Fraser, on "Composition," should be heard by every teacher. All interested in the physical well-being of the young should not fail to hear Capt. Weeks on "Physical Culture in our Schools." Arrangements are being made for reduced fares.

FIRE.—About twenty minutes past twelve o'clock on Sunday morning, fire was discovered in the Rocklin House stable. The alarm was at once sounded. The firemen were on the scene as quickly as possible, and soon extinguished the fire which was well under way when first noticed. The horses in the stable were removed just in time to save them from being cremated. The hay, straw, sleighs, etc., in the upper part of the structure were destroyed. The entire upper part of the building was burnt, and the lower part badly gutted. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. No insurance.

THE BELL RINGERS —This excellent organization give two concerts in Market Hall, Wednesday and Thursday evening, October 7th and 8th. Of the present company an English paper says: "They more than met the sanguine expectations of their hearers. The sweet chiming bells, the tender notes of the zither, the merry twanging of the banjo, together with the mirth provoking, side-splitting impersonations of Mr. Emerson, made up an entertainment well calculated to drive dull care away." The advertisement will be found in another column.

THE TURF.—There was a big crowd at the races at Richmond, Ind., on Wednesday last to see Nancy Hanks endeavor to beat the record of Maud S. The track was fast. Nancy came down at the word after very little preparation for the effort, and made the mile without a skip or a break in 2 09 flat, thus knocking off a quarter of a second. The official timing was as follows: 32¼, 1 04, 1 36½, 2.09. While Nancy was in the paddock it is stated that some watches timed her at 2 08¾, knocking off another quarter and duplicating the record of Maud S. The track at Richmond is of the regulation kind, not kite-shaped like that at Independence where Allerton performed. Nancy's latest performance has caused sporting men to become ever more intensely interested in the race between her and Allerton, which will take place at Lexington, Ky., on Oct. 12, under the auspices of the Kentucky Breeders' Association, for a purse of $5,000.
