

The Search for the Green Youth Ministers

by Laurie Murphy
Financial Aid Advisor

Hello again. You're back and ready for the next session of academia. Well, you're back anyway. I'm back to offering my services as Financial Aid Advisor.

I've got a new work schedule this semester and hopefully it will suit those of you needing assistance:

- Mon. 9:30 - 11:30
- Tues. 4:30 - 5:30
- Wed. 9:30 - 11:30
- Thurs. 4:30 - 5:30
- Fri. 9:30 - 11:30

Do drop by the Department of Student Services in the Robertson Library, or phone for an appointment regarding information in budgeting, scholarships, bursaries, or loans.

I should remind you that this is a busy three months for scholarships and bursaries for both graduate and undergraduate students. The deadlines are fast and furious, and because there is not enough room to list them all here, I urge you to find out what is available to you. One award is the Terry Fox Humanitarian Scholarship for undergraduate students. This award is worth $3,000.00 to you and its deadline is Feb. 1st.

Student bursary and loan applications are still available, as is the right to appeal if you've already been assessed, and/or have received money. I will look over your financial situation with you, and help manage or improve things for you.

Remember that the Search for the green begins with you. Thank!

initiatives this year will include enlisting the support of "champions," that is large employers of cooperative students.

"Cooperative education has many friends in Canada," Mr. Charest added. "In particular, I would like to mention the support of Geoff Scott, Member of Parliament for Hamilton-Wentworth, who helped Mohawk College obtain financial assistance to host the 1988 World Conference on Cooperative Education."

CAFCE estimates that 38,577 students will have participated in the co-op program during the 1988/89 academic year in a wide range of fields such as computing science studies, sciences, engineering/technology, hospitality/tourism, and others.

"Cooperative education has come to be recognized as a practical way for young people to enter the workforce. I would like to extend my best wishes to CAFCE and others who have committed themselves to its progress in Canada. I am convinced that success will build on success."
