A NEW OIL FIELD.—American prospectors who were last summer prospecting for petroleum at Scots Hill, Pictou, N. S., have resumed operations. A test made last week in the presence of engineers of high standing proved the presence of oil in the locality. The Pictou News says:—"From the indications at the well, the geological formation of the country, and the dip of the rocks, Messrs. Gragg and Van Slooten expressed themselves to our reporter as convinced of the likelihood of oil being found there in quantity." It is expected operations will be pushed vigorously.

To turn down the light of a coal oil lamp is an almost universal practice, for the sake of economy. In the first place it is no economy. The wick continues to take up as much oil as ever, and to turn it into a filthy smelling, poisonous and highly inflammable gas. When the wick is turned up this gas is what gives light; when down it is poured into bed-rooms in poisonous streams and often lodges in the bowl of a half empty lamp, until from the heat of the burner it explodes. Oil lamps should never be turned down. They should either be left burning or put out. Whenever there is an odor from a burning lamp it should be attended to.

Arrival of the Carroll.

The Boston steamer Carroll, which has been detained by ice at Port Hawkesbury, arrived here this morning, with a cargo of merchandise (including 3,800 barrels of flour), and one passenger—Miss Currie. Capt. Brown reports that he left Port Hawkesbury at six o'clock yesterday morning. He encountered heavy ice in the Gut, and had a difficult passage until he got clear of Canoe. After leaving the Straits of the ice, but turning towards Pictou he had to fight the ice again, and did not reach Pictou until the evening. He left Pictou at five o'clock this morning, and reached this port at nine. During the passage from Pictou the steamer passed through scattered fields of heavy ice. She received very slight injuries to her copper during the passage.

The Carroll was thoroughly repaired this spring, having been caulked, newly coppered, etc., etc. Mr. W. D. Peters, who is well known as chief engineer of the Worcester, fills the position of Mr. Thornton on the Carroll, the latter gentleman having been sent to Turk's Island by F. Nickerson & Co. to erect some machinery at that place. Mr. W. P. Nickerson's many friends will be pleased to find him at his usual post, ready to attend to the wants and comforts of passengers. Mr. Welsh, the obliging steward, continues in the same position; and, on the whole, the good steamer Carroll is as ably and efficiently manned as heretofore. She will remain at this port until Wednesday next, and the Worcester will not leave Boston for this port until Saturday next.

Supreme Court.

Judgment was delivered this morning in the case of Carlton vs. Lavie, affirming the verdict found for the plaintiff at the last trial. The rule for a new trial was, therefore, discharged with costs. The court directed that each pay his own costs of the first trial.

McNevin vs. McNevin—Judgment was also delivered in this case which was tried in January, 1880, and a verdict, by consent, taken for the plaintiff, subject to the opinion of the court, as to the construction of an agreement relating to the land in dispute. The Chief Justice construed this agreement in favor of the plaintiff, while Judge Peters put a construction on it favorable to the defendant. The court being equally divided, a motion was made to have the argument over again, when Mr. Justice Hensley could be present and take part in the decision. The case, therefore, stands over for the present.

Mrs. Dingwell's Scott Act case, as also the McKinlay fine application case stand over until Monday.

Albert McNeill and Ernest Ings obtained orders for their examination previous to being admitted as law students in the office of E. J. Hodgson, Esq.

The court then adjourned until Monday, and Mr. Justice Peters resumed the hearing of Mr. Welsh's matter and the Old Bank, which is expected to close this evening.

Educational Institute.

Yesterday evening the Educational Institute held its closing meeting for the season in the Upper Prince Street School. The president—Professor Mellish—occupied the chair. After the reading of the minutes, the secretary submitted a summary of the proceedings of the Institute during the session. There were eleven meetings in all since last November, two of which were devoted to considering the "Course of Studies" prescribed for the public schools—six were occupied in discussing essays and lectures delivered before the Institute by the following members:—

Lecture on "Elementary Illustrations in Chemistry"—Dr. Leeming.
Essay on "Parsing and the Parts of Speech"—T. A. LePage.
Essay entitled "Explain"—Mr. William Kennedy.
Lecture on "The Spectroscope"—Rev. Prof. Burwash.
Essay on "Work"—Miss Maria Lawson.
Lecture on "Decimal Notation"—Dr. Leeming.

The closing meeting being always of a social character, readings took the place of the usual discussion on school matters. Dr. Leeming read a scene from the "Pickwick Papers"; Miss Nellie Lawson gave a reading from one of Joaquin Miller's works, and the President read Robert Browning's curious old legend of "The Red Piper of Hamelin."

The financial part of the Secretary's report showed a trifling deficit, which was immediately made up by the members present.

No public lectures were delivered under the auspices of the Institute during the session, as the experience of past years has shown that subjects of a purely literary or scientific character do not receive sufficient public patronage to warrant the expense necessary to provide them. The efforts hitherto made in this direction have almost invariably resulted in exhausting the funds of the Institute. During the past session, twenty-one persons inscribed their names as members, only eleven of whom are teachers in the city schools. When it is remembered that there are twenty-five teachers in our three public schools, the natural query arises, where are the truant fourteen? It may reasonably be presumed that they all take as much interest in educational matters as those outside the profession. How then can we account for this seeming apathy on their part, which impairs in no small degree the efficiency of the Institute and tends to frustrate the purpose for which it was established—to be a medium of mutual instruction and assistance for all the city teachers in the delicate and difficult work of their profession. It is satisfactory, however, to find that many of the members have been most regular in their attendance, and have spared no labor to make the meetings successful. Pre-eminent among these must be mentioned Dr. Leeming, to whom alone belongs the honorable distinction of having been present at every meeting of the Institute during the four years of its existence. The members of the Institute are unanimous in their appreciation of the untiring efforts of that gentleman to contribute to their instruction and enjoyment. The members' thanks are here most gratefully tendered to THE EXAMINER for its kindness in publishing the reports of their meetings, and thus affording to our young teachers the means of learning something of the workings of the Institute.

Tree-Planting in Charlottetown.

In response to a circular issued the previous day, a meeting was held last evening, in the office of Messrs. Brecken & Fitzgerald, to discuss the question of planting the squares and sides of the streets in Charlottetown with trees.

Hon. A. A. McDonald was appointed chairman, and the undersigned, secretary. The desirability of having the town planted as proposed, was strongly urged by Messrs. R. R. Fitzgerald, Archibald McNeill, P. R. Bowers, A. L. Bridges, Hon. Donald Ferguson, Messrs. F. T. Newbery, John Newson, N. J. Campbell, Dr. Dodd and the chairman.

The general opinion seemed to be in favor of an arbor or tree day, and the Queen's Birthday was suggested as the most fitting in all respects for the purpose. It was also strongly urged that, while the citizens ought to be induced, if possible, to plant trees in front of their own residences, some noted effort should be made to plant particular portions of the town, such as Great George Street, Queen Square, and Hillsborough Square, and when they were done to select some other parts for similar united effort next year.

A provisional committee consisting of Messrs. F. T. Newbery, Hon. A. A. McDonald and D. Ferguson, Messrs. R. R. Fitzgerald, Bowers, Newson, McGill, Dr. Dodd, and the Secretary was then appointed to organize the movement, and to report at an adjourned meeting. It was also resolved to hold a public meeting in the Stipendiary Magistrate's Courtroom, on Wednesday next, at 8 p. m. The committee will meet at the office of Messrs. Brecken & Fitzgerald, on Monday next, at 4 o'clock, p. m.

A. B. WARBURTON, Secretary.

The Bishop of Worcester has lately received $50,000 to be spent in Church work in and about the town of Birmingham.

The Old Tothill Fields Prison, is being demolished, to make way for the new Roman Cathedral, which, when completed, will be one of the largest churches in London.

The Rev. Alex. Taylor, Chaplain of Gray's Inn, has committed suicide. No motive for the deed is known and it is supposed that he must have been temporarily insane.

The new Portuguese fiscal arrangements will tell very heavily against Baptist Mission work in Central Africa, and will involve a largely increased expenditure of Mission funds.

A memorial tomb to the late Dean Stanley has just been placed in Henry VII.'s Chapel, Westminster Abbey. It bears a recumbent statue of the Dean in surplice and stole; the work of Mr. Boehm, the well-known sculptor.

The Greek Patriarch of Constantinople has resigned in consequence of the two Ecclesiastical Councils having disapproved his oration in consenting to the compromise offered to the Porte, whereby the privileges of the Greek Church have been curtailed. The Bishop of Ephesus is taking the Patriarchal duties pro tem.

Among eminent persons in the Church of England, who have recently passed away, are the Bishop of Ripon and Rev. John Henry Blunt. Bishop Bickersteth was the second occupant of the See of Ripon, to which he was appointed by Lord Palmerston. Dr. Blunt was well known as the author of "The Annotated Book of Common Prayer," and other standard works.

A new papal encyclical is shortly to be issued which violently denounces Free Masonry, as it "aims at the ruin of the throne, the altar, and of public welfare. 'The Masons flatter Princes,' the Pope writes, 'because they require them to triumph over the Church.' The Freemasons dupes the people, and excite them against Church and State. The Church defends the throne, and teaches the duty of obedience."

Notwithstanding the forlorn condition in which the Church of France is usually represented as being, she, every now and then, makes a demonstration which cannot but fill the friends of religion with pleasure. In Paris the six o'clock masses at the churches of St. Philippe, St. Roch, St. Augustin, and Notre Dame, on Easter Day, were so thronged that it was difficult to obtain admission. At the Cathedral the communion for men lasted more than two hours, and the number who received the Blessed Sacrament is said to have been as many as seven thousand.
