MONTAGUE LEGION ELECTS EXECUTIVE

Education Minister Urges Recognition Of Red China

HON. L.G. DEWAR

Hon. L.G. Dewar, MD, provincial minister of education was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of Rotary, held in the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday.

Dr. Dewar told of his travel to Malaysia where he took part in the conference of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association as the official representative of Prince Edward Island.

The trip to Kuala Lumpur, which is half way around the world was made entirely by air and on the trip out was broken by stop-over calls at London, Beirut and Ceylon. The return trip was a continuation around the world with stop-overs in Honolulu, Japan and Hong Kong.

The association sessions were held in the new government building at Kuala Lumpur, the centre of a federation of 14 states. The conference dealt with many subjects, one of the chief being education with special reference to scholarships and other assistance to the populace involed in the Commonwealth, where black, white or brown color is no barrier.

Dr. Dewar was surprised and pleased to note that the entire membership in the associations spoke English as an accepted medium of world-wide discussions, with clarity and ease.

Describing the people of Malaysia, the speaker said he found them very interesting and composed of 40 per cent Malaysian, 40 per cent Chinese, ten per cent Indian and the balance British.

They are hospitable, brilliant and very pleasant. The ladies were glamorous and beautiful in the multi-coloured costumes peculiar to their racial origin", the speaker stated.

While the Malaysians control the government, the Chinese are very clever and control the industries. The Indians are not as ambitious as others and apparently are engaged in more menial jobs," he said.

LAND DEVELOPMENT

After visiting a large rubber plantation, Dr. Dewar was shown land developments which are being rapidly picked up by eager farmers. Some of these concessions of only eight acres make life possible for families while two acres of land devoted to raising rice in the most primitive way, all by hand and in water up to the knees indicate a most difficult way of life for many families.

"Fruit, rice, rubber and tin are staple products, with tin production rated as the highest in the world", the speaker said.

"I attended church services in Presbyterian and Roman Catholic Churches, Buddhist temple, Chinese temple, Shinto shrine and Islam mosque. All classes and creeds appear to be very devout. There is no intolerance. Twice as many converts accept Mohammedism as Christianity in Africa," Dr. Dewar stated.

"Great progress is being made in universities and schools in Malaysia with all key positions being held by British people. When asked about this, the local people said The British have the ability, capital and know-how.

SEA OF UNREST

"The whole set-up is a political island of democracy set in a vast sea of unrest of 100,000,000 people. India with 400,000,000 and China 700,000,000 makes for unrest. The United States, particularly, and other nations, are wrong in not recognizing China where great progress is being made. Russia is definitely becoming fearful of this development.

"Japan is going ahead in leaps and bounds with 100,000,000 industrious people, headed by Tokyo with more than 10,000,000 population, the largest city in the world", Dr. Dewar said.

"The last ten years has no counterpart in the history of the world", the speaker stated, "with half of the people in the world in South East Asia striving to get ahead.

GOOD MARKET

"Japan is the greatest industrial centre and should present a wonderful market for Canadian wheat and agricultural products. Our aim should be to promote agriculture rather than compete in manufacturing," Dr. Dewar stated.

Introduced by chairman, Lockery MacKay, the speaker was thanked by co-chairman, Edwin Johnstone.

Dr. Dewar was born at New Perth, educated at local schools and later at Prince of Wales College, Dalhousie University and the University of Toronto. He has been minister of education since 1959.

SWEDISH CLUBS

Gordon Avard, international contacts chairman and his associate Edwin Johnstone each read highly interesting and informative letters from Rotary Clubs in Sweden with which extra cordial relations have been established at the instance of Rotary International.

President W.R. Jenkins and youth committee chairman, W. J. Hancox made an appeal for a large representation of club members at the Sanatorium Christmas festivities Tuesday night in support of Santa Claus on his annual rounds.

Guests of Rotary were Hon. M. Alban Farmer, David Boswell and Lincoln Dewar, all of Charlottetown.

Montague CGIT Holds Vespers

MONTAGUE — The annual Christmas vesper service of Aketa CGIT groups was held in Trinity United Church, Montague, Sunday evening. The girls with their leader, Mrs. Russell Burns entered the church singing the processional hymn "O Come All Ye Faithful".

Judy Dewar led in the order of service. The scripture lessons were read by Nancy Clarey and Sandra Shaw and prayers were offered by Jeanne MacLeod.

The choir which was made up of CGIT sang as an anthem "What Child is This?" and a quartet "O Holy Night" was sung by Jeanne Ings, Anne Shaw, Joan Coffin and Faye Fraser.

A Christmas meditation was effectively read by Susan Nicholson.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by Carolyn Campbell, Ruth Annear and Betty Haneveld.

Karen White and Anne Fraser were ushers and the offering was received by Myrna Graham and Edith Clarey.

The organist was Mrs. Lloyd Fraser who is associated with Mrs. Burns in the activities of this group.

The benediction by Rev. Russell Burns was followed by the recessional hymn "Silent Night".

An arrangement of lighted candles and a beautiful decorated tree made a lovely setting for this impressive service.

Dundas Cheese Plant Reopens Temporarily

By NEIL MATHESON
Provincial and Farm Editor

The Morell Creamery Co-operative starts making cheese today in the renovated plant at Dundas. The association has been manufacturing butter since Dec. 9 in a plant they have set up at Red Head wharf, just back of Morell.

The association expects to have its new and completely modern creamery and cheese making plant open for business at Morell by the last of March, Manager Reg McAdam told The Guardian last night.

All of the foundation work has been completed, they are waiting now on steel. And plywood that has been used already for concrete forms, will be used to enclose the 93 by 110 foot building as soon as the steel has been erected. That will enable the work to be carried on through the cold weather.

The concrete block part of the building will be erected inside of the plywood shelter, and the insulation and the outer surface of brick will be added when the warmer weather of spring arrives, Mr. McAdam explained.

A new and completely modern DeLaval churn has been installed in a building at the wharf and it is handling 5,000 to 6,000 pounds of cream per day.

Cheese has been manufactured at Fort Augustus since fire destroyed the plant earlier this year, but the operation is now being shifted to Dundas. Approximately 6,000 pounds of milk is being handled daily. The cheese making part of the operation was only started this year, and the plant had been handling 9,000 pounds of milk daily at the summer production peak.

The most modern cheese and butter making equipment has been ordered for the new plant and this part of the installation will cost approximately $125,000, Mr. McAdam said.

"We're going to have a beautiful plant as well as an efficient one," Mr. McAdam said. The entire butter and cheese making operations can be seen from the manager's office, he instanced.

AUBREY F. BROWN

Retired Stamp Vendor Dies At 91

Aubrey F. Brown, 168 Dorchester Street, well remembered stamp vendor at the former Charlottetown Post Office before his retirement in 1954, died yesterday at the age of 91.

On his retirement from the post office in 1954, Mr. Brown had completed 54 years of public service as stamp vendor. It was a record of longest service as a stamp vendor in Canada.

Queen Victoria was still on her throne when he started work at the wicket and he served under five sovereigns.

Mr. Brown won many friends with his happy and willing manner.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Cutcliffe Funeral Home.

He is survived by his wife Gertrude MacLeod of Stanley Bridge, and a son, Edgar of Summerside.
