Delightful Children's Play At Empire Theatre

"Cinderella", the second annual children's play by the Charlottetown Little Theatre Guild, received a most enthusiastic reception from the first night audience at the Empire Theatre last evening.

Equalling, and sometimes surpassing the colorful production of "Hansel and Gretel" last year, "Cinderella" again proved that this type of entertainment is meant for both young and old.

Handling the difficult task of directing the performance were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Breau and Mr. George Anderson, who are to be congratulated on the smoothness of the performance, and the ease with which all the cast handled their parts.

Younger members of the audience sat enthralled as they watched the struggle with Cinderella against her cruel stepmother and sisters, and the adult section were charmed by the colourful costumes and settings, and the simple sincerity of the age-old story.

The play itself, by Charlotte B. Oshpenning, who has written many plays for children, follows the well known fairy tale very closely, deviating only when necessary for reproduction on the stage. Edith Fryce played the title role of "Cinderella", and brought it a simple, likable naivete which made her characterization a highlight of the evening. Winsome and charming at all times, she drew sympathy in her rags, and exclamations of pleasure from her youthful fans as she entered in her lovely ball gown to win the heart of her prince.

Fine Performances

Also outstanding in their roles were the two sisters and the stepmother, played by Gerda Hansen, Louise Rosier and Betty King. Although Miss Hansen and Mrs. Rosier were by no means as up to the mark as often pictured the sisters in our imagination, they gave their characters a hardness of heart and a slyness of character which made their audience dislike them intensely. As the stepmother, Miss King gave one of the outstanding performances of the evening, giving the role a brutal and menacing quality which was sustained throughout.

As the Queen, Lillian Ducheneau also gave a very fine performance, looking regal as she endeavored to dominate the Prince, her son, in his choice of a bride. Niels Hansen played the role of the dashing Prince extremely well, looking the part, and giving it a buoyancy which was most refreshing.

As the scheming gentlemen of the court, Weston Gormley as "Galafron", and James White as "Curdik" handled two quite difficult roles so capably that when they were finally given the two sisters as their brides the entire audience were satisfied that they got their just rewards. One of the more charming pieces of acting was given by Derek Dew who played the role of the faithful and loyal "Roland". Like many of the other members of the cast, it was this young actor's first appearance with the L.T.G., and his performance last evening calls for many repeated performances.

"Felicia", the young and attractive maid in waiting was played very well by Elizabeth Morris, who showed a poise unusual for an actress of her age, and the fairy godmother, played by Carol MacDonald, was also very well done.

Two smaller parts were taken by Sharon Bugden as the Coachman, and Clair Smith as the Page, both of whom established their characters for the audience extremely well in pantomime.

Special commendation should be given to the stage and costume committees for this production who have worked extremely hard to attain such an attractive production. In the costume department the men's apparel was extremely well done, and in the settings the arrangements for the dream sequences were outstanding.

Working backstage for the performance were the following: Costumes: Mrs. M. L. Abble, Mrs. Mowton Dew, Mrs. Sutherland MacLean and Mrs. R. W. Sutherland; stage, Harry Morris, Bert Patterson, Dodie Morris, Sutherland MacLean and Elizabeth and Charles Willett; script, Mary McQuaid; lights, George Abbott and Peter Shama; sound, Sterling Walker; makeup, Elizabeth Holl and Miriam Matthew; stage properties, Iphigene Arsenault, and hand properties, Ethel Sutherland.

During the first intermission Miss Florine Evans, vice president of the L.T.G. expressed the hope that the children's plays would continue to be an annual event, and commented on the new director who had appeared during the past season, with outstanding results. She also made special mention of the annual meeting of the organization which will be held in the near future, and urged all members to attend.

Councillors Pay Warm Tribute To Work of Firemen

Glowing tribute to the Charlottetown Fire Department as one of the finest volunteer organizations in the City was paid last night by Councillor T. Roy Cudmore, representing His Worship Mayor J. D. Stewart, and Councillor Pictor R. McCormac, chairman of the Fire Committee, at a department banquet held at the Clover Club. Fire Chief H. H. Jewell presided.

Councillor Cudmore stated he didn't know what the city would do without such a body of men as was represented on the Fire Department. He knew of no more loyal, hard-working and energetic group of men, ready at all times to respond to their duties, with very risk of their lives. He was very proud to extend on behalf of Mayor Stewart the grateful thanks of the citizens.

Councillor McCormac complimented the department on their efficiency and stated it was the aim of the present Fire Committee to help maintain this efficiency through improved equipment. He didn't know if citizens actually realized the department, not only financially in way of taxes which he estimated at $200,000 a year, but in the splendid work done.

It was the wish of the present Council to keep the Fire Department at their present high state of efficiency, and towards this end the Council has approved the purchase of a life net and deluge gun. Councillor McCormac recalled that he had sounded a strong note of warning at a Council meeting. This was in regard to the serious situation which would arise in the event of two alarms coming at the same time. The old LaFrance (heavy pumping machine) was 23 years old. A new fire engine was needed. It would pay for itself in a matter of a few years and give an added sense of security that would be a good investment. He hoped it would be obtained within the year. He closed his remarks by proposing a toast to the Fire Department.

James Walker, Assistant Fire Chief, moved a vote of thanks to the Ladies Auxiliary of the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion, who provided the splendid repast, and to the Branch for the use of their Hall. He also expressed the thanks of the Department for the kind remarks made by Councillors Cudmore and McCormac. Among the other guests present were more American cars on the road last year and more money available probably accounted for part of the increase in the tourist trade.

The fact that the Canadian dollar now is at a premium may have an adverse effect on the industry this year. He expressed the hope that efforts will be made to have the U.S. government lift the ban on imports of game animals. The ban was imposed as a result of the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan.

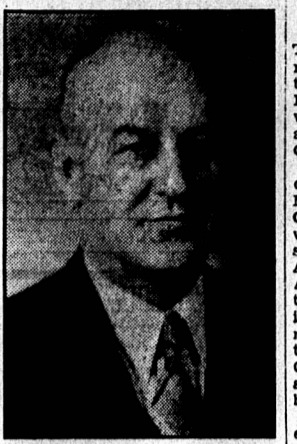

Mr. Nowlan said people in parts of Nova Scotia depend on the revenue they obtain every fall from American hunters. They will suffer unless the ban is lifted. He also asked that more be done to advertise Canada's historic sites.

Mr. Winters said he was surprised Mr. Murphy did not know that the advertising executives of all leading transportation companies attend the federal-provincial tourist conferences. Advertising Contract As for getting the message across to the people of the United States, Canada now has travelling exhibits, films and advertising contracts, but they maintained it because they have been doing "excellent work". Mr. Nowlan said the fact there

Movies Criticised By General Assembly

TORONTO, June 5—(CP)—Moving-picture producers were criticized today by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada which said films of Biblical stories were being slanted to sexiness to attract greater profits. "In recent years the producers with an eye on box-office receipts have taken Biblical and related themes and have deliberately put over-emphasis on sex and the spectacular to attract the public to the theatre," said a report of the Church's Board of Evangelism and Social Action. "They have tended to twist Biblical narratives and wrap ancient folklore to bring them into conformity with the excessively emotional demands of our day," said the report. It quoted an investigating committee which found that "the movies, by presenting scenes of drinking, sex and crime, have encouraged and aggravated a great problem among teen-agers."

The report also said the movies had been used as a propaganda medium by the Roman Catholic Church.

Noted Evangelist Speaks Yesterday To Lay Audience

What exactly is a Christian? That is in the particular sense and not in the general sense, was the question asked by Mr. Tom B. Rees, noted English evangelist, who spoke last night to a large audience in Saint Paul's Anglican Church here.

Mr. Rees, who arrived in the city on Wednesday, is conducting a Mission in Saint Paul's Anglican Church for the remainder of the week. This Mission is being sponsored by the laymen of the three Anglican Churches in the district. An invitation to all members of the community to hear Mr. Rees is cordially extended. Yesterday morning he spoke to the Ministerial Association. Members of the Clergy from Charlottetown and surrounding districts gathered to hear this outstanding evangelist.

Over two hundred ladies gathered in the afternoon to hear a very thought provoking address. Mr. Rees used as his theme "Forgiveness and Justification." Simplicity and sincerity coupled with an honest approach make Mr. Rees the outstanding Evangelist of our day. Rev. Mr. Ibbott introduced Mr. Rees last night at Saint Paul's. Other clergymen who participated in the service were Rev. A. LeDrew Gardiner and Rev. A.E. Piercy. "Not merely a person who goes to church nor merely a person who keeps the commandments but because I am a Christian I worship regularly. The real fundamental reason that most people do not understand the church is found in that the fault lies in their own hearts." This and many other thought provoking subjects were discussed last night.
