IN MEMORIAM

MacASKILL — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Joseph MacAskill, who passed away, Nov. 11, 1961.
One year has passed,
And yet we mourn,
For one we loved so dear.
And we'll remember even more
with each passing year.
Lovingly remembered by husband and family.

MacEACHERN — In fond and loving memory of "Mom", Mrs. Peter G. MacEachern, who passed away suddenly November 11th-1960.
When evening shades are falling,
And I sit in quiet alone,
To my heart there comes a longing,
If she only could come home.
Friends may think I have forgotten
When at times they see me smile,
But they little know the heartache
My smile hides all the while.
Ever remembered by daughter, Adele.

MacASKILL — In loving memory of Mrs. Joseph MacAskill, died Nov. 11, 1961.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To a place not far away
There we laid our darling Bertha
Just one year ago today.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by mother, sisters and brothers.

BURKE — In loving memory of the late Vernon L. Burke, West Royalty, who passed away November 10th, 1953 and the late Mrs. Vernon L. Burke, who passed away November 17th, 1954.
Their memory is our keepsake
With which we will never part
God has them in his keeping
We have them in our hearts.
Elwin and Irene.

NICHOLSON — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Neil Nicholson, who passed away November 10th. 1958.
Today recalls sad memories,
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him today,
Are the ones who loved him best.
Lovingly remembered by wife, and family

MacKENZIE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George MacKenzie, who passed away Nov. 11, 1961.
There comes a time to all of us
When loved ones have to part
But precious memories linger on
Forever in the heart.
In that bright eternal city
Where no tears e'er dim the eye
In the home of many mansions
We will meet him bye and bye.
Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

MacEACHERN — In memory of a loving father and grandfather, Vernon J. McEachern, who passed away November 11th, 1961.
Though your smile has gone forever
And your hand we cannot touch,
We have so many memories
Of you, Dad, we loved so much.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Shirley, Martagh and grandchildren, Carolyn and Stephen.

MacEACH... — In loving memory o... loving father, Vernon J. MacEachern, who passed away, November 11th, 1961.
I have only your memory dear father,
To remember my whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever as I treasure the memory of you.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Mildred and Rod.

MacEACHERN — In loving memory of a dear husband and devoted father, Vernon J. MacEachern, who departed this life November 11th, 1961.
Just when your life was brightest,
Just when your years were best,
You were called from this world of sorrow
To a home of Eternal Rest.
Never to be forgotten by wife and daughters, Joan, Verna, Cynthia.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all friends and kind neighbours who sent flowers, cards, and letters of sympathy and all who helped in any way during my recent sad bereavement.
Signed Mrs. Sarah MacDougall, Nine Mile Creek.

I wish to sincerely thank Dr. Drysdale, Dr. Lea, Nurses and staff of the P.E.I. Hospital for the care I received while a patient there; Rev. Q.R. Stairs and all those who visited me, sent flowers, treats and cards, and my kind relatives, neighbours and friends who helped in so many ways at home.

Dosco President Reports Prospects Are Brighter

MONTREAL (CP) — President A. L. Fairley Jr., of Dominion Coal Company, Canada's biggest coal producer, said today the company's sales have reached the bottom of their slide and should hold their own for several years.

In a speech that contained some bright notes about a company that has had major problems in recent years, Mr. Fairley told the shareholders' annual meeting here "the principle hope in this new picture is . . . the market for coal to produce thermal power."

In reporting a profit for 1961 of $378,440 — the company's first profit since 1958 — Mr. Fairley said "while we realize that there will be further market attrition with respect to some of our customers, there are a few bright spots on the horizon which we hope will make up any losses."

Dominion Coal Company, and its subsidiaries Old Sydney Collieries and Acadia Coal Company, operate mines on Cape Breton Island and at Thorburn on the Nova Scotia mainland and employ more than 6,000 miners.

Mr. Fairley said the profit was "quite modest when compared to the volume of business done by this company. However, it does represent a turnabout from the losses which were experienced during the last three years and . . . is encouraging."

Mr. Fairley said the overall financial stability of the company was slowly but steadily showing improvement.

He said the company planned to spend more money on capital improvements and modernization in the immediate future. He did not indicate the amount of the expenditures planned.

"Capital investment over the next few years will be increased at a rate somewhat above that which has existed during the last three years.

"During the period when we were in a loss position, money was simply not available to do anything more than maintain our productive facilities in adequate operating condition. It will now be necessary to modernize and bring up to date our mining and transportation facilities," he said.

These steps were being taken in an attempt to make the company more stable and more successful.

ASKS CO-OPERATION

"The management is determined to do everything in its power to bring this about," he said. "I sincerely hope that we will have the co-operation of the union and of the communities in which we operate. I think that the time has now come to turn our eyes away from the past and to work together to make this company a success for all concerned.

"We still have innumerable problems to overcome and the competition from other fuels will continue to press upon us without let-up.

"But I do believe that there is a place for Nova Scotia coal in the fuel markets of this great country and with the continuing help of the government, which has always been forthcoming in the past, and the co-operation of the employees, I feel that there is now a somewhat more hopeful outlook," Mr. Fairley said.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOSEPH S. KELLY

Peacefully at the Charlottetown Hospital on October 14 the soul of Mrs. Joseph Kelly answered the summons of its divine Creator to leave behind its earthly habitation and return to Him. Mrs. Kelly was formerly Margaret Mary Monaghan, born at Kelly's Cross sixty-seven years ago. Ever since her marriage to Joseph Kelly her home has been in Fort Augustus. With her it was not a matter simply of having a home in a certain community. Rather, it was a matter of living with others in a community and sharing in such a way that parish and community would benefit by her having lived there and having given herself for God and others.

Mrs. Kelly was the truly valiant woman. With an indomitable courage resulting from her deep spirit of Christian Faith, no task was too great, no sorrow was too crushing, to divert her focus from her purpose in the eternal plan of God. The name of Mrs. Kelly will forever be associated with the word "kindness." As a devoted wife and mother, she was ever ready to sacrifice herself for the good of her loved ones. Her great kindness, however, radiated far beyond the boundaries of her home. There was never a word of courage and consolation, there was ever a helping hand, extended to anyone in need, however great or trivial that need might be. Indeed, the reward of the perfect will be the answer to her charitable words on all occasions, words which have served as an inspiration to many. Even in death her thoughts were of others. Her sudden passing brought sorrow to many, but accompanying this sorrow was the joy in knowing that her greatness of character was appreciated by so many friends from near and far who came to pray for the repose of the soul of her who had served God so generously and cheerfully in others.

Mrs. Kelly's mortal remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Fort Augustus on October 17, the feast of her patron saint, Margaret Mary. Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. T. P. Butler, assisted by Rev. James Smith as deacon and Rev. Vincent Murnaghan as subdeacon. The pallbearers were: Vernon Hughes, Carrol Kelly, Joseph Duffy, Howard Heron, Charles Hughes and Peter Kelly.

Seated in the sanctuary were: Rev. Dr. J. P. E. O'Hanley, Rev. Eugene Murray, Rev. Charles McCarthy, Rev. George McCormac, Rev. Wilfred Keefe, Rev. Alan MacDonald, Rev. E. J. Roche and Rev. Clifford Murphy.

Besides her husband there are left to mourn the following sons and daughters: Louis, in Charlottetown; Raymond in Bronte, Ontario; Marguerite, (Mrs. Maurice Bradley), in Kelly's Cross; Mary (Sister Maria Joseph), St. Stanislaus Convent, Kinkora; Cecil, in Charlottetown; Leo, Toronto; Daniel, in Bronte, Ontario; and Edna, at home. Besides, there are two brothers and four sisters, namely: John Philip, Trail, B.C.; Agatha (Mrs. Louis Campbell), North Wiltshire; Loretta, (Mrs. Joseph Kelly), Kelly's Cross; Ambrose, Kelly's Cross; Sister Elizabeth James and Sister Mary Matthias, both Sisters of Charity, West Coast.

May she rest in peace!

CARD OF THANKS

The husband and family of the late Mrs. Joseph Kelly are deeply grateful to the Reverend Chaplains, doctors and nurses of the Charlottetown Hospital, to those who sent Mass cards, Enrollments, Spiritual Bouquets and letters of sympathy and to all who in any way assisted them in their recent sad bereavement.

Berliners Hardened After Long Cold War

By GEORGE ROUTLWOOD

WEST BERLIN (AP) — During the bombing of the Second World War Berliners crouching in their cellars quipped:

"You think this is bad—well, wait till you see the peace."

In 17 years of cold war, the Berliners have been through a Communist blockade, mass unemployment, rugged work for prosperity and finally the wall which bars them from relatives and friends in their own city.

Living day after day under threat of being gobbled up by the East has toughened Berliners.

"We have callouses on our nerves," they explain.

They face Communist threats with wisecracks on their lips—to hide the uneasy feeling inside.

Wally Brack, a widow who runs a real estate agency, said:

"We just say straight out what we think. Sometimes people don't like it, but it can't be helped. We're tough. We have to be, sitting on a powder keg for 17 years.

WON'T GIVE IN

"Other cities in West Germany would have capitulated years ago. But not us."

Otto Mueller was born in 1891 in Frankfurter Allee, in East Berlin. It was renamed Stalin-Allee by the Communists, but got its old name back during de-Stalinization last November.

Mueller, once a wealthy jeweler, sells souvenirs to tourists who come to see the wall just outside his door.

"I make 500 marks ($125) a month—enough for an old widower to live on," he says.

"Berlin will never go under. It's our spirit will make this city survive. Take me—over 70 and still working to become a millionaire. I know I won't make another million but the thought keeps me going.

HE'S NOT BERLINER

"One of my neighbors wanted to tear down the wall with his bare hands. He got so excited he had two strokes. That's what you get from being too excited. We Berliners are calm people. But then my neighbor isn't a Berliner. He's from the south."

Air hostess Brigitte Pohl says she prefers Berlin to any other German city because "it has a special atmosphere you don't get anywhere else."

She says she likes the Berliners' wit. She conceded it wore a bit thin after the wall.

"But it's coming back. Have you heard the latest? The Communists are going to knock down the wall on the birthday of their leader, Walter Ulbricht. He and his wife want to celebrate alone."

On Sundays many West Berliners go to the wall in hope of spotting a loved one across it. They stand on ladders and garden walls, peering through binoculars and waving colored scarves.

But most West Berliners prefer to bury themselves in hard work and then play hard.

There is a big drive on to clear away the ugly ruins of 6,000 bombed buildings. A new concert hall of startling design is to be opened next year.

But the vigorous tempo of Berlin life cannot make up for its biggest loss—it is no longer the capital of a world power.

The restive young are aware of this. Their thoughts, their clothes, their music, their dances, are influenced more by the United States, Italy and France than by German traditions.

The young are leaving. Of its 2,189,000 residents, 400,000 are over 65. In 1961 38,000 West Berliners died. Only 23,000 were born.

Cuba Comments On Weapons

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Cuba declared in the United Nations General Assembly Friday that weapons on its soil are "anti-colonial, anti-imperialistic and defensive."

The statement by Cuban delegate Juan Juarbe was touched off by a reference to Cuba made by Ahmed Shukairy of Saudi Arabia. Shukairy, speaking in debate on colonialism, said if the United States is alarmed over weapons in Cuba there also is ground for alarm by other countries over weapons in Kenya and Aden, both British-controlled areas.

"We wish to clarify that Cuba is not a colony," Juarbe said, "and the weapons at present in Cuba are there for the defence of a republic that is free, sovereign and independent."

He said the weapons are for the defence of the Cuban people and aimed at the "death of U.S. imperialism and colonialism."

The Cuban situation drew attention also in the assembly's main political committee, where Alex Qualson-Sackey of Ghana appealed to Cuba to permit UN inspectors to varify dismantling of missile bases.

The Cuban spoke as reports circulated at the United Nations that the Soviet Union is balking at removal of Soviet bombers and pressing for Premier Castro's five-point demands for ending the Caribbean crisis.
