Presbyterian Guild Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Presbyterian Guild, Montague, was held at the home of Mrs. Elsie Watterworth, Monday evening, January 6th. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. George MacCannell and opened with the hymn "Standing At The Portals." The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Watterworth, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. Fifteen members and one visitor responded to roll call. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. S.D. Reid and were approved as read. The correspondence was read and discussed. At the close of the business period a social hour was enjoyed and lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Claude Nicholson, Mrs. James Shaw and Miss Janet Dewar. Three new members were cordially welcomed by the president.

tee to the Federation of Agriculture. The committee recommended as follows:

1. That the Federation urge the closing-out and surrender of charter of such organizations as have become inactive.
1. That the Federation urge and promote the amalgamation of existing organizations into one province-wide organization under the name, constitution, and by-laws of the Potato Producers Association, or as it may be seen fit to amend them.
3. That all matters of policy in the industry, such as setting up of marketing boards under legislation should be decided by the proposed organization.
4. That the Federation take the lead in seeking to remove the antipathies, animosities and prejudices which have hitherto hindered such a move.

The Federation of Agriculture having accepted the report of the Special Potato Committee must now consider what effective means can be taken to implement the recommendations contained in the report. It is not the responsibility or likely the intention of the Federation to undertake the organization of the potato growers but it may properly be expected where indicated to provide the potato growers with every assistance and encouragement necessary in organizing themselves.

The Potato producers organization in this province should be well financed, it should have money for advertising, promotion, disease control and for the payment of expenses incidental to any organization. Agriculture will never be said to be completely organized in this province unless the potato growers have their own active, well financed commodity group. As the contents of the report suggests it is quite in order that the potato organization should have the responsibility of devising policy with respect to marketing and marketing boards and representations to the Federation to the Horticultural Council and other national bodies.

SOIL CONSERVATION
Generally the Federation of Agriculture does not lend its support to private commercial enterprises, such activity could very well prove embarrassing for the Federation would very soon find itself called upon to support or endorse competing companies. However, at the present time the Federation is departing from this policy to draw the attention of farmers generally to a series of meetings which are to be held in this province during the month of February by

Central Christian Church Holds Annual Meeting

The annual general business meeting of Central Christian Church was held in the Church hall January 15th, at 8:00 p. m. with a splendid attendance of interested members being present. Dr. Ross Stewart, chairman of the Board led the congregation in a brief devotional service before calling the meeting to order for the presentation of reports which were given by the department heads.

Record achievements were marked in very phase of the work and the treasurer's report indicated an unprecedented high rate of giving both in current and missionary gifts to more than 20 separate fields totalling $3690.00 or approximately 30 per cent of the contributions made by the members. This congregation supports Caterpillar Company and the Rome Plough Company.

It is the intention of these two companies to outline for Island farmers the possibility of greatly improved conservation practices and the use of modern heavy equipment in either clearing or restoring land. From information made available to it the Federation of Agriculture believes that the meeting will bring much worthwhile and interesting information on conservation practices to those attending. Further it is the intention of the companies to conduct a number of practical demonstrations.

The Federation therefore recommends that farmers attend these meetings to be made available by persons who have had a great deal of experience in other parts of the world in making the land more productive and more profitable.

FEDERATION OFFICERS
At the annual meeting of the Federation Mr. Colin B. Waugh of Wilmot Valley was reappointed president of the organization, Mr. Waugh who represents the Approved Flock Association on the Federation board was also named as the Prince Edward Island director to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. Mrs. Thompson Is President

The Mary Miller Auxiliary of the W.M.S. met Monday evening, January 13, in Hertz Memorial Hall, with a large number present.

The Worship Service, which was conducted by Miss Margaret Mallett, assisted by Mrs. D. Matheson, opened with quiet music, followed by a hymn for the New Year, "Sing to the Great Jehovah's Praise." Miss Mallett led in prayer, and Mrs. Matheson read the Scripture from the 6th chapter of Matthew's gospel. Other hymns sung were: "When All Thy Mercies, O My God, My Rising Soul Surveys," and "Forth In Thy Name, O Lord, I Go."

The theme of the worship service was Prayer. Mrs. Matheson presented the story of one, John Ryder, who agreed to accompany his wife to a prayer service, because he thought a little more religion might not do his wife any harm, not realizing that he, himself, would receive great benefit and spiritual uplift. In fact, his whole life was changed. He organized prayer groups, and became so interested in helping his fellow-men that he developed a great work for the unemployed.

U.K. Doctors Make Claim On Socialized Medicine

By CLELL BRYANT

LONDON (Reuters). — A 4,000-member doctors' union Thursday sharply attacked Britain's socialized medicine program. The Medical Practitioners' Union, representing about one-fifth of the family doctors in the government's national health program, said nine years of socialized medicine have brought an "unfair worsening" of physicians' incomes and a sharp drop in their "sense of real professional opportunity."

The union made a series of money demands — including one for government — paid annual vacations — at a hearing by a royal commission inquiring into doctor-entist incomes. DISLIKE PLAN
The union's general secretary, Dr. Bruce Cardew, a physician, said: "The general feeling, leaving remuneration aside, is that there are so many features of the (health) service that we don't like."

Dr. Cardew said that when socialized medicine was introduced in 1948 under a Labor party government, Aneurin Bevan, then health minister, said it was vital to see there was "no unfair worsening" of doctors' incomes and that they have a "sense of real professional opportunity."

The doctor commented: "We feel that statement has been largely negated by subsequent developments."
NOTHING FOR QUALITY
A union statement said that one cause of dissatisfaction among doctors "is that all general practitioners are paid the same rate irrespective of the quality of service they give."
It added: "No promotion in the general practitioner service is provided for, or any reward for exceptional services rendered."
The union asserted that too many doctors are in the service's lowest earning group and too few in its highest. It urged a radical overhaul of the service's pay structure.

The union called for a study of the possibility of giving more pay to experienced doctors. PAID VACATIONS?
Its paid vacation demand called for £20 a week for six weeks each year. Physicians now arrange their own unpaid vacations.

The union also asked for a reduction of a doctor's maximum number of patients to 3,000 from 3,500, state aid in redecorating physicians' offices and extra car expenses. The royal commission began its public hearings Dec. 5. Britain's 20,000 family doctors, angered by their failure to win a pay increase since 1951, threatened last fall to pull out of the health service. The threat did not materialize.

Mrs. Peter Surette and daughter, Shirly, have returned to their home in Halifax, N.S., by plane, after attending the funeral of Mrs. Surette's mother, Mrs. Kenneth MacKinnon, which was held in Montague on January 7th.

Funeral Held Of Mrs. MacKinnon At Montague get at a rate of less than $50.00 per year.

While this situation may be excused in some cases on ground of financial stringency it is not the only answer, the time is passed when member organizations of the Federation should take a more realistic view of their responsibilities than the framework of a general farm organization.

RURAL COMMUNITY
On December 16 Farm Forum broadcast the question of "what things make the difference in having a good community was discussed and the resulting opinion province by province provide an interesting contrast. In Ontario where material things are supposed to be of very great importance the forums said churches made the difference, Quebec voted for good schools, British Columbia and Alberta for neighborly co-operative people and Prince Edward Island places "roads" at the head of the list.

This opinion is, of course, borne out by the grooves worn in the flagstones in the Provincial Building and leading to the office of the Department of Highways. This preoccupation with roads on our part is an interesting phenomenon, granted roads are important but they should certainly not be the chief aim of government. TAKE 2 AMONG FARMERS
Productivity must come before services of any kind, and productivity in this province depends on agriculture and education. It may be of interest to note that the annual meeting of the Federation of Agriculture was not disposed against a recent increase in the tax on gasoline used for farm purposes. However, it did go on record as opposing any further increase even for roads.

U.S. CO-OPERATIVES
Recognition of the contribution of farm co-operative to American governors last year for their welfare of their states named October as co-operative month. These states were Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and North and South Dakota, this recognition would not likely have taken place unless the co-ops were not only doing big business but good business as well. It is interesting to speculate on the possibility of Prince Edward Island co-ops being some day recognized by our governor in a similar manner.

NINE COWS OR ONE?
Tests conducted in Indiana dairy herds demonstrate that one cow producing 11 thousand pounds of milk returned more net profit than nine cows producing a total of 60 thousand pounds of milk. If this is actually the case these figures certainly illustrate a moral—why milk nine cows if you can make more money on milking one?
