Doctors now agree that consumption is curable.

Three things, if taken together, will cure nearly every case in the first stages; the majority of cases more advanced; and a few of those far advanced.

The first is, fresh air; the second, proper food; the third, Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil with hypophosphites.

To be cured, you must not lose in weight, and, if thin, you must gain. Nothing equals Scott's Emulsion to keep you in good flesh.

The Transvaal War

IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Meaning and Pronunciation of Boer Words.

The Canadian reading public has found considerable difficulty in pronouncing the Dutch names that come in the cables from far-off Africa. The language of the Boers is identical grammatically, but not in idiom, with that of the people of Holland. The Dutch Afrikanders are called Boers because that word describes their class--farmers. The pronunciations given the letters in these Dutch words are like those of the English. The double "o," for instance, in Dutch has the same sound as "o" in Rome, while the diphthong "oe" is pronounced by the Dutch as we pronounce "oo" in boot. The English pronunciation of these two dipthongs is the reverse of that given them by those who speak Dutch. "Ou" has the sound of "ow" in owl. The sound of "ui" is nearly like that of the English "oy" in boy. The Dutch double "aa" is the same as the English "a" in war. As there is no "y" in Dutch, its place is taken by "ij," which is sounded as "y" in defy. If one, therefore, would pronounce Oom Paul properly he would say it as if it were spelled "Ome Powl." The family name of General Joubert would, for the same reason, be pronounced as if it were spelled "Yowbert." The word Boer is pronounced by the Afrikanders as it were of two syllables; the first long and the second short, thus, "Boo-er" The plural is not "Boers." It is "Boeren," and it is pronounced "Bo-ereh," because the final "n" is slu red. Here are some of the Dutch words that are oftenest in print in connection with the news of the Transvaal, and their pronunciation and meaning:

Pretoria, the capital of the South African Republic, is named in honor of its first President, Pretorius, who led the Dutch in the great trek, or journey out of Cape Colony sixty years ago, and into the Transvaal to escape the dominion of England. Johannesburg is easily translated into English as Johnstown. The term of Afrikander is used to designate the Dutch from the other white people of South Africa.

To Aid the Boers.

It is said that the British government has received positive information that a corps numbering about 1,000 has secretly been raised in Holland to help the Boers. Wealthy Amsterdam merchants found the money for transport equipment, and over 200 men are already en route. The remainder will follow in small detachments as they can obtain transportation, the rendezvous being Koomati Poort, on the Transvaal-Portuguese frontier, where the commandent has been instructed what to do with them. The men travel as returning Transvaal citizens, and it is not believed that the Portuguese authorities can prevent them from proceeding over the railway to the frontier.

An American Estimate.

Colonel S. S Sumner, military attache of the United States at London, who has been ordered to South Africa to witness the military operations there has, the Herald publishes, sent to Washington this statement of the present and prospective strength of the British army:—

Force now in South Africa: Regulars, 12,000; volunteers, 14,000; reinforcements to arrive before Nov. 1, 10,000; total force in South Africa by Nov. 1, 36,000.

Reinforcements contemplated: One complete army corps, divided thus: Cavalry, 5,535; infantry, 29,253; corps troops, including artillery, engineers, etc, 5,122; troops on line of communication, 9,297; troops to be left at base, 2,832; total, 52,338. Contingents from Queensland, New Zealand, 750; grand total 88,588.

Col. Sumner also sends an estimate of the Boer force, said to be the official figures of Commandant-General Joubert. These total 50,864 men.

AMBITIOUS CITY AGAIN.

Mr. Harry Bawden, of Hamilton, Ont Cured of Lumbago by Dodd s Kidney Pills

Hamilton, Oct. 16. Mr. Harry Bawden of this city corroborates the report printed recently relating to his cure of Lumbago by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For six years," he says, "I suffered with Lumbago and Kidney Disease. I tried everything under the sun, but absolutely nothing I ever took gave me the slightest relief. A friend advised me about one year ago to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I finally decided to do so, and purchased one box and found relief. I used in all five boxes and am completely cured.

The case has created quite a stir and there are found, too many warm, endorsers of Dodd's Kidney Pills in this city. Little faith is put in the many imitations on the market, the verdict being that the original is the best.
