U.S. Nurses Are Foster Mothers To Abandoned Indian Children

By DAN COGGIN
NEW DELHI (AP)—It's a rocking home, with 13 children, two mothers and no father. The mothers are U.S. nurses Gene Long and Jackie Liechty. Every couple of weeks the brood is taken into a restaurant for dinner of ice cream—quite a chore in a Gene and Jackie, known in the family as Mama Gene and Mama Jackie, have no car. Ten of the 13 children attend a neighborhood school. When they come home in the afternoon the place quickly becomes headquarters for most kids in the area, Indian, American and European. "Of course the children have no father, and that's not normal," Jackie said, "but some of the fathers in the neighborhood come over occasionally and play with them. The children just love it, and they need the male influence." Three Indian nursemaids, called "aunties" by the children, help out at Signal Home keeping teeth brushed, hair combed and glasses filled with the 18 quarts of milk the kids consume daily. A cook and a cleaning man complete the staff. In this land where waits often fall into the hands of professional beggars and are deliberately maimed to evoke sympathy, the good fortune of these 13 children is a rare phenomenon.

The story goes back to 1950 at Johns H. King School of Nursing in Baltimore where an alphabetized eating system brought Miss Long and Miss Liechty together as student nurses. It also involves in a big way the financial and moral support of their parents: Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Long of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Liechty of Los Angeles. In 1956, the future foster mothers were together again at Columbia Bible College in Columbia, S.C. It was there they decided they wanted to bring up homeless children. They wrote dozens of letters to government officials and welfare authorities in India and Pakistan, countries chosen because of their poverty and because English is spoken. They

Students' President Says Dief Should Go

OTTAWA (CP) — Joe Clark, president of the Progressive Conservative Student Federation, said here the party's interest would best be served under another leader. Mr. Clark, who said he submitted a confidential letter to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker Tuesday afternoon, said the party leader's views do not represent the feelings of young members of the party. He also said at a press conference, after trying for several hours to see the opposition leader, he would have informed Mr. Diefenbaker of this view had he met him. Mr. Clark declined to disclose the contents of the letter, but said it informed Mr. Diefenbaker the 46 student club presidents have been advised they are free and obliged to speak out on policy matters. Mr. Clark said he accepts the interpretation of Saturday's national executive meeting here that there should be no leadership convention at this time. He said the student federation opposed the party's stand in the

Hawk Missiles Tighten Border

SAIGON (AP)—A battery of 36 U.S. Hawk anti-aircraft missiles have helped tighten northern frontier defenses in South Viet Nam. American dependents slowly moved out. The South Vietnamese war effort reverted to familiar bloody channels. The Hawks, fitted to home in on aerial intruders, were set up by marines at the Da Nang Air Base as a precaution against possible Communist retaliation for the retaliatory U.S. — South Vietnamese raids Sunday and Monday on North Viet Nam. U.S. Air Force F-105 fighter-bombers struck again at Communist supply lines in neighboring Laos, maintaining a campaign launched more than a month ago to cut the flow of recruits and munitions for the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

Opening lead — seven of diamonds.
The finesse is a marvelous instrument of play, but there is no doubt that it is used to excess. The success or failure of a finesse is usually a matter of luck, but it cannot be right to depend upon this species of luck if there are better ways of accomplishing a particular result or increasing the chances of retaining it. Here is a type of hand where many declarers go wrong. South arrives at five clubs and West leads a diamond. East cashes the A-K and then plays a low spade.
