

Gordon Lightfoot Postpones East Coast Tour

By Matt STEWART

Canadian singer/songwriter Gordon Lightfoot, having underwent successful surgery to repair a weak blood vessel in his abdomen, is considered stable and is recovering in hospital. Lightfoot, who fell ill while preparing for a concert in his hometown of Orillia, was scheduled to kick off an Eastern Canadian tour including a concert in Charlottetown on September 18.

Press reports on Wednesday, September 11 indicated that Lightfoot's Atlantic Canadian concerts will be rescheduled as well as his October dates in the US Midwest. Lightfoot's Massey Hall concerts scheduled for November 13 through 16 will go on as scheduled.

Ticket holders for Lightfoot's Atlantic Canadian appearances are asked to watch for the new dates which will be announced in the next few weeks.

While this is not Gordon Lightfoot resting in hospital, it is Todd MacLean resting under a bench in Main building. He did not respond to incessant poking.
