QUEEN STREET

LETTER FROM MR. BUOTE.

Sir,—I challenge Elector (who turns out to be Mr. D. J. McCarthy, second vice President of the first polling division of the first electoral district of Prince) to show that the convener appointed at the conference at Charlottetown, last winter, had in any way, any more than by his own vote, contributed to the success of Mr. Pineau's election. Mr. McCarthy refrains from the point, but instead gives out the names of several places where the convener held meetings to organize, but is very careful to say not one word of the proceedings of those meetings. He further states that I did not attend any of those meetings. True, and hundreds of Conservatives likewise. Why? you will ask. Because the advocates of the Liberal Conservatives cause, in this district, are divided with two kinds. One kind, to which I belong, wish to impress the importance of the principles at stake with the determination to carry the Conservative administration back to power. The other kind to which the convener and Mr. McCarthy belong, have for their platform the special eulogy of a few would be party bosses. Luckily for the Conservative cause the latter class is small in number.

We took to the principle above the man and no man is fit to be a leader when he is wanted to lead who is not fit to be a follower when some one else is wanted to lead.

In 1898 when 38 out of 54 delegates did me the honor to place their confidence in me, to contest the district against Mr. Gallant, Mr. McCarthy would not vote for the Conservative candidate, but remained at home. The convener voted, not however before he had carried a series of resolutions to St. Mary's Hall, purporting to destroy what the Conservatives had completed at the convention. Can the Conservatives party depend on such electors. Not necessary to recall the strife which existed between the tried and true Conservative of Tignish and some 13 (unlucky number) electors, who for personal reasons of their own would not vote for the Liberal-Conservative candidate. Mr. McCarthy and I cannot agree on the point of offering flattery to the convener. I am willing to leave it to those "wiser than we are"—those who are wiser than we are may find others "still wiser" than they are and that process may go on until it finally results in finding one "wisest of all" and that is public verdict.

No man should permit his political actions to be governed, his conscience to be controlled, or his vote to be dictated, by the mind of any other man or any other one set of men. Mr. McCarthy, far from following that noble principle of independent manhood, allowed himself to be one of the band of "Kickers" and materially helped to defeat the Conservative cause in 1898. And who was the first of that band? Was it not the convener whom Mr. McCarthy and his letter writer around the corner are trying to place before the public as are the cause of Mr. Pineau's success.

What reasons had the convener for doing so? Here are the facts which the minutes of the meeting and hundreds of electors present can testify. Mr. McCarthy proposed that the convener be a candidate for the contest. His proposal was met with a flat rebuke. He tried it again this year, he got two votes, try again. The convener in consequence kicked, McCarthy kicked, and eleven others kicked.

Now, Mr. McCarthy, you say (I should not say, "you say" for it is not known that you are not the author of the letter to which the signature of D. J. McCarthy appears—If it were not for the many titles fixed, the public would be at a loss to understand who D. J. is,) that perhaps I am irritated at Mr. Pineau's success. You judge me wrongly, sir; I am pleased of Mr. Pineau's success. I did all I could to help Mr. Pineau, all that any other man could do, gave him my vote.

One more word, and I am done. If you desire to cripple the Liberal-Conservative party, in this district to desroy the only plank of salvation for the heavily burdened tax payers of this Province, continue (with the man who wrote for you) to praise the convener to the detriment of others.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain yours very truly.

F. J. BUOTE.

Drugs are expensive. Sometimes they are more expensive than need be. And sometimes they are not so reliable as they ought to be.

There was a time when the prices of drugs were away up—too high altogether.

That is not the case now. The Apothecaries Hall changed that some time ago.

You can get prescriptions from pure drugs at the proper prices—no fancy profits.

You can get all my reliable special remedies; they've been tried and found effective.

The price—the main thing—will be found right in every case.

QUEEN SQUARE.

(FOR THE EXAMINER.)

How beautiful! we say,
 As we pass along the way,
 And view the flowerets gay,
 Blooming there, blooming there;
 And while we feast our eyes
 The merry songbird flies
 As if taken by surprise,
 On the square, on the square.

There all around is seen,
 The trees with foliage green,
 And the grassy plots between,
 Fresh and fair, fresh and fair;
 The walks are trim and neat,
 And if weary are your feet,
 Why, you can have a seat,
 On the square, on the square.

We see the tourist come,
 To our lovely Island home,
 From his far-off costly dome,
 Over there, over there;
 As he sits beneath the trees,
 And enjoys the balmy breeze;
 He feels quite at his ease,
 On the square, on the square.

We see the fountain plays
 It sendeth forth its spray,
 All the lovely summer's day,
 Pure and fair, pure and fair;
 While the warblers all around
 Sing their songs of sweetest sound,
 What an Eden we have found
 On the square, on the square.

O, ye who fret and sigh,
 Unfit to live or die,
 A message to you I
 Now would bear, now would bear;
 Bid all your fears depart,
 Take the Bible for your chart,
 Take a walk to cheer your heart,
 On the square, on the square.

Paine's Celery Compound Saves a Little Girl's Life

Users of Paine's Celery Compound never suffer disappointment.

The great medicine at all times and under all circumstances brings to all sufferers relief and a permanent cure.

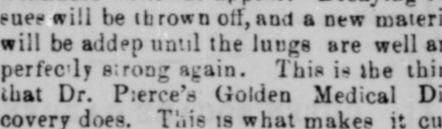

Mr. Maxime Martel, 189 Mitcheson Street, Montreal, tells what Paine's Celery Compound accomplished for his little daughter, whose case was considered an incurable one; he says:

"My daughter eight years old was afflicted with terrible scrofula for nearly six years, and we thought her case an incurable one. We had several physicians to attend her, and she took medicines of all kinds, but she got worse instead of better. Having had our attention drawn to the fact that Paine's Celery Compound wrought cures after other medicines failed, we procured a supply, and after a fair use of the medicine we can report that the disease is overcome, and we trust has disappeared forever. Our little girl is now bright, strong and healthy, sleeps and eats well, and her blood is now as pure as it can possibly be. I have great pleasure in recommending Paine's Celery Compound as a cure for scrofula and blood disease; it is the best medicine in the world."

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why this weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and a new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 93 per cent of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect.

A TALE OF THE CAMP

"It's no use talking," said Jack Henderson sitting down on the end of a log, "this baking bread in a frying pan is not the thing."

"What's the matter?" said his chum, who was packing his pipe preparatory to an after-dinner smoke.

"You might as well eat wet clay," said Jack in the greatest disgust.

"Well, there's lots of clay," said his chum, laughing.

"Stuff like that bread we had to-night, for instance. It was 'nt bread, it was a crust with a lump of dough in the middle."

"You ate it, just the same," said his chum.

"What benefit can a fellow get out of his holidays subsisting on stuff like that?" continued Henderson. "Here we come out on this canoe trip miles away from civilization to build up and put on muscle. We want to go back to town feeling brand new. This is the way we do it. Live on wet dough and fried fish, (generally burnt) with boiled tea half the time to wash it down. I'll take three weeks of mother's cooking to build me up after we get through with this."

"I'll just bet you I'm over five pounds heavier since we started this trip," said his chum.

"You get more nourishment out of the grub than I do, then," said Henderson.

"Good reason why."

"Why?"

"I take a Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet after every meal."

"What's that do?"

"It digests that dough just as well as if I was eating bread at twelve cents a loaf at home."

"The deuce you say," said Henderson; "you'd better divide up those Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets before we get a step farther."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale at all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50; or will be sent on receipt of price by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Great Eastern Tea

The Presbyterian congregation of East St. Peter's has completed arrangements for "A Great Eastern Tea" at Head of St. Peter's Bay, on Monday, 21st inst.

As this is likely to be the last outing for the season, the committee guarantees to spare no time or expense in making the day an enjoyable one for all.

We have secured, at a large expense, great attractions, among them being Martell's Celebrated Steam Gullery and Merry-go-round, and caliope playing a number of modern airs, all combined making the greatest and most innocent amusement of the present age for all classes of people.

There will also be a first class band in attendance. Should the day prove unlit, tea will take place on Wednesday following.

A special train will leave Charlottetown at 7.15 standard, arriving at St. Peter's at 9.20. Fare from Ch'town and return 75c and a corresponding low rate from all intermediate stations. A special train will also leave Souris at 10.50 standard, arriving at St. Peter's 11.40. Return fare 45c.

The invitation is for all to spend a few hours at the Bay, which is, beyond a doubt without a rival as a place of attraction, in the Lower Provinces.
