The official opening of the new plant of Amalgamated Dairies Limited in Summerside marks the culmination of two years of endeavor. Six independent companies have joined together in establishing this centralized business and many details required working out during the process of the amalgamation.

The Dunk River Dairying Company, Kensington Dairying Co-operative Association and the Tryon Dairying Company were manufacturers of butter while Abrams Village Dairying Co-operative Association, Grand River Dairying Co-operative Association and the Tyne Valley Dairying Company had always made cheddar cheese. The new business is engaged in the production of both these products.

In the early spring of 1952 the P. E. I. Federation of Agriculture invited Mr. D. B. Goodwillie, chief of the inspection and marketing service of the Federal Department of Agriculture to come to Prince Edward Island and review the situation in the dairy industry here.

Mr. Goodwillie had seen the beneficial results of centralization in other provinces and pointed out the difficulties facing smaller plants in keeping abreast of improvements in methods of production which are constantly taking place. He recognized this province as having great capabilities and was of the opinion that larger and diversified manufacturing plants would create an impetus for fuller development.

Representatives of several companies got together and discussed the possibilities of merging the businesses and others were later invited to join in the discussions. From this, as a beginning, the project developed until there is now erected, and in operation, the large and modern factory of Amalgamated Dairies Limited.

While great progress has been made towards the goal that was in the minds of those responsible for organizing this amalgamation there are still further developments which can best be introduced step by step.

The plant is designed to be capable of flexibility and advantages to be gained from improved production and merchandising methods should be now possible.

Olympia Ice Cream Company has become associated with Amalgamated Dairies Limited and is now manufacturing its well known product in the new factory.

The personnel of the various amalgamating companies, composed to a large extent, the management and staff of the new business. The experience of these men is a great asset. For many years the products (Continued on page 15)

The new Amalgamated Dairies Plant is certainly a fine addition to Summerside's main industrial area in the East end of the Town. Summerside welcomes the establishment of this farmers' business here as a further indication of the inter-dependence of Town and Country and the co-operation that should always prevail between these two elements of the population.
