HUNTER'S CORNER

Columnist Talks Releases Of Wild Turkeys On Island

I must admit that I couldn't suppress a chuckle when I read in a recent issue of the Guardian, an account of a recent release of turkeys in the province along with the confident statement that an open season was expected in a few years. When was there ever a closed season? is a natural question. Records show that this is the fifth release in recent years. The only one that showed promise of becoming established was the first made by Dr. Prowse at Bellevue. I assisted in this operation and it was the only one that showed promise of being successful. There wasn't any great fan-fare over this release and, despite a winter of deep snows, a number wintered well. I have definite information that at least three broods were reared the following season... one of either 6 or 7 and the other two numbering 8 each. One was in the Bellevue district not far from the late Col. Weatherbie's residence, another along the Cardigan River and the third in the Brudenell River area. All were hunted down and shot. The Brudenell flock were shot at night off their roosting trees with 22 cal rifles. The big birds were tracked down to their roosts and high power flash lights were brought into play at night. The 22's were the executioners.

The 2nd release was made by Vernon Duck, York, and held 5 birds... two gobblers and three hens. Less than a week later a farmer in the Pleasant Grove district reported that a wounded turkey gobbler came into his yard and died shortly after. A short time later the remaining gobbler returned to Vernon's premises in a wounded condition. He was nursed back to health but again wandered off and was seen no more. The three hens were never heard tell of after their release. A few years ago a large release of turkeys, an approximate thirty, was made in the general Morell Rear area. Scattered members were reported coming into farmyards for a few weeks after the release and then silence. The last report I had was of a hen turkey that wandered into a farm yard and flew into a little girl's arms when threatened by a dog. Another release was made in the Johnston's River section and one gobbler is known to have survived until the eve of Thanksgiving. The release reported recently is the fifth and last to date. In view of the foregoing by what stretch of the imagination does anyone hope that this one will make the grade.

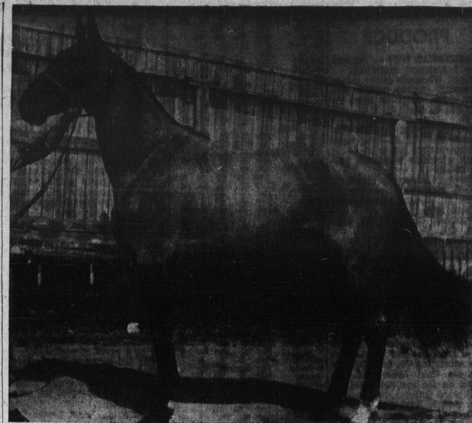
FIVE REPORTED

To date five coveys of Huns have been reported to me..three of them in one School district... and I haven't begun to inquire about them as yet. I'll wait until the haying is over. A question I have heard voiced on a number of occasions recently is: "Why purchase 400 Hungarian partridge eggs this spring at a cost of one dollar per egg when we have ample local breeding stock on hand?" The fact that they are of English origin does not make the transaction any more enticing as there are diseases in England and France that are unknown in this country and we have plenty without any more being added to the list.

We are living in an age at the moment where the motto: "It's alive...kill it," appears to be the predominant reaction toward our wildlife. A few weeks ago I watched several quarter grown young mink having a whale of a time foraging for pin fish and small trout stranded in shallow pools in a rocky stream bed after the water was closed off. Two young lads standing by also saw them. Their reaction was different to mine. They immediately grabbed a fistful of rocks and began heaving them at the frolicking little creatures. They scored no hits but I stopped their actions pronto and explained there were penalties under The Game Act for interfering with game birds or animals in closed season. I also explained that their pelts were worthless at the moment but could be worth from five to ten dollars each when the season was open in November. I told them that trapping could be a pleasureable as well as profitable pastime.

ENJOYED IT

Last week I took great enjoyment watching three half grown young mink frolicking along a stream bank at Bonshaw where the Crosby Dam is in process of being re-built. I missed them the next morning but later on an angler reported to me that he saw a young mink down where the Iron Bridge once stood that appeared to have a broken back as it had no use of its hind legs. On investigating I found it lying on the sandy shore with its head in a half pound salmon tin. It had apparently been freshly opened as the little fellow was licking off the contents that still adhered to the tin. I could have picked him up in my hand but I knew that when a mink bites he doesn't let go but takes the piece out in a single chunk. I'd say offhand that a stone connected with the small of his back as he had practically no use of his hindlegs. He was game as they come and managed to swim to the off shore despite the swift current. I wished him luck as he crawled in between some large stones that formed the abutment of the bridge that used to span the stream at this point until it was carried away by last spring's record flood. I know this much for a certainty if I had have seen the culprit who threw the stone, if such was the case, he would have been charged under the Game Act and the minimum fine for attempting to kill a mink in close season is $20.00 plus costs — maximum one hundred or 6 months.



DEES BOY, the roan horse owned by the Scotian Stables of Dartmouth, will be drawing plenty of attention when he makes his first appearance of the week at the Charlottetown Driving Park in the Gold Cup and Saucer classic tonight. The big horse had race fans talking at Sackville Downs recently when he set a track record of 2:03-1 in the Maritime Pacing Championships. Dee's Boy was absent from the big Invitational Pace early this week at the local oval but he will be one of the favorites in the main Old Home Week feature.

Gold Cup And Saucer Race Is At Local Oval Tonight

Charlottetown Driving Park will be bulging at the seams tonight when The Evening Patriot Gold Cup and Saucer $2500 free-for-all goes with eight starters.

This race has been the talk of racegoers for months. They've waited for the big night and here it is in all its splendor.

Dee's Boy, the popular roan, will be a pre-race favorite and there's every reason to see the bettors making him just that. His feats throughout the season have been tremendous and that mile of 2.03:1 in Sackville Downs was surely the highlight of his racing career. He will be out tonight to show Island race fans his speed and if he is right, the track record of 2.03:4 could be in for more than a scare.

But horses like Hi Jay, Bob Brook, June Byrd, McSampson and Tammany Hall have all achieved much success during the summer campaign. Bob Brook and June Byrd have taken turns at beating the Dee's Boy and there are many who are ready to wager this will happen tonight. Both Bob and June were below par in last Monday's race but reports are that each will be showing to much better advantage tonight.

Now that Bill Boyles's Hi Jay has made the winner's circle in this Maritime circuit, he may be hard to keep out. The seven year-old gelding seems to be rounding into the form predicted of him when he came this way. He will be gunning again tonight for top honors.

McSampson and Tammany Hall both looked good in Monday's opener and Clarke Smith provided a big upset when he got, Tammany Hall home in front in the first dash.

The two other entrants, Willie's Adios and Armond's Buddy, were invited after their great miles of Wednesday night and you can look for these slick pacers to force the bigger names right to the limit.

Six other dashes will round out what certainly should be the week's greatest race card.

Action goes at 8.30 sharp.

LOWERS MARK TWICE

4-Year-Old Sunny King Steals Race Spotlight

Sunny King, a four-year-old bay gelding owned by Ray Stewart, of Murray Harbour, stole the spotlight at the Charlottetown Driving Park last night.

Veteran driver Cyril Smith reined the youngster to new marks in both outings of a feature A pace. Going into last night's race Sunny King was sporting a mark of 2:11-2 and in his first outing he lowered his mark to 2:09-3. He stepped 1-5 of a second faster in his second trip with the mile being in 2:09-2.

The young gelding was also the best pari-mutuel long shot of the evening, returning $29.90 for a $2. win wager in his first appearance. He was one of two double winners on th evening's program.

A bumper crowd saw just about the best card this week with fast times being the order of the night. The slowest mile was 2:13.

The other double dash winner was Stanley Mayhew's Fastway, a five-year-old chestnut gelding. Fastway stepped miles of 2:12-2 and 2:10-2 in capturing both ends of a B pace.

ALSO LOWERS MARK

One other winner took a new mark. Here Am I, the veteran brown gelding owned by Dr. Preston MacIntyre of Montague, lowered his mark by 4-5 of a second in capturing the second dash of a B pace in 2.10 flat.

Winner of the first dash of this event was Cathy Girl in 2:13.

Other winners were Orchestra Leader, owned and driven by Glydon Willis of Kensington and Piney Lee, a New Brunswick entry owned by Dr. F. G. Bullock of Saint John, N.B.

Orchestra Leader also proved somewhat of a long shot at the pari-mutuel wickets in his second appearance with a win ticket returning $18.50.

The biggest pay of the night was the exactor on the fifth which returned $253.80 on a combination of Orchestra Leader and Homestretch Lady. The first double paid $15.60, the quinella $40.70 and the second double $27.90.

Moore Favored To Retain Title

HELSINKI (AP) — Davey Moore, the world featherweight champion from Ohio, was a prohibitive favorite Thursday to beat Finland's Olli Maeki tonight in Finland's first world title fight.

Only a brave few gave the comparatively inexperienced 25-year-old Finn a chance against the skillful, hard - hitting, 28-year-old American who was making his fifth defence of the crown.

Maeki, who has had only 10 professional fights, never has gone more than 10 rounds. The title fight is scheduled for 15 rounds.

Maeki, has an 8-1-1 won-lost-draw record. The lone defeat was to Howard Winstone, Britain's young featherweight champion. The Finn has scored no knockouts in his pro career.

Moore has a 55-6-1 record, including 27 knockouts. In his last defence Moore outpointed Japan's Kazuo Takayama in Tokyo, last Nov. 14.

Can. Derby Has Come Long Way

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian derby has come a long way since it was moved to Edmonton from Winnipeg.

The race, Western Canada's richest, now is named the Governor - General's Canadian Derby because Governor - General Vanier has donated a trophy which will be presented the winner Saturday.

The event is for three-year-old fillies and colts foaled in Canada.

The purse for the 33rd running of the 1⅛-mile event, the sixth in Edmonton, has been boosted until now it is $15,000 added. This year the race should have prize money of $21,000 with $15,000 going to the winner.

Probably favorite of the expected 12,500 fans will be Welcome Effort from the Golden West Farm of Okotoks, Alta.

Welcome Effort, out of the money in the Queen's Plate, won the Manitoba Derby last week. The colt won by several lengths on the off track but also runs well on a fast strip.

The Eastern Canada threat is from Captress of E. P Taylor's Windfields Farm. Captress is expected to do better in the Canadian Derby if the track remains fast than his out-of-the-money showing in the Manitoba Derby.

Doug Silverberg Ousts Weslock

BULLETIN

By W. R. WHEATLEY

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Doug Silverberg of Calgary, playing nerveless and steady golf, defeated formidable Nick Weslock of Toronto one up in the third round Thursday of the Canadian Amateur golf championship.

The big blonde westerner refused to become awed in tackling the man who ousted champion Gary Cowan of Kitchener in the morning round and who won the Canadian crown five years ago.

Down one hole along the first nine, Silverberg had pulled even at the turn.

He went in front for the first

The doughty Weslock had a hand in his own undoing when he hooked his tee shot at the par three, 202 - yard 16th. His ball rolled halfway down a steep hill with trees overhead.

Nick elected to try to lift his ball through the trees instead of rolling it up a path for the green. Silverberg had driven the green.

Nick's lift from the hillside struck a branch and the ball dropped into a trap. He went just off the far edge of the green with his next. His putt missed and he conceded the hole.

The 17th was halved in par fours.

HITS PIN

At the par-five 18th Weslock was 15 feet short of the green with his second shot. He chipped and his ball bounced off the pin, coming to rest 18 inches from the cup.

Silverberg also had to chip up and was the same distance away.

Weslock conceded the birdie to the Calgarian.

In the morning round Silverberg defeated Keith Rever of Regina 2 and 1.

"I have been playing well," said the 29-year-old Silverberg, "and when I started the afternoon round against Nick I felt confident but tried not to feel two confident."

Weslock came out of his morning round with a 3-and-2 win over Cowan in a much-heralded match.

The hole went as halved in birdie fours — "a gentleman's half" if the match ends on the last hole.

Weslock's win over Cown earlier was 3 and 2.

Out of Thursday's two rounds only one former champion emerged to continue. He is Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., winner in 1955. Six started in the tournament — four Canadians, including Cowan, and two Americans.

Cherry Thursday defeated Steve Pipoly of Canfield, Ohio, in the morning and eliminated Richard Siderowf of Newington, Conn., 2 and 1 in the third round as rain fell intermittently over the Sunningdale Course and darkness neared.
