Role Of SC In Quebec Vote Remains As Question Mark

By GUY RONDEAU

QUEBEC (CP)—The role of the Social Credit party in November's provincial general election remains a question mark to observers in the provincial capital.

At a recent caucus in Trois-Rivieres, Que., federal party members decided to stay out of Quebec politics "for the time being." In addition, the Quebec Social Credit leader, Real Caouette, has declared in no uncertain terms that the party will not participate officially in Quebec elections.

It would appear, however, that all party members do not share this view.

Dissident elements, led by Fernand Ouellette, are exerting pressure on party members to take part in the election. Mr. Ouellette was chief organizer of Social Credit's triumph in the June federal election—26 of Quebec's 75 federal seats.

Dr. Guy Marcoux, elected to the House of Commons in Quebec Montmorency and already appointed party whip, admitted Friday he has been under some pressure to accept the leadership of a provincial Social Credit party. He declined to say whether he would accept.

PLAN CAUCUS

The insistence of members and organizers in Quebec apparently was behind the party's decision to hold a second caucus in Ottawa Tuesday.

Mr. Caouette, reached by telephone at his home in Rouyn, Que., confirmed that he will "fight to the last" to keep his party out of the provincial election.

"I am dead set against it and the whole thing will be settled at Tuesday's caucus," he said.

Meanwhile, it was rumored that Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Trois-Rivieres might accept the leadership of a provincial Social Credit wing. He said he would have a statement to make within a week or two.

WAS LIBERAL

Mr. Mongrain, defeated as Liberal candidate for Champlain riding in the June, 1960, provincial election, is known to be opposed to the expropriation of Quebec's privately - owned electricity companies, main plank in the Liberal government's current campaign platform.

In Ottawa, a Social Credit source said the Quebec situation would be studied at a meeting between Mr. Caouette and Dr. Marcoux within the next few days.

Dr. Marcoux, however, said no one had informed him there was to be such a meeting and Social Credit party headquarters here said Mr. Caouette does not plan to visit Quebec in the immediate future.

The Ottawa source said the men would discuss two key points. One was whether Mr. Caouette wanted to leave the federal field and lead Social Credit provincially. The other was whether Mr. Caouette, if he chose to remain in federal politics, would endorse Dr. Marcoux as leader.

This deal occurred in a duplicate pair tournament played in Los Angeles a few years ago. The hand was played at many tables, of course, but our story concerns itself only with the table at which Mrs. Kelsey Petterson, West Coast star, held the South cards.

When she first looked at her remarkable hand, Mrs. Petterson began to wonder whether or not it would be better to open the bidding with two spades or two clubs — when it came her turn to bid. A good case can be made for either call, and, no doubt, many players would differ as to the proper opening bid.

However, the problem became entirely academic when Mrs. Petterson heard the player on her right open the bidding with seven diamonds!

Undaunted by this development, Mrs. Petterson promptly overcalled with seven spades. East doubled, largely as a matter of pride, and play commenced.

West led the jack of hearts, but there was nothing much to the play. Mrs. Petterson ruffed the heart and drew four rounds of trumps, the jack obligingly marking its appearance on the second round.

When she then cashed the A-K of clubs, the queen fortunately dropped on the second lead, and Mrs. Petterson was then able to claim the rest of the tricks without bothering to play the hand out. So the outcome was that she made seven spades doubled for an excellent score.

East-West were nonplussed by the result. They knew the hand would turn out badly for them, particularly since East had chosen to double the grand slam. North-South had achieved an optimum result that was not likely to be duplicated often at the other tables.

As the East-West pair were disconsolately putting their hands back in the duplicate board, Mrs. Petterson turned to her right -hand opponent and asked, "May I please see what an opening seven diamond bid looks like?"

"I opened the bidding with one diamond," East sadly replied!

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
