TEA! TEA!

ALMOST EVERYONE WANTS GOOD TEA, and they also want to know where they can depend on getting it good.
We believe that if we get a man or woman's trade for Tea, we will sell them their other groceries as well; and with that end in view we endeavor to keep the standard of our Teas up, and give the best possible value for the money.

We don't import any cheap, low-grade, trashy Teas, as it don't pay to sell them at any price.

Our 24-cent and 28-cent Teas are giving excellent satisfaction this season, and we believe them to be equal, if not superior, to anything on the Island for the same money.

We have also two very fine blended Teas at 32 and 40 cents per pound, which are excellent value.

Reductions made according to quantity bought.

KEROSENE OIL.

We keep nothing but the best AMERICAN WATER-WHITE KEROSENE OIL, which we sell in Tins cheaper

THE SLOW POISONING CASE.

Investigation Postponed until Tuesday next.

A LARGE and interested audience was present in the Courtroom this forenoon.
The fair prisoner was in attendance, though evidently very unwell; and the Counsel in the case were all there. But the investigation was further postponed until Tuesday next on account of the illness of Dr.
Johnson. The Doctor has neuralgia.

Bail was renewed by the same persons for the same amounts, and Mrs. Weeks was again permitted to go to her home.

In Memoriam.

It is with sorrow we have to record the death of Donald McLeod, Esq., who departed this life on Monday morning, the 3rd inst., at the mature age of 88 years. He was a native of Invernesshire, Scotland, and emigrated to this Island about 50 years ago, and settled on a farm in the district in which he died. His kindness, integrity, and cheerfulness gained for him the love and respect of all his neighbors and acquaintances. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church, but of late years was unable to attend the public worship of the sanctuary. Prepared for the end, resting on the finished work of Christ Jesus, he departed this life to be with Christ forever. He leaves a sorrowing widow and three sons to mourn the loss of a kind and loving husband and father, but their loss is his eternal gain.—Com.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

On the Right Side.

SIR,—I notice in last evening's EXAMINER from your Ottawa correspondent the following: "Knowing that all the Orangemen on the Island are allied with the Reform Party," etc. I am very much afraid that "W. C. D." is dipping into something about which he does not appear to have any knowledge.

As a member of the Order, I may state for the information of our friend that the majority of the members of St. George's Lodge, of this city, are Conservatives, and, if you include the whole Island, the result is not as given by your correspondent, nearly all reformers, but, on the contrary, pretty evenly balanced.

ST. GEORGE'S LODGE.

Foolish Litigation.

SIR,—The utter folly of going to law and spending large sums of money over 18 inches of land, as instanced in the Johns-ton's River farm in THE EXAMINER of the 16th ult., must be patent to every sensible man. The case, however, is not without a parallel, and although slight the cause, slighter still have engaged the wisdom of our courts. I shall mention but one. A farmer in repairing his line fence cut the tops of a few small trees growing up in the line, and forthwith his neighbor has, or fancies, he has a case of trespass.
Some two years have passed since venerable judges have honored this "bauble" with their solemn deliberations, and already large expenses have been incurred by both parties. In the meantime, the trees—the better of having been trimmed—have so grown and flourished that almost all traces of the original cause of litigation have been obliterated. It is thus nature makes use of the cloak of charity. It would be well if Christian men would imitate her in this respect by not only forgetting their little wounds, but even so covering the impression themselves as to almost conceal them.

It is to be regretted that men are so blinded by passion as to heedlessly plunge into expensive lawsuits over mere trifles; but what are we to think of the legal advisers who encourage them? I have no desire or intention to cast reflections on the honored profession of the law, but I cannot forbear thinking that an honest, upright lawyer could do much, if he so willed, to avert ruin from the door of the misguided farmer who seeks his direction.

A few days in court, however, and the "bauble bursts." The "scales" fall from the deluded man's eyes when he sees the price of his hard labor transferred to the pockets of his lawyers, or quietly absorbed by the court. As he quits the scene of his discomfiture a poorer, if not a wiser man, a thought still remains from which he may derive some solace. It is that he has victicated the character of "plucky" ascribed to him by his astute adviser.

DAN MCGINTY.

Queen's County.

A REMARKABLE CAREER.—The annals of crime do not contain anything much more remarkable than the story of a woman who has spent twenty-two years of her life in English prisons for theft, the sum total of which do not amount to more than two dollars and a half, or twelve and a half cents per annum during the time she has been deprived of her liberty. Thirty years ago, when a child, she was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for stealing a few cents worth of butter. Shortly after her release she was again arrested, and this time was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment for a similar offence. On her release she was again arrested, and this time got seven years with hard labor for taking a small quantity of butcher's meat. That term expired, and a third term of seven years was inflicted for stealing a duckling.

To BEAT NELLIE BLY.—The New York Press says that Mr. L. O. Armstrong, of Montreal, who is now in New York contemplating a trip around the world, and is ready to wager that he can accomplish it in sixty-five days.
Mr. Armstrong proposes to take the Canadian Pacific railway to Vancouver, thence to Yokohama and from there to New York. W. C.
Van Horne, president of the Canadian Pacific, is said to be ready to back Armstrong.

[Written for The Examiner.] A Dream of Home.

The cottage stands just where it stood,
The trees are fallen round the door,
My friends they meet me, kind and good,
As they had done three years before;
And yet I feel—I know not why—
And yet the tear comes to my mine eye, I know that thou art better far Beyond the shade, beyond the shine; I know that thou dwellest in yon star,
The morning star of love divine.

New London Notes.

On the evening of the 30th December last, a number of the leading horsemen of New London and vicinity presented Mr. Robert Fitzsimmons with a beautiful set of track harness and an address, showing their appreciation of the valuable services rendered in establishing, by his careful and intelligent breeding, a family of horses second to none in the Maritime Provinces, and placing their services so low that a' could reach them, while more than twice the amount is charged for inferior horses.
After speaking of the great opposition Mr.
Fitzsimmons had to contend with through the combined efforts of newspapers and interested horseowners, and that though he stood alone he had achieved greater success than ever fell to the lot of any other individual in the history of our Island, the address went on to say: "It is not our intention to enumerate the many victories on the turf of this noted family, or even mention the inestimable advantages P. E. I. has derived from your valuable horses.
But we cannot omit speaking of that last and brilliant victory at Charlottetown last October, when the best three-year-olds in the provinces were to start—when the honor of our Island horses was at stake—it afforded us very much pleasure to witness the gallant victory of your game filly, Island-bred to the fourth generation. She not only easily defeated all competitors, but made the best three-year-old record ever made in the provinces." After offering their congratulations and asking him to accept the gift, not judging it by its intrinsic value but as an evidence of their esteem, they concluded by wishing him many, many victories and blessings.

Mr. Fitzsimmons said they had taken him so much by surprise that he feared he could not find words sufficient to express his gratefulness. He thanked them in a two-fold manner, first for his country and secondly for himself. He said that until lately an Island bred horse however great, received so little encouragement to what the imported ones did (that was no better perhaps far inferior) that he often thought of the proverb: "A man may be a Prophet anywhere save in his own country," but he was happy to stand contradicted by tonight's proceedings.

This should encourage others as well as himself to greater effort in keeping up the name of our Island horses. He said though the means taken by some to injure his horses were very unjust, still, they did him some good, for were he left to himself he would scarcely ever leave his farm-work long enough to prove the speed of his horses. It also proved their greatness, for no one ever went to such trouble to cry down horses of no merit. The only injury they did him was in keeping away the best blooded mares. In this they lost no opportunity, for they knew the success of any stallion depends greatly on the kind of mares he was matched with, and that the horse that produced so many fast trots from draft mares could not be kept down under more favorable circumstances. But the hounding down of great horses can only last for a time. People begin to see for themselves true merit will assert itself, "and the fittest will survive."

He was glad to find that his horses had done for the country all he had advertised them to do. Mr. Fitzsimmons concluded by wishing that each and every one of them might drive faster horses than he had yet driven."

In the meantime Mrs. Fitzsimmons, who is always ready for emergencies, had some fine turkeys and other good things served up in her usual good style, to which it is needless to say the party did ample justice.

After spending a sociable evening the visitors wended their way to their respective homes.

Stop That Cough

Many people neglect what they call a simple cold, which, if not checked in time, my lead to lung trouble. Scott's Emulsion Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, will not only stop the cough but heal the lungs. Endorsed by thousands of Physicians. Palatable as milk. Try it. Sold by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

MARDI GRAS.—The Mardi Gras entertainment at Bloomfield parish this year took the shape of a musical and dramatic soiree, held in St. Anthony's Hall. The whole parish attended, as well as the parish priest of Alberton and some other friends from neighboring sections. The programme was an excellent one. A French drama, "Le Pater," a work of great merit recently played in Paris, was the piece de resistance. Mr. Brennan, of Coleman, read an interesting paper on Richard the Lionhearted. The solos and choruses were splendently rendered. Mr. F. Peters was musical director and Miss Gaudet organist.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs.
Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. Jan 7 '90.
