Newspaper Circulation At Record High

MONTREAL (CP)—Daily newspaper circulation in Canada and national advertising revenues have reached record highs in 1954, the Newspaper Advertising Managers Association of Eastern Canada was told Thursday at the annual meeting here.

Mr. Macdonald said circulation gains are spread over large and small newspapers. In national advertising, daily newspapers are heading for a record year, he said. No other advertising medium in Canada approximates the dollar volume of manufacturer advertising in dailies.

Volume of advertising had increased by 182 per cent since 1947, despite keen competition from radio, television and magazines.

Alberton Legion To Erect Monument

At a special meeting of the executive and memorial committee of the Alberton branch of the Canadian Legion Wednesday evening plans were finalized for the erection of a war memorial on the Legion grounds at Alberton. After considerable discussion and deliberation a monument was selected from the many beautiful designs submitted. The monument will be a rock of ages bary granite vertical slab mounted on a granite base and having an overall height of about eight feet. The face of the stone will have a very unusual and beautiful scene of the setting sun depicting the eternal promise "at the going down of the sun and in the morning we will remember them." Below a suitable memorial inscription will be the names of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the 1914-18 and in the 1939-45 conflicts. The Legion memorial committee requests the cooperation of the people of Alberton and vicinity in submitting the names of those who died in the two world wars. The monument will be publicly unveiled on Remembrance Day and impressive memorial services are planned.

Pearson Pledges

requisite to progress in this field. However, now there was "hope that progress can be made on the side of international co-operation for constructive uses of atomic energy.

Canada believed that President Eisenhower's atomic energy for-peace plan, made before the assembly last December, was particularly important "because it implicitly recognizes the principles which are essential to the achievement of prosperity and the diminution of the threat of war throughout the world."

These principles were: 1. That the endeavor to establish trust between nations by means of co-operative ventures aimed at the social and economic betterment of mankind should not be made conditional upon agreements which are impossible until such mutual confidence has been achieved.

2. That proposals for co-operation should be developed under United Nations supervision. Pearson added that "international co-operation in the peaceful uses of atomic energy cannot in itself remove the dangers of atomic destruction."

These and other dangers to peace have, however, brought their own response in the determination of many governments... to use our United Nations for the purpose of avoiding the grim tragedy of global destruction, and of bringing about a better world than the one we have today.

Pearson said that as nuclear science advances, the interdependence of mankind increases. But still the divisions persisted. If the world was going to do anything about these divisions, it must first recognize and understand them. There was the fundamental one: between the totalitarian and free societies; the one between the self-governing and the non-self-governing parts of the world, and the distinction between the highly-industrialized countries and the under-developed areas.

Our organization has, I think, had significant success in dealing with each of these three main lines of division in our world. But in each there are problems and trends which cause concern and which, if they got out of hand, could easily lead to grave setbacks.

The Summerside Y's Men's Club resumed their weekly meetings last night at the Y's Center with the president Y's Jim Murphy in the chair.

The chairman thanked the first vice president, Ralph MacFarlane, for carrying on in his behalf during his recent illness. Y's Wendell Muttart gave a report on the movie sponsored by the club before the regular meetings terminated this summer. Y's Charles Linkletter reported that it was not possible at this time to bring the Henry L. Scott show to Summerside but that the matter should be investigated again next spring.

The winners of this local contest will go to Charlottetown to compete in the provincial contest. It was recommended by the executive committee to investigate the possibilities of holding a dance in the newly constructed warehouse on the C.N.R. wharf appointed. Y's Charles Linkletter, Y's Harold Rodd, Y's Charles Ballum, Y's John Ellis and Y's Art Robinson were named for this committee.

Y's Fred Bingham, reporting for money raising projects, stated that he had been looking into possibilities of sponsoring a wrestling program in Summerside. The club agreed that this project would be worth while and Y's Fred Bingham, Y's Eric Sheen, Y's Jock Hopkirk and Y's John Leuty were put on a committee to make further inquiries.

The Y's Menettes presented to the club for club funds, a cheque for $250.00. A vote of thanks from the Y's Men was moved and unanimously passed.

Y's George Meikle suggested to the club that school "drive slow" signs such as were used in Port Elgin, Moncton and other cities should be obtained. Y's Clarence Mercer volunteered to look after this matter.

Special Anniversary Services At Alberton Church Scheduled Sunday

One hundred and twenty-three years ago the heads of fourteen families in the vicinity of Alberton organized the first Presbyterian congregation in West Prince County and four years later their first elders were elected and ordained by Rev. John Kier of Malpeque. About this time their first church building was erected near the old cemetery and this served as a place of worship for about twenty years. In 1854, just one hundred years ago, a larger building was erected near the same place but before the interior was completed it was destroyed by fire.

The first Methodist Church in Alberton was built about 1871. Until the late 1800s the Methodist people in the community had worshipped with the Presbyterian congregation and always the friendliest relations existed between the two groups.

On June 19th, 1925 both congregations became a part of the United Church of Canada. The former Methodist Church was moved to eastward to another lot and became the church home of some members of the Presbyterian congregation who did not wish to enter the union. The old Dock Church was moved to the site previously occupied by the Methodist Church to become the place of worship for Alberton congregation of the United Church of Canada.

Bogus Accident Case Continues

AMHERST, N. S. (CP)—An insurance adjuster who turned crown witness and intimidated he had been paid a pawn of a phony car accident racket testified Thursday the once was left holding the "probable bag" and left by car for Mexico.

Theodore C. Chapman of Moncton, one of 10 Nova Scotia and New Brunswick men charged with claiming losses from insurance companies for accidents that never existed, said he played a part in four bogus claims.

The preliminary hearing against the 10 opened Tuesday and is not expected to end until next week because only nine of 63 witnesses have appeared so far. One of the accused, Charles A. Letcher of Moncton, has already pleaded guilty.

Another one. In its nine years the UN had been threatened from within and attacked from without but if this United Nations organization did not exist, we should soon have to find another one.

Claims Speculation Lowered Pork Prices

TORONTO, Sept. 22 —"Speculation in pork products is the cause of the present drop in the price of hogs," Charles McInnis, president, told delegates to the recent semi-annual meeting of Ontario Hog Producers.

All present stocks, he claimed, could have been absorbed by the American market at fair profits earlier this year. Speculators, however, bought up this pork and held it in the hope that the American market might reach even higher prices. When this did not materialize, these same speculators released their holdings on the Canadian domestic market thereby forcing the price down some 10 cents a pound from 37 to 27.

"To satisfy the greed of a few," he continued, "Ontario farmers lost millions of dollars and would continue to do so, in spite of the fact that at the present time there is no over-production of pork."

26 YUGOSLAVS VANISH

VIENNA (AP)—A group of 26 Yugoslavs who came to Vienna for the city's fall fair have disappeared and are believed seeking political asylum in Austria, the Austrian press agency said Thursday.

They are part of a group of 59 Yugoslavs who entered Austria Sept. 13 on a blanket visa. When the group crossed back into its Communist-governed homeland Wednesday, there were only 63, the agency said.
