir Henry Thompson, writing in the Nineteenth Century, makes the following remarks upon the altered diet which has become necessary, owing to the extraordinary changes affecting man in every rank of life, and his surroundings in all parts of the civilized world, which have taken place during the last sixty years: "It is difficult—perhaps impossible—for the present generation to realize the contrast presented in respect of the demand now made on man's activity, especially that of his brain, during, say, the last thirty or forty years with that which was required by the routine of life as it was in the 'thirties.' The wear and tear of existence has enormously increased, and the demand for rapid action and intense exertion by the nervous system is certainly tenfold greater now, to make a moderate estimate, than it was then. A railway appeared in the first year of the decade named; the penny post and the electric telegraph not until its close; while the press, both daily and weekly, now gigantic, was then, by comparison, insignificant and diminutive. Such changes have naturally been the cause of permanent injury to many whose powers sufficed for the quiet time, but gave away in large and increasing number under the inevitable struggle which issues in 'the survival of the fittest.' The necessary result of this extreme demand for brain activity since that organ is the sole source of energy on which all the functions of the body, including that of digestion, depend, is an insufficient supply for this important process. Under these circumstances, nothing can be more important than to provide food of a kind and in a form which will economize the work of the stomach. It must not be bulky; much of it may be advantageously soluble in form so as to be rapidly and easily assimilated. I have found nothing which fulfils these conditions so completely as the various concentrated extracts of meat which are now so extensively used.

How to Remove Dandruff.

There is nothing which will ruin the hair so quickly as dandruff, making it look untidy, and causing it to come out. The first step necessary to remove dandruff and get the scalp in good condition, is to wash it thoroughly. Use soft water, heated until it is a little warmer than new milk, and dissolve a little powdered borax in it. Wash until the head is clean, using enough soap to make a good suds, then rinse with clear water, and wipe with a towel. When it is dry, rub a little pomade or vasoline into the roots to supply the oil that was removed by washing. It is not necessary to oil the hair at any other time.

After the hair is clean, keep it so by protecting it with a dusting cap when sweeping, taking up ashes, and other work of that kind. Brush it every night to remove the dust of the day, dividing it into two parts and letting half of it fall over each shoulder. It should be allowed to float loosely an hour or two every day if possible, so that the air may circulate freely through it. Dissolve one ounce each of gum camphor and borax in a quart of water and apply it to the roots of the hair once or twice a week, with a soft sponge. Rinse with clear water.

Borax is excellent for the hair, cleansing and softening it wonderfully. A thorough washing should be given it at least once a month.—McCalls Magazine

A number of maritime men are prominently identified with the staff of Harvard University. Professor S. M. MacVane, a Prince Edward Island man and an Acadia alumnus, has been connected with that institution for twenty-three years and is now McLean professor of ancient modern history. Montague Chamberlain, a native of St. John, was for a period recorder of Harvard college and is now secretary of the Lawrence scientific school in connection with that institution.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

In the United States the death rate of Jews is but little more than half that of the average American family. Of 1,000 Jews born 217 die before the age of 7 years, while of an equal number of Christians 453 die in the same period. Some authorities attribute this mark of health in the children to early marriages and natural lives.

Bills are about to be introduced in the British Parliament to authorize the expenditure of more than $300,000,000 on the new railroads, tramways, water supply schemes, and streets in England.

One bill alone from the London County Council to cut a new street from Holborne to the Strand seeks authority to expend $25,000,000, while a water-supply scheme urged by the towns of Sheffield, Derby, and Leicester will cost $60,000,000.

Vast as this aggregate expenditure is it represents scarcely more than half the outlay to be incurred if all the private bills presented at the coming session pass Parliament. The total is the largest on record, and it denotes that immense prosperity is finding an outlet in extraordinary industrial activity and internal development.

The New York Journal of Commerce thus sums up some features in American life: "One United States Senator is on trial for bank wrecking, another is to be put on trial next week for the same offence, and the third is a bank defaulter. Several are under something more than suspicion of having voted on tariff bills in accordance with opportunities of profitable speculation supplied to them by persons financially interested in the tariff. The Governor of Illinois has been indicted. Special courts have reported in favor of criminal proceedings against two important officers of the State, and within the year the President of the United States has appointed two Consuls, one of whom had an undisputed criminal record, while the other had made himself useful by working through a legislature something very much like swindle: for participating in the raid of the treasury of this State the governor has removed two high officials."

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES

Montreal Gazette: It was a long as well as a stormy career that closed with Dr. Chiquiquy's death. His worst enemy would admit that he was a good fighter, and all can pay a tribute to the courage that led him, for the sake of what he counted right, to break with the church in which he was educated, and in which he was a special honored pastor. If his breaking away did not have the results anticipated by some it was yet an event that set many men thinking. It would be impossible to reconcile the opposing views held of his career; but in as far as his conscience justified him in the lines he thought fit to follow he will, in the place of his reward, little reckon what those he has left behind may say or think.

FRANCE IS FOR PEACE

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The French ambassador to Great Britain, M. Paul Cambon, replying to an address of the international arbitration association at the embassy here, said no feeling of hostility towards the British existed in France. The press, on both sides, had exaggerated the little friction over the Fashoda incident, which was only temporary. He assured the people of Great Britain that neither the French nor the Government of France desired war, and, speaking from experience, M. Cambon could say that no European nation desired war. On the contrary, there was an earnest wish for peace, and France cordially supported the Czar's aims, but the ambassador feared that their practical realization would be a long time coming.

The fondest anticipation in a woman's life is when she is looking forward to the coming of the sweet and tender little bundle of humanity that will some day call her mother. It is a pity that this joyful expectancy should ever be clouded with solicitude and dread of the physical which maternity involves. There is no need of this excessive anxiety if the prospective mother will avail herself of the health-sustaining power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription taken early during the expectant period.

The special organs and nerve-centers pertaining to maternity are directly fortified and reinforced by this wonderful "Prescription." It gives the mother genuine, permanent strength, capacity and cheerfulness. It renders the ordeal of motherhood absolutely safe and comparatively easy; insures against subsequent relapse and prostration; promotes ample and healthful nourishment for the child and endows it with natural constitutional vigor.

For nearly thirty years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y. Any woman may consult him either personally or by letter free of charge, and with absolute assurance of receiving sound, practical advice from the highest professional authority. By enclosing thirty-one one-cent stamps to pay the cost of a copy, she will receive a paper-bound copy of Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," or a handsome cloth-bound copy, for fifty stamps.

Mrs. Fred Hunt, of Burnt Hills, Saratoga Co., N. Y., says: "I read about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription being so good for a woman with child, so I got two bottles last September, and December 13th, I had a twelve-pound baby girl. When I was confined I was not sick in any way. I did not suffer any pain, and when the child was born I walked into another room and went to bed. I never had an after-pain or any other pain. This is the eighth child and the largest of them all."

NO SMALL CHANGE

Dean Monahan relates an incident which illustrates the absence of small change in the early days of Kansas. In 1868 he went into the postoffice at Hays City, threw down a quarter and asked for a postage stamp. "Want only one?" queried the postmaster. "Only one," replied the novelist, whereupon the postmaster handed him a stamp and raked in the quarter. "Don't I get any change?" demanded Monahan. "Change, h—!" replied the government official. "We have no change in these parts smaller than a quarter!"

And this was strictly true. In Hays City the smallest coin known was the 25 cent piece. A glass of beer sold for a quarter, and the same change was made for a pound of crackers or a cigar. It is related in the early annals of the town how the saloon and dance hall keepers held an indignation meeting to take action in the case of a new man who advertised to sell two glasses of beer for a quarter. The meeting resulted in the departure of the innovator for pastures new. As late as 1872 there was a store in Hays City which never gave any change smaller than the 25 cent piece. If the customer had, say, 15 cents coming, he was at liberty to help himself to a glass of whisky from a barrel which stood in the corner, but he need not expect his dues in money.—Kansas City Journal.

Catarrh

What is Japanese Catarrh Cure? The newest, safest, surest, most pleasant, harmless and only guaranteed cure today. It is a pomade or ointment to be inserted in the nostrils; the natural heat of the body warms and melts it, and by the very action of breathing it is drawn up into the nasal passages, in an instant makes its potency felt by the opening up of the disease-stopped channels and the soothing, comforting sensation that follows its application. The dull pains leave the head, the inflammation is allayed, the foul breath becomes sweet and fresh, and the sense of smell returns, that distressing drooping in the throat ceases, the discharges gradually grow less, and in a very short while, by the use of the treatment, the whole taint is eradicated from the system. It's an antiseptic; contains no cocaine or other dangerous narcotic, and there's a guarantee to cure in every package. 123 "I was troubled with Chronic Catarrh in the head for twenty-five years; spent hundreds of dollars with specialists without any permanent benefit; eight years ago I was cured with Japanese Catarrh Cure, and there's never been a symptom of a return." J. E. LITTLE, Port Beaufort, B.C. 50 cents—all Druggists or by mail.
