

SOME OF the tourist literature for 1965 is being examined by three members of the Dominion Travel Bureau during their stay in Charlottetown last night as part of a Maritime promotional tour. While on the Island the representatives visited Summerside, Confederation Centre, Woodleigh, and Cavendish. The travel bureau representatives are from the left, Wes Rothwell, Ottawa; Ross Miller, Moosejaw; and Bernard Campbell, Ottawa.

Tourist Bureau Officials Here

Three members of the Dominion Travel Bureau are currently touring the Maritimes on a promotional and educational trip designed to improve the service of the Dominion Bureau. Bernard Campbell, Ottawa; Ross Miller, Moosejaw, and Wes Rothwell, Ottawa, spent yesterday in Charlottetown visiting the provincial bureau and inspecting some of the Island's tourist attractions.

All three of the junior executives chose the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Complex as the highlight of their island visit. Ross Miller called the cultural centre unique, and stated that nothing compared to it for architecture, designing and lighting. The Confederation Theatre was compared to Toronto's O'Keefe Centre, and all the bureau delegates were impressed with the complete tour they received from Frank Storey yesterday afternoon.

The bureau representatives also visited Cavendish, Summerside, and Woodleigh replicas. They commented on the Island's tourist potential and expressed regret that they wouldn't be able to visit Kings County, and see the famous east and south shore beaches.

Jack Misener, assistant director of the provincial bureau, conducted the Island tour for the delegates and E. W. Johnston exhibited the miniatures at Woodleigh.

The men leave today for Sydney, Halifax and St. John's, before returning to Ottawa. The promotional trip got underway in Fredericton, their centres visited were Moncton and Saint John.

Leard Clan To Gather On July 21

It has recently been announced by the executive of the Leard Clan that their annual gathering this year will take place Wednesday, July 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wood, Mount Tryon.

Special features are planned including an exhibit of ancestral portraits and antique household furnishings.

It was left to the consideration of the general meeting how best to mark the grave of pioneers, Samuel Leard and his wife Margaret Rogers.

The Leards who came to the Island in 1768 from County Antrim, Ireland, were of Scottish-Irish extraction and the founder of the family who died in 1792 lies in an unmarked grave possibly near that of his son, John 'Brick' Leard (1780-1872) in the Tryon People's cemetery which was started by the Acadians at an early period.

Mr. Matheson said that what is needed now is efficiency in government. He said that back in 1960, Provincial Treasurer Alban Farmer, then not a cabinet member, told the House that the Conservative budget "heralded a new day when we can look to a balanced budget and efficient management of financial affairs."

He said "we have an example of that efficiency in the 1965-66 budget, which will produce an estimated deficit of over $7,000,000."

Labor Fed. Concerned Over Causeway Talk

The executive of the Prince Edward Island Federation of Labor has expressed serious concern that the announcement on construction of the P.E.I.-N.B. causeway contained no mention of the 500 people and their dependents who could become displaced because of this change of mode of transportation between the two provinces.

In this connection, Prince Edward vice president, Everett MacLeod, pointed out that the value of goods and services to the province represented some $5 million. He stressed that this amount must not be forfeited and alternative employment of equal or better value must be implemented if and when the causeway project is completed.

The executive unanimously agreed that the matter would be followed through until a satisfactory plan is announced.

The executive was meeting in regular session in Charlottetown with J. M. McAlduff, president. Others in attendance were H. C. MacDougall, Secretary Treasurer, Queen's vice-presidents, William Shields and L. F. MacDougall, King's vice president, Edward Gallant in addition to Mr. MacLeod.

Other business included: full support of all affiliates be urged for the Health Charter for Canada by 1967; a report that 70 per cent of eligible organizations had affiliated with the federation since its inception last September; the next convention would be held the third week in September and a newsletter is to be sent to all Local Unions in the province explaining the duties and activities of a federation.

Program Given For Foreign Students' Night

There will also be a piano solo, "The Warsaw Concerto," by Alice Lau of Hong Kong; a number of folk songs by students from the United States; and a Chinese folk dance, "The Lily-Lamp Dance," by Anita Fung of Hong Kong.

The "Night" is being held in keeping with the tradition of International Co-operation Year which is aimed at promoting good will and understanding of other nations through a study of their customs, traditions, entertainment and ways of life. There are 70 foreign students at SDU this year.

There is no admission charge and the general public is invited to attend.

Panel Discusses Role In Church Of Lay Apostle

KINKORA — The role of the lay apostle — witnessing for Christ as a mature Christian — was the main topic of a recent panel discussion in Kinkora.

The close relationship between Baptism and Confirmation as sacraments of initiation into the Christian life was explained, along with the obligations arising therefrom.

The panel stressed the fact that the Holy Eucharist communicates and nourishes the spirit of Charity, which is the soul of the Apostolate.

Mrs. John Johnston, Mrs. Peter Clark, Mrs. Charles Murphy, Mrs. Clayton McCabe, Mrs. Edwin Himmill and Sister Clara Theresa, representing the CWL units of Bedouque, Upper Newton and Lower Newton made up the panel which was chaired by Mrs. Wilfred Smith.

A discussion period in which the audience participated followed the panel, after which Rev. Harold Croxson thanked the panel members for their excellent presentation and the audience for their interest and participation.
