Twenty-six new projects that could be carried out in this province under the federal-provincial agricultural rehabilitation and development program were being prepared yesterday for submission to federal authorities by the division of research of the department of industry and natural resources.

Division director, Hartwell Daley, is being assisted on the projects by J.D. Conlon, chairman, director of the Maritime Marshland Reclamation Program, under which ARDA operations in Eastern Canada are administered.

Mr. Daley said the projects "cover practically all the province. Included are such things as establishment of new parks and expansion of handicraft training.

While Mr. Conlon is in the province, he will discuss with Mr. Daley the methods to be used in making an economic survey of Prince George.

Union Seeks Certification

It was learned yesterday that the provincial labor relations board is considering the applications of two groups of operating engineers in the Charlottetown area who are seeking union certification with the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The board is also investigating several firms of the same type in Charlottetown and Summerside that a minimum wage order be considered.

The board recently sent a draft order setting a minimum wage for men in the province to Welfare and Labor Minister Henry Wedge. Mr. Wedge was to take the order to the cabinet for consideration but this has been delayed briefly as some minor revisions of the order are needed for clarification.
