Preliminary Hearing On Charge Of Manslaughter

The preliminary hearing of John K. MacDonald on a charge of manslaughter in the death of Basil Beaton on October 29, was adjourned yesterday to Wednesday, November 28. The hearing, before King's County Magistrate Joseph MacDonald, opened yesterday morning in the Court House, Georgetown.

First witness called was Dr. Preston McIntyre, Montague, who said he received a call about the accident and went to the scene immediately. There was a man lying alongside the road who was dead. He recognized the victim who had external injuries to the chest. He talked to the others but did not notice anything wrong with the driver of the car beyond that he appeared worried.

Preston Beaton said that he left his home that morning about 8:15 and went to Montague to get some potato bags. He was told he could not get them until noon so he went to Cardigan and got a bottle of rum. He then drove to Kilmuir where he met and treated a friend, Billy MacPherson, who lives near Kilmuir Corner.

He then went to see John K. MacDonald, the accused, whom he met in the latter's yard. He gave him a drink from the bottle and then went to the home of Gordon MacDonald.

After leaving there he returned to the home of Billy MacPherson where he picked up Basil Beaton, the deceased, and went back to Cardigan to obtain more liquor. They returned to Montague for the potato bags and then drove to Kilmuir where they had a couple of drinks before dinner.

About 2:30 that afternoon John K. MacDonald arrived and had one more drink with them. Mr. MacDonald stayed until approximately 4:30 and the group then went in his car to MacPherson's Pond to shoot ducks. Since none were in evidence at the pond they did not leave the car as the ground was too wet due to rain and snow.

John K. MacDonald was driving with two others in the front seat and two more and a dog in the back seat. They left the pond and drove across a bridge to a slight hill. The car slowed to the left and went off the road as the driver tried to straighten it out. It went into the field and circled before stopping by the side of the road again.

The witness saw Basil Beaton just before the car hit a tree. He was sliding out the door and the witness made a grab for him but could not reach him in time. When the car stopped the witness and the others in the car went back to where the deceased was lying. It was about 50 feet from the car to the tree.

Cross Examined

Under cross examination by defence attorney, Mr. H. Frank McPhee, Q.C., Mr. Beaton said that John K. MacDonald, the driver of the car, had had only two drinks so far as he knew. A picture of the car at the scene was introduced. The witness said it was a "dirty" day and the road was gummy. There was no ditch where the car slowed to the left. The driver tried to swing it back, but went too far to the right and it went into the field. Mr. McPhee suggested and the witness agreed that if the car had not been handled as it was there was a possibility that it might have rammed the tree head on. As it was the driver almost succeeded in missing it.

It was a good car, the witness said, and there had been no previous trouble with doors opening by themselves. The accused was a good driver and his condition was good that day. After the accident he was bleeding from a cut on the side of the forehead.

Mr. Gordon MacDonald, Heath-erdale, said he had been with the previous witness the day of the accident. Mr. Beaton had come to his house and Billy MacPherson and he had gone in the car with them to MacPherson's where they picked up Basil Beaton and drove to Cardigan. On the way back they stopped at Jack Anner's warehouse for potato bags and had a drink before returning to MacPherson's for dinner. MacPherson and Basil Beaton cooked it.

The witness said he was in the car when it skidded and went into the field. The car door hit a tree. When the car stopped he knew Basil was not in it and the four remaining occupants walked back to where he was lying. It was about 50 feet away in a ploughed field. The witness tested the pulse of the deceased but found none.

Under cross examination by Mr. McPhee he said that he had seen the accused take only one drink. The car had swerved to the left and Mr. MacDonald had pulled it out of the ditch only to have it go to the right where he managed to avoid hitting the tree head on.

After the accident the witness and Mr. MacDonald had gone to the nearby home of a friend where they drank a cup of tea before returning to the scene.

Montague Legion Auxiliary Meets

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Montague branch, was held in the Legion Home last evening with the president, Mrs. George MacDonald, in the chair.

The meeting opened in the regular manner by observing one minute of silence. Roll call was answered by eight members. In the absence of Mrs. Archie Hilchey, the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. George MacDonald, and approved as read. The financial report was read by the treasurer, Mrs. Preece, and showed a substantial balance on hand.

The sum of ten dollars was voted towards the local hospital campaign and ten dollars towards the Crippled Children's Fund. Several excellent reports were given regarding the banquet, Armistice dinner, and sale of food and fancy work. Plans were discussed for catering at the Legion banquet later in the month, and committees were appointed to attend to the details. Mrs. Atwood MacDonald, Mrs. Preece and Mrs. Hilchey were appointed on a nominating committee to present a slate of officers for the ensuing year at the next meeting.
