The Hon. John Longworth—A Sudden Call.

THE HON. JOHN LONGWORTH was engaged on Saturday evening in writing a letter to his friend the Hon. T. H. Haviland. He was apparently in better health and spirits than usual, and his pen moved to the will of a mind perfectly clear. Suddenly, in the midst of a sentence, he stopped short, gasping for breath, and went to the door to obtain more air. Failing there to obtain the relief he sought, he returned, laid himself upon a sofa, and expired in about fifteen minutes.

Such is the brief story of an event which has greatly shocked and saddened the community. Mr. Longworth had not been in vigorous health for a year or two—being troubled with a bronchial affection; but, though well advanced in years, he was by no means an infirm man, and his family were at ease respecting his physical condition. When the summons came, Mrs. Longworth was enjoying a quiet evening at the house of a neighboring friend.

The deceased gentleman was the fourth son of Francis Longworth, Esq., and one of a large and highly respected family. He was born on the 17th of September, 1814. His early education was obtained for the most part at the Central Academy. He studied law with the late Sir Robert Hodgson, and was admitted to the bar in the year 1837. Subsequently, he went to England to obtain additional knowledge of his profession; and, returning, he opened a law office in Charlottetown in 1840. In 1846 he was made a Queen's Counsel, and afterwards was elevated to the office of Deputy Judge of the Vice Admiralty Court, and Master in Chancery. He entered the Legislature in the year 1846, and was a member of the House of Assembly until 1850, when he retired. In 1858 he was again elected, and succeeded in holding the position until 1867. During eight of these years he was a member of the Executive Government, under the leadership, successively, of Hon. Edward Palmer, Hon. Col. Grey, and Hon. J. C. Pope; and was one of the Commissioners sent by the Island Government to the Detroit Convention. After the passage of the present Education Act, Mr. Longworth was appointed to a seat at the City School Board, of which he was, for over six years, chairman. Mr. Longworth was an aide-de-camp to several of our Lieutenant Governors; and filled a number of important positions in private life. He was a director of Charlottetown Gas Light Company, and from the date of its establishment was a director of the Bank of P. E. Island. When the bank suspended in 1879, he occupied the position of President, and there is no doubt that the trouble and labor in which he was involved on account of the suspension, broke his health and spirit, and hastened his death. He was appointed to the office of Prothonotary in August, 1883.

In his profession, Mr. Longworth was greatly respected. He was actively engaged until a few years prior to his appointment as Prothonotary, in almost every suit of importance in the Colony. He was remarkable for his painstaking carefulness, and no man of his time was more thorough in his work. The fact that he had been employed professionally in any matter was a universal guarantee of the correctness and thoroughness of the work done.

The vocations of his life were numerous, yet in all of them he has left behind him the recollection of patient industry and marked ability. Office and position were not sought by him, but his strong integrity of character and conscientious fulfillment of all he undertook made him a chosen one among his fellows to positions of responsibility and honor. With a courtesy which made his companionship most agreeable, he combined all the qualities of a Christian gentleman.

When the Bank troubles came, he was foremost amongst his co-directors in rendering assistance, as well practically as financially; and though no one suffered more severely, yet no one subscribed more largely to lessen the losses of others.

His sudden death has left a blank not easily filled in this community. Universally respected and esteemed, his loss will long be felt. This short notice is a scant summary of a valuable life; yet, are not the few words which bring to our recollection a life faithful and true, the highest commendation one man can pay to a departed brother?

The New Hotel Scheme.

AFTER all that has been said and done, it cannot be possible that the people of this city are going to allow the present most favorable opportunity for building a first-class hotel to go by without making any further effort to place the required number of shares. If they do, we fear it will be some years before we again see such a good list of names of men who are willing to become stockholders, for a number have already declared that if the present stock list is not completed they will never sign another.

We are aware that several gentlemen who first signed the list stated that rather than see the hotel scheme fall through altogether they would increase the number of their shares; and, encouraged in this way, the committee canvassed the city thoroughly until they got every share that it seemed possible to get, so that the list now shows stockholders for 137 shares representing $27,400. But up to this time only one or two gentlemen have offered to increase the number of their shares, whilst others who at first appeared anxious and willing to help the new hotel on, have apparently grown indifferent at a moment when united action only was required to make it a certainty.

As there are many citizens who own real estate and have other interests at stake in Charlottetown, who have not taken any interest in the new Hotel question, we once more call their attention to the fact that if they ever expect to see Charlottetown become a place of summer resort, or if they have any desire to see real estate increase in value and trade improve in all its branches, let them come forward and put their names upon the stock list for whatever amount they feel able to afford.

Several very desirable sites are now offered, but it is not at all likely that the most desirable one can be had at any time a company may require it. The proposed amount of cost of land and buildings is $40,000, and of this amount eighty per cent. is required to be subscribed before the company can organize. Only $4,600 are required to make up 80 per cent. of the whole amount.

We trust, therefore, that those who have the means will at once decide to take up the few remaining shares; for, we repeat it, we cannot think it possible that our citizens are going to let the matter drop flat. The share list is at THE EXAMINER office; and subscriptions will be taken here.

The Patriot says:—

"We observe by our Ontario exchanges that Hon. L. H. Davies has addressed several meetings in the western part of that Province with good effect."

Yes. The Liberal-Conservative candidate in West Northumberland was elected by a majority nearly double that obtained in 1882! This is indeed a 'good effect.'

Address to Rev. Dr. FitzGerald.

On Easter Monday, the 6th April, at the Annual Meeting of the Congregation of St. Paul's Church, Charlottetown, the Rev. Dr. FitzGerald, in accordance with his intention announced some two years ago, retired from the Rectorship of the Parish, and the following Address to him was adopted and presented at the Rectory on last Wednesday, by a committee appointed by the congregation for the purpose, consisting of Hon. Judge Hensley, John Ings, and Percy Pope, Esqs.:

To the Rev. Dr. FitzGerald, Charlottetown.

The members of the congregation of St. Paul's Church, Charlottetown, convened, at their annual Easter Meeting, cannot allow the tie which has now for upwards of thirty-eight years existed between them and you as Minister and Rector, to be severed without expressing their acknowledgments of the earnestness and zeal which you have ever evinced in the discharge of your Parochial duties, and the firm support you have ever given to true Evangelical principles, as well as the deep interest always taken by you, not only in the prosperity of the Church itself, but of its individual members. Some of them have been members of the congregation ever since your connection with it, whilst others as years rolled on have by one made their entry into its ranks, but all alike entertain for you and desire to express a strong feeling of personal regard and esteem, and trust it may please God to preserve you, and give you yet many years of residence amongst us and friendly Christian intercourse. They must include in all their kind regards and good wishes your excellent partner in life, Mrs. FitzGerald, who has always been indefatigable and zealous in the furtherance of every good and charitable work amongst them. We assure you that they will continue to take an undiminished interest in the future welfare of yourself and Mrs. FitzGerald. Trusting that the good hand of their God may make smooth your remaining years of life, and that by and by, in the eternal happy home, you may receive a heavenly crown, adorned with many a star as the fruits of your labors in the church.

St. Paul's Schoolroom, 9th April, 1885. To which Rev. Dr. FitzGerald gave the following REPLY:

To the Members of St. Paul's Congregation. MY CHRISTIAN FRIENDS,—In the Address which you have presented to me on my retirement from the Rectorship of the Parish, you speak in too commendatory terms as to the nature of my work amongst you.

It is true that I have spent nearly eight and thirty years in your midst, and you are pleased to say that I have ever discharged my duty with earnestness and zeal. I only regret that they have not been much greater. The Evangelical principles or doctrines you give me credit for firmly supporting, are those which I believe every member of the Church ought to support, as they are those life-giving principles which are taught us in the Word of God, and on the reception of which into the heart depend the spiritual prosperity of the Church and the real nature of its work in the service of God.

I thank you for your good opinion, your kind expressions of personal regard and esteem, and your many good wishes for my welfare in time to come. I trust that our future intercourse will be on the same friendly footing as heretofore, and be mutually beneficial.

I thankfully acknowledge many tokens of kindness which have been shown me, especially from ladies of the congregation, who have been ever to me in self-denying effort and service cheerfully given, in all that can advance the glory of God and tend to the prosperity of the Church.

Mrs. FitzGerald, in union with myself, desires to thank the congregation for their kind feelings towards her, which she fully reciprocates, and unites with me in wishing that the blessing of the Almighty may rest upon the labors of both Minister and People, and that St. Paul's may be a beacon light to coming generations.

Again thanking you for your kind and friendly Address, believe me to remain ever faithfully yours in the bonds of the Gospel of Christ.

D. FITZGERALD, D. D. April 9th, 1885.

THE RIEL REBELLION

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

THE FROG LAKE MASSACRE.

The Toronto Globe's special Winnipeg despatch of the 9th says:—Word has been received from Battleford of the massacre of the white people at Frog Lake, north-west of Fort Pitt. The following are the names of the victims:

T. T. Quinn, Indian agent. John Delaney, farm instructor. Gowan Lock and wife. Father Stafford and Father Lemarshard, Priests.

And two other men whose names have not been learned. Mrs. Delaney is a prisoner. It is not known what has become of Cameron, the Hudson Bay company's agent. This word was brought to Battleford on the 8th by W. W. Quinn, nephew of the Indian agent, who escaped. The wire between Battleford and Clark's crossing apparently is not cut, but has been lying on the ground, and the circuit was established a short time on the 9th inst., allowing the message to come through. It is stated in the same message that Battleford is surrounded by a thousand and Indians, but no attempt has been made on the barracks. Indian agent, Rea, has not been killed, as reported. The Hudson Bay officer received intelligence by way of Edmonton and Calgary that Saddle Lake Indians raided the government warehouse at that point and had gone to join the rebels. They have also received a cypher message from the factor at Prince Albert, dated March 31st, in which he says: 'The whole population is on our hands. Am scouring the country for provisions; send flour and bacon to us. Indians quiet, except Sioux and fifty Crees who have joined the rebels. The Indians on Frog Lake reserves are all Crees and number in all only a little over 200. There was a Roman Catholic mission school for Indian children at Frog Lake, which was in a prosperous condition last summer. That this massacre could have been the work of the Frog Lake Indians alone does not seem altogether probable, as they have hitherto been quiet and well behaved. It will be remembered, however, that as late as the end of last December, Big Bear, with his band of 500 South Crees, was in the Fort Pitt agency, stirring up difficulty among the local tribes, and it is not improbable that he may be the leader in the uprising in that locality.

The news from the west confirm the report of the massacre at Frog Lake. Fourteen persons in all are known to have been killed, and others are supposed to share the same fate. Some persons are also supposed to have been killed at Fort Pitt, where Big Bear's band of Indians are reported to have taken the war path, but the rumor is unconfirmed as yet. A party of forty Indians of the thousand who again surround Battleford approached the fort, and as it was thought they were going to make an attack on those besieged, fire was opened on them at long range by the mounted police of the fort. Two Indians were killed. The others hastily retreated. Another report which comes from General Middleton says that fifty rebels were taken prisoners at Battleford. Of the dead at Frog Lake both priests were Oblat Fathers. Father Leon Adelard Fafard was born in the Province of Quebec in 1839, and was made an Oblat Father in 1874. He was ordained in Montreal, and since then has devoted his life to missionary work among northern Indians. Father Felix Marie Marchand was a young man, having been born in the year 1858, and was consequently only twenty-seven years of age. He was also a native of the Province of Quebec, and made an Oblat Father in 1881. In 1883 he was ordained at St. Albert, Alberta. Quinn, the Indian agent at Frog Lake, was a half-breed-Sioux, whose parents were killed in the famous Minnesota massacre. He was thirty-eight years of age and a magnificent specimen of manhood, standing over six feet high and proportionately well built. Mr. Gowanlock is a brother of Mrs. Dr. Lynch, of Winnipeg, and is the son of Gowanlock, of Seaford, Ont. He formerly lived at Goderich, Ont., and two years ago went up north on business connected with the Indian department, in which service he was. Louis Riel and Gabriel Dumont were, it is stated on good authority, in St. Boniface and Winnipeg six weeks ago, and visited a number of half-breeds in the province at the same time. There are 1,680 American troops, of which 500 are cavalry, on frontier duty at Fort Pembina, Satter, Buford, Poplar River and Assiniboine, with a considerable contingent of faithful Indian scouts, and are in close communication with the war office, Washington, and United States Consul at Winnipeg. Troops at other posts in Gen. Terry's department number 2,470 men, of which 1,900 are mounted and are ready to respond promptly to any order from Fort Snelling to move in support of the neutrality laws of the United States. There are other posts further west in Montana that will add to the above force. The 91st battalion Winnipeg light infantry under Lieut.-Col. Osborne Smith, have received orders to start for Calgary. The 65th battalion rifles from Montreal under command of Lieut.-Col. Ouimet, arrived from the east this morning, and left again this morning for Qu'Appelle.

THE DUCK LAKE FIGHT.

Particulars of the Duck Lake fight, through a courier from Carlton to Battleford, state that some mounted police teams were sent from Carlton to Duck Lake to get oats, but were chased back by the rebels. Major Crozier then went out with 100 men, 60 police and 40 militia, from Prince Albert. They got to within a mile and a half or two miles of Duck Lake, when they found they were surrounded by the rebels. They were then on an open space with a rising ground and bluff about them. An Indian and two half-breeds came forward, waving a white handkerchief. The interpreter stepped forward and asked them what they wanted. The Indian replied by snatching at the interpreter's (Joe Mackay's) gun, which appeared to be the signal for firing on the part of the rebels. Mackay drew his revolver and shot the Indian. One of the half-breeds then fired at Crozier, who dodged his head but received a flesh wound in the cheek. Mackay then killed this man also, and general firing commenced. The police did not get away the dead. They heard that the rebels lost severely, but the number was not stated. Since then it is said two more civilians have died, and that Constable Garrett, who was wounded in the lung, had died from his injuries. Garrett's last words were, "Till the boys I died game." Middleton and Mackenzie, who each lost a brother in the Duck Lake encounter, leave on Saturday next for Prince Albert, and will follow behind the troops. They go for the purpose of looking after the effects of their brothers and seeing that there has been Christian interment of the remains. Markely, one of the men wounded in the fight at Duck Lake, and who is reported to have since died of his wounds, had an insurance policy with the Confederation Life for $20,000. Middleton had a policy with the same company for $20,000.

RIEL'S PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Riel's settled policy will be to avoid close combat. He will endeavor to surprise the troops, and by sweeping down suddenly upon them unaware, aim such a blow at Canada as will be long remembered. He has sworn not to be taken alive, and has half a dozen body guards instructed to shoot him dead rather than see him fall into the hands of the authorities. An emissary further states that Riel's army now numbers 2,000 men, who have been drilling constantly for two months. Lepine, one of Riel's lieutenants during the Red River rebellion, is commander of the forces and drills the men. It is expected that Ambrose Lepine, who figured with Riel in 1869, will shortly leave Winnipeg to join the arch rebel.

Parliamentary Notes.

ENQUIRIES.

Hon. Mr. Haythorne has given notice that he will enquire from the Leader of the Government in the Senate whether it is intended during the ensuing summer to make any improvements at the entrance of Tracadie Harbor, P. E. Island, by constructing a breakwater or otherwise; also that he will call the attention of the Senate to the recent closing of the York Station of the Prince Edward Island railroad, and will ask the Leader of the Government in the Senate, by what authority and for what cause the said station was closed; also whether it is intended to reopen said station, and if so when?

THE TEMPERANCE ACT.

The evening session of the 8th inst. was wholly occupied with the discussion of the Canada Temperance Act. When the orders of the day were called, Mr. Jamieson moved that precedence should be given the bill to amend the act, which was introduced a few days ago at the suggestion of the Dominion Alliance, and could not be reached this session unless proceeded with at once. There was a long discussion upon the advisability of taking bills out of their ordinary course and relegating to the background measures of not less importance, but the House, by a vote of 86 to 62, decided to proceed with the temperance bill, and after further futile filibustering by the opponents of the Scott Act the amending bill was read a second time and passed through committee.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Timely Suggestion.

SIR,—Will you permit a suggestion about our shade trees, from an experienced hand. The fact is that the almost universally untrimmed condition of the trees that have been already planted, will almost ensure their early death; or, if they survive, their ugliness. The stub left on the main trunk extends a long way inside, and if not trimmed close, becomes a dead core, and spoils the tree. If our shade tree friends will at once see to this before the sap is flowing, many valuable trees may be saved, and the labor of replanting some years hence avoided.
