Local and Other Items.

A CHANCE.—The balance of carnival goods at the Diamond Bookstore will be sold at cost.

PRICE OF BREAD.—The St. John bakers have reduced the price of bread to seven cents per loaf.

ENTERTAINMENT.—There will be an entertainment in St. James Hall on Tuesday evening next. Programme to-morrow.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Raphile Brine dropped dead on the street at Shediac on Tuesday last. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death.

DIPHTHERIA.—Diphtheria prevails to an alarming extent in Kingsville, Ont. In one family of six four have died and two others are not expected to live.

I. O. O. F.—About sixty members of Friendship Lodge, of Calais, Maine, pay a fraternal visit to Golden Rule Lodge, Charlottetown, St. John, N. B., to-night.

"Well, Sarah, what have you been doing to make you look so young?" "Oh, nothing much, only been using Hall's Hair Renewer to restore the color of my hair."

VICTORIA CARNIVAL.—This Carnival, instead of being held on Thursday, the 14th of February inst., as previously advertised, will be held on Thursday, the 21st inst. A good time is promised. Worth's Band will be in attendance.

A spring medicine is needed by everyone. Winter food, largely consisting of salt meats and animal fats, causes the liver to become disordered and the blood impure, hence the necessity of a cleansing medicine. The best is Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

ANOTHER CENTENARIAN.—The Star reports that Cornelius Driscoll, a resident of Lower Cove, St. John, said to be in his 103rd year, attended mass at the St. John Baptist Church, Lower Cove, on Sunday, walking to and from his residence without help.

SUING THE C. P. R.—Says the Montreal Star: Mr. G. H. Paterson, who obtained a judgment against the C. P. R. a week ago for salary due him, because he was dismissed before the year's engagement was up, has taken another suit against the company for $1200, which he claims is still due him.

ASLEEP FOR TWENTY-NINE DAYS.—A despatch from Attica, N. Y., says that Mrs. Emma Althouse, who for some time has been subject to long swoons, is still asleep, this being her twenty-ninth day. Everything known to medical skill has been tried by the physicians to awaken her, but in vain.

LOSS BY FIRE.—Jovite Mallett, of Malverto, Digby Co., N. S., lost his barn by fire the other day. It contained a yoke of oxen, a horse, ten sheep, three cows, two wagons, harnesses, fifteen tons of hay and farming tools and implements, all of which were lost. The total loss is $1200 and there is no insurance.

TROTTERS.—There are two very nice sets of driving harness at P. P. Gillis' livery stables, which are to be trotted for on Monday, 11th inst., at one o'clock p. m., on the Hillsborough ice. Entries to be made at the above named stables before twelve o'clock on day of race. These races will be for three minute and green horses, and will be open to both trotters and pacers.

THE WRONG BOTTLE.—Mrs. James C. Stead, the wife of a prosperous Brooklyn manufacturer, kept a bottle of wine and a bottle of acetic acid on the same shelf in a dark closet. Late on Friday night last she took a big swallow from the wrong bottle. She was seized immediately with acute pains in her throat and stomach. Before her husband could summon a doctor she became unconscious and died in terrible agony.

LIST OF REGISTRATIONS.—A Digby, N. S., paper publishes a list of registrations in the office of the registrar of deeds, etc., for the county last year, from which it appears that upwards of 500 deeds were recorded. The mortgages recorded numbered only 72, and as the number of mortgages written off numbered 62 the farmers of that county are evidently enjoying a prosperity quite in contrast with the stories that come to us from across the line.

MODEST.—Our American cousins are very progressive people, especially when they work upon their imagination. In a recent issue of the Chicago Western World a "map of the future Republic of the United States of America" adorns the front page. In it they claim the whole of Canada, and grasp Iceland, Greenland, West Indies, etc., as well. We only wonder that the fertile brain of the artist did not simplify matters and take "earth, sea and all that in them is." Surely Brother Jonathan has a very "taking" way about him; yet we believe that in the present instance he is just "a little previous."

TEMPERANCE.—The I. O. G. T. met on Thursday night as usual in McLeod's Hall, when the following officers-elect were duly installed by J. A. Lawson, L. D.:—
C. T.—J. A. Fraser.
V. T.—M. P. Kennedy.
Chap.—L. Harris.
O.—M. E. Myers.
F. S.—M. Vickerson.
Secy.—Harry B. Crawford.
A. Secy.—Ada Lawson.
M.—H. W. Clarke.
D. M.—Minnie Coffin.
S.—Maud Lawson.
G.—E. Carson.
P. C.—G. W. Hamilton.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. [April 1 '88]

Notes By the Way.

From Savannah to Jacksonville the traveler takes the Savannah, Florida & Western Railway, a distance of one hundred and seventy miles, which occupies six hours. The country between these points is much like all the rest of the Southern States which we have seen, being a succession of pine-lands, dismal swamps and bogs, and requires a great deal of labor in the way of drainage and clearing to make it fit for the hoe or plow. The life of the negro, the buzzard and malaria. It is too the festive mosquito roasts about in his shirt sleeves seeking whom he may devour.

We are now under the tropical sun of Florida—the land of flowers, oranges alligators and Yellow Jack. The city of Jacksonville, in the northern part of the State, is the distributing point for all travel to South and East Florida, and intermediate landings on the St. John's River.

Jacksonville is situated on the St. John's River, twenty-five miles from its mouth. It has a population of about 30,000. Bay, Ocean and Pine are the principal business streets. These streets are paved with cypress blocks, on end, which costs one dollar and two cents per square yard. The other streets have simply the natural paving (sand,) into which one sinks to the ankles. Most of the streets are well shaded by numerous stately oak and other native trees, among which are many orange trees, heavily laden with the "golden fruit."

Jacksonville is noted for its many large and elegant hotels, some of which cover a whole block each. A good many of the invalids who come here for their health and stop at those hotels, find, when they are presented with their first hotel bill, that they have all at once become "healthy enough to leave for their homes by the early morning train."
Jacksonville has water works, "mule" cars, but no electric light, except a few lights which some of the larger stores and hotels run for their own convenience; the city being lit by gas, and that of a very feeble nature.

Business is very dull in Jacksonville since the yellow fever epidemic. A good many business people have not returned as yet, but are laying low and waiting to see whether Mr. Yellow Jack will put in an appearance again this coming summer. Others have pulled up stakes and have settled down permanently in Georgia and other States.

We have not met with a solitary person here who will admit that there was a case of yellow fever in Jacksonville; they say it was some other sort of fever, for which they have not as yet given any name. That there was some deadly epidemic is, however, attested to by the flight of thousands from the city and the many graves of the victims which we have seen at the different cemeteries.

It is now generally conceded that the epidemic was first brought here from Cuba, via Key West and Tampa, by an Irishman by the name of Mike Robe.

The St. John's is a fine river. It takes its rise in the everglades of South Florida, and flows north for nearly four hundred miles to Jacksonville; thence its course runs east for twenty-five miles, where it empties into the Atlantic Ocean. It is navigable to Enterprise (about two hundred miles south of Jacksonville), to which point, and intermediate landings, numerous side and stern wheel boats ply its tan-colored waters.

It is the haunt of the alligator, who basks in the sun upon its banks, where he opens his mouth for a fly trap and patiently waits until his tongue is covered with flies, ants and other insects. He then winks his larboard eye, his ponderous jaws close like a huge pair of shears, and he scoops in the entire menagerie. He then sets his trap again and repeats the operation.
Little need be said regarding the climate of Florida, as everyone knows that it is fine. Frost is unknown in Southern Florida, and in the northern part of the State it is comparatively light. We had a slight frost in Jacksonville on January 28th and 29th, but the thermometer seldom falls below 30 above in winter, or rarely rises to 90 above in summer. There are localities which are malarious, but by a judicious selection these can be avoided. The "crackers," as the natives are called, seem to thrive on oranges, which, after back hog, hony and Northerners. The latter school here in winter, and are easily caught when fresh, but the "cracker" scoops them in and salts them down.

A two weeks' sojourn in this place is insufficient to gain a knowledge of the adaptability of the State as a place of immigration, so that what we do not know regarding Florida—outside of Jacksonville—would fill several large volumes.

"READING, Jan. 28.—The Sheriff's office here is full of bills advertising the property of various farmers for sale. No Sheriff for years has been as busy as the present incumbent. It is estimated that he levied on the farms, stocks and agricultural implements of thirty to thirty-five farmers in the country in the last few months.

Farmers say that farming no longer pays, and that they are obliged to go under. Farms which were purchased a few years ago for $175 per acre, now sell for about $125.

Says the Moncton Times: This is not encouraging news for our farmers, who are promised a market of "60 millions." Don't you think under the circumstances the farmers of the United States when they're depressed would keep their market to themselves.
