is issued every Friday morning. It is made up of matter which has appeared in the Daily, and is a first-class newspaper, containing all the latest news. Subscription $1.00 a year.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—Mr. George Johnson, the Dominion statistician, advocates the inclusion of the British West India Islands in the Dominion of Canada. This proposition was discussed a decade and a half ago by the press of eastern Canada. It is still within the range of practical statesmanship. We agree with Mr. Johnson and the St. John Sun that such a union would be mutually beneficial.

—Russia is preparing to celebrate the centenary of her great poet and novelist Alexander Pushkin, who was born in 1799 and was mortally wounded in a duel in 1837. He represents more than one side of Russian life; in his early days he was exiled to Bessarabia for his Liberalism, he died while holding the official position of historiographer with a salary of 6,000 roubles. The Russians are rightly proud of his literary genius, and he has been a fertile theme for biographers and critics. More than four thousand books and essays have been written about him, and there can be no doubt that this number, adequate as it may seem, will be greatly increased by the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of his birth. It is proposed to place a national monument over his grave and to add to the memorial hall that bears his name at Tabelensk.

—The Canadian Grocer maintains that there is a good thing in reciprocity for the United States. Canada can show that even under present conditions the United States has every reason to cultivate Canadian trade. Look at the record in round numbers, of the past five fiscal years:

CANADA BOUGHT FROM THE UNITED STATES

1894	$53,000,000
1895	54,000,000
1896	58,000,000
1897	61,000,000
1898	86,000,000
Total for 5 years	$312,000,000

CANADA SOLD TO THE UNITED STATES

1894	$35,000,000
1895	41,000,000
1896	44,000,000
1897	49,000,000
1898	41,000,000
Total for 5 years	$210,000,000

During five years, then, we have purchased from them about $100,000,000 more than we have sold.

—Bylander in the Farmer's Sun states that in a seventy mile walking race in Germany the vegetarians have shown a remarkable superiority in endurance over the eaters of meat. There is nothing new in this. Extraordinary journeys are made by the Hindoo palanquin-bearer, whose only food is rice. There is probably a gradual tendency on the whole to vegetarian diet. It does not appear that animal food is absolutely essential to any function of the human body or brain. No man did a better day's bodily work than the British farm laborer when he had no meat but a taste of bacon. No man ever did a greater amount of brain work than a monastic saint, who was forbidden meat by the rules of his order. No man ever produced higher fruits of the imagination than Shelley, who was a devout vegetarian. A much greater amount of vegetable than of animal food can be produced on a given area. The inclination of the taste as human nature grows more refined points the same way. Homeric heroes eat masses of meat, apparently without vegetables; and to the bard of that day the picture of the shambles is not less congenial than that of the harvest or the vintage. To us the details of the shambles are abhorrent. We require vegetables with our meat, while there is a tendency to disguise the meat itself by elaborate cookery. On the whole it seems probable that progressive vegetarianism is the rule, though there will be no sudden leap, nor will the vegetarian think it his duty to enforce his habit on us by law.

—A correspondent at Quebec reports that while the strictest reticence is maintained as to the particulars of the debate, it may be stated on authority that the American commissioners have taken an attitude that leaves no room to doubt their sincere desire to come to an understanding. The general discussion has been such as to make the prospect bright for a comprehensive arrangement. The American commissioners are hard at work studying up Canadian affairs, and in their social intercourse with the Canadian representatives are getting a better understanding of the situation than they had when they came to Quebec. The public men of the United States are so engrossed all the time with the affairs of their own great country that they have very shadowy ideas in the main regarding Canada and Canadian questions. The delegate therefore, who did not know the line of cleavage between Conservatives and Liberals, or the distinctive features of the political platform of each, will be readily forgiven. This process of familiarizing the American delegates with the position of affairs in the Dominion is likely to bear fruit when the conference takes up seriously the trade relations of the countries. The clear and concise fashion in which the Department of Trade and Commerce has submitted the figures relating to trade between Canada, Great Britain and the United States for the last half century will do much to impress on the Americans the chief point of the Canadian case, namely, that we are far better consumers of their goods than they are of ours, and that they cannot afford to go on treating us to exclusive tariffs without losing a good customer. The more the figures compiled by the department are examined the stronger appears the Canadian case.

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES.

—Montreal Gazette: Some papers are asking if the federal Government will not disallow the Ontario Constables' act. They evidently do not know of the close relations between the Hardy and Laurier administration.

St John Globe: The Dingley tariff is not an ideal one. It is not producing a revenue. In other words it is so intensely a protective tariff that it fails to do the principal work for which customs duties are levied. The country is face to face with these conditions. The war will add to the national debt and will, therefore, increase the burden of interest. In addition to this heavier national expenditure annually will result from the extension of territory, and from the necessity which will arise for greater expenditure because of many of the conditions which the late war will leave. A more strictly revenue tariff will, therefore, be necessary.

OUT IN THE COLD.

The Winnipeg Free Press (Grit), commenting on 'Ras Wiman's presence at the Quebec convention, says the Canadian people would be obliged if 'Ras would stay away and mind his own business, as there is no more reason for him being there in this connection than any other United States citizen. It also reminds him that, while he posed for many years as a British subject but lived in New York, he is now an American citizen and "his game has cetered out." The Winnipeg Telegram makes a text of the above to remark:

Times have, indeed, changed. Now their dear old friend Wiman has become poor and has served a term in jail for forgery, the prosperous Grits have no use for him. Yet in the days of their adversity and his magnificence he was a good friend to them, and they could not sufficiently slobber over him. They sat at his feet to learn political economy, and he provided them with their commercial policy. It is said he also provided them liberally with funds to fight their elections. In those not very distant days they did not tell him that the Canadian people would be obliged to him if he would mind his own business, nor did they sneer at his foreign allegiance. Not at all. Mr. Wiman has apparently not forgotten his old friends even if they have only the marble heart for him. He, no doubt, thinks it quite appropriate that he should foregather with his old pals, Cartwright and Charlton on this interesting occasion. Their usual friend the farmer will be there too, and the meeting of these old cronies under these particular circumstances ought to be a rare union. His old chums who were then venerated annexationists, are now so superloyal that they are tumbling over one another in their scramble for "tin-pot titles." Sir Richard Cartwright has been made a G.C.M.G., which, as the Globe's late Ottawa correspondent could tell Mr. Wiman, is "something much higher" than his old K.C.M.G. The old National Policy is good enough for them now, and the only wish to vary it by a trumpety imitation of the much derided Conservative policy of Imperial preferential trade. No, Rastus, old man, they don't want you turning up like a Banquo's ghost at the conference to remind them of their former treacheries. Tempora mutatur, et nos mutamur in illis!

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalid's Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Among the men the war has created Col. Roosevelt seems likely to first make his mark in politics. It is not certain that his regiment was exceptionally well handled in the Santiago campaign, but it got into the fight where it was sharpest, and behaved itself. Roosevelt was with it where the work was hottest, and the reputation he thus won, added to that he had achieved in New York municipal politics, and as assistant Secretary of the Navy, served to make him a good deal of a popular hero. He is now recognized as a probable candidate for the governorship of New York, with all that position may be a stepping stone to, and while he is not liked by the machine politicians there are signs that they may take him up, least worse befall them. If he does not head the Republican ticket in the fall campaign the signs are pointing wrong.—Gazette.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Shanghai says it is reported there that the Russians at New Chwang are trying to compel native owners of land to sell their holdings at absurdly low prices, and that in consequence of this the Chinese are on the verge of an anti-Russian outbreak. The local mandarins are, so to speak, between the cross fires of the Russians and the natives.
