HAPPENINGS

The pinnacle of success for any artist in Great Britain or Europe is to perform before Royalty and after the performance to be received by them. Such a great honor has recently come to David Atkinson, the Canadian singer with much Prince Edward Island blood in his veins.

Mr. Atkinson has the lead in Carousell which is playing at the Brussels World Fair. He was given a great welcome at the opening night and between the acts the young King of the Belgians sent for him and his wife and received them in the Royal box and congratulated him on having such a beautiful voice.

Mr. Atkinson returned to New York some few days ago and is now singing at a festival in Salt Lake City. He had planned to visit his uncle, Captain Maurice Burke of Victoria, Prince Edward Island, but owing to pressure of professional engagements the visit may have to be postponed.

Rev. John T. MacNeill and Mrs. MacNeill, Cambridge, U.S. Dr. William MacNeill, Chicago, Mrs. MacNeill and children, Mrs. James Carey and children and Mrs. Ian Campbell, Quebec and children have been guests of Dr. MacNeill's sister, Mrs. Albert Gorrill, O'Leary. After a wonderful family reunion the visitors left for their respective homes.

Rev. C.W. Passey and Mrs. Passey, Hazelbrook parsonage, have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacKay, Amherst, Nova Scotia.

Mrs. C.M. Crooks of Halifax will be a guest this weekend of Mrs. James Harris, 39 Villa, Charlottetown.

Miss Mary Beth Harris returned to Annapolis Royal having had three months leave of absence and holiday. Mary Beth and her mother have recently returned from a visit to Montreal and Ottawa. While away they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Cross, Baie D'Urfee, P.Q.

In September Miss Harris will leave Annapolis Royal where she has been attached to the regional library for the past two years. Miss Harris will be taking up another position.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dystant and their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. G. Huddle, Detroit, have been visiting on Prince Edward Island. While here they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Kennedy, Kensington, Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Mutch, Charlottetown, and also registered at the Charlottetown Hotel.

outstanding Salvationist, being a lieutenant colonel as well as her husband.

Mrs. Ursaki, the former, Miss Lula Lange was born in York South a great honor has recently come to David Atkinson, the Canadian singer with much Prince Edward Island blood in his veins.

Owing to her father's ill health the family moved to Charlottetown where Lula Lange attended Prince Street School. She had been brought up in the Methodist church but 52 years ago she September joined the Salvation Army and started at the Training College, Toronto.

Lieutenant Colonel Ursaki has had 46 active years of service in the Army. She and her husband retired five years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Ursaki have had a remarkable career. They both rose in the ranks to become divisional commanders. They have lived in every big city in Canada.

While divisional commanders in N.B., the work there being chiefly among young people, Lt. Col. Ursaki was army chaplain four years at Dorchester. He is now a very popular public speaker, being in demand by all the large service clubs in Ontario. These he holds spellbound with his wealth of human experiences. Mrs. Ursaki is still imbued with the work and these wonderful characters although officially retired still carry on the work of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Ursaki also had the interesting information that she had worked at the Guardian Office 54 years ago and that she had also been employed by the Patriot.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Johnston and their son, Eddie, of Dorchester, Mass., are spending a pleasant holiday visiting relatives and friends on Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Johnston is a valued employee of S. S. Pierce's store in Boston. While here they are the house guests of Mrs. Johnston's sister, Mrs. M.J. McManus, 83 Upper Queen Street, Charlottetown.

Cheese Needs Addition Of Other Food For Bulk

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Cheese is a very nutritious protein," I understand," observed the Chef.

"Yes," I replied. "A pound of cheese supplies as much protein as two pounds of lean beef, yet it costs about half as much."

"But Madame, what man would be pleased to see a skimpy-looking quarter-pound piece of cheese on his plate instead of a big, broiled chopped beef patty?"

He would prefer the meat every time.

"LOOKS BIGGER"

"The cheese, of course, contains as much protein as the meat, but the meat patty looks much bigger."

"With that phrase 'the meat looks bigger,' Chef, you've given the real reason why cheese is not more often used as a main protein food here in North America. "Cheese is so concentrated that it contains no connective tissue, no fibre, no waste. It is all nourishment."

"To make it look as generously nourishing as it really is, cheese should be combined or served with enough bulky food to fill the stomach and so satisfy hunger."

SUCCESSFUL DINNER

"Such as our new savory cheese loaf with a tossed spring salad!" exclaimed the Chef.

"Precede this with bowlsful of our barbecued bean special, Madame, and end dinner with a deep-baked caramel custard, and the meal will be a grand success!"

All measurements are level.

Savory Cheese Loaf: In 1 loaf of French bread, make diagonal cuts about every 1 1/2 in., cutting almost to the bottom. Mix 1-3 c. butter with 4 chopped medium scallions, 3 tsp. coarse-ground poppy seeds, and 3 tbsp. table mustard. Spread all but 2 tbsp. between the cuts.

Thin - slice 1-2 lb. Cheddar cheese. Use to fill the cuts in the bread. Spread the outside of the loaf with the reserved butter mixture.

Bake 15 min. in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., or until the cheese melts and the loaf browns.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Barbecued beans in bowls, savory cheese loaf, olives, salad of spinach-lettuce-tomato - radish baked deep caramel custard, hot or iced coffee or tea, milk.

Barbecued Beans in Bowls: Pre-cook 1 lb. dried red kidney beans as directed on the pkg., or use 3 (1lb) cans cooked kidney beans. Fine-chop 1 peeled large onion and 1 peeled section garlic. Sauté in 3 tsp. oil until limp. Add 2 (8 oz) cans seasoned tomato sauce, 1 tsp. cider vinegar, 1 tsp. chili powder and 1/2 tsp. cayenne together with bean liquid and water to half-cover.

Simmer 45 min. Garnish with minced parsley.

Suggestions of the Chef

Present caramel custard ice cold, with a sauce made by combining 1-2 c. sifted canned raspberries and juice with 1-2 c. melt currant jelly.

Victoria Brownie Pack Entertain At Tea-Party

The Brownie Pack of Victoria seems by now to be firmly established in the affections of the entire community, and this was demonstrated in no uncertain manner when the very junior members of the Girl Guide movement entertained their numerous friends in the Women's Institute Hall on July 3rd.

Everyone in the viallage and many from the surrounding district crowded the hall to give support to the little folk who eventually will become leading members in the Girl Guide movement.

During the tea-hour the young hostesses served their guests with cakes and tea while Brownies Lillian Lea, Connie Boulter and Elizabeth Ferguson played piano selections.

Those serving were Eileen and Sandra Craig, Diana Miller, Janet Keough, Cheryl Butterfield and Shirley Boulter.

Mrs. Donald MacLeod very kindly supervised the arrangement of the floral decorations all of which gave a fitting background for the members of the Pack in their chic brown uniforms. At the conclusion of the tea-party congratulations were extended to Mrs. Richard MacQuarrie for her initiative and resourcefulness in bringing the work of the Pack to such a high

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Don't risk bending the clasp on a decorative pin by trying to pin it over a button. If you want it placed where the button is, pin it alongside the buttonhole before you button the garment.

To keep your jewelry sparkling wash it occasionally with warm water and soap or detergent.

Include your wall can-opener in your dishwashing routine. Often forgotten, it can harbor bacteria.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM M. RUSS Former Ch'town Girl Weds In Hamilton, Ont.

St. Patrick's Church, Hamilton, Ontario, was the scene of a very pretty summer wedding on June 7th at 10 o'clock when Gertrude Dorothy, daughter of Mrs. Spencer and the late Alexander Spencer, became the bride of William Michael son of Mr. and Mrs. William Russ of Hamilton, Ont.

Rev. Father Flaherty performed and celebrated the Nuptial Mass. The church was attractively decorated with summer flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother Robert, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march. The Ave Maria was also beautifully sung during the ceremony.

The bride looked winsome in a floor-length gown of nylon lace over taffeta with long fitted sleeves forming points over the hands. She wore a finger-tip illusion veil of forget-me-nots and carried a mother of pearl missal with streamers of white orchids and pink rose-buds.

She was attended by her friend Agnes Duggan, as bridesmaid, who wore an aqua taffeta gown with matching hat and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Mr. Daniel Russ, brother of the groom acted as best man. The bride's mother chose a two piece navy linen dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The groom's mother also chose a navy linen dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Emerald Main dining room for fifty guests. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake. The toast to the bride was proposed by Daniel Russ and fittingly responded to by the groom.

Amid the well wishes of family and friends the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip through Northern Ontario. The bride chose for travelling a blue nylon dress with navy duster and white accessories. With this she wore a white orchid.

The groom is with the Royal Canadian Army in Ladner, B.C. where the happy couple will reside.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Doug Smith Detroit, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spencer and Mrs. John Stanley of Charlottetown, P.E.I.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Piglets Drew Crowds - More Than Giant Sputnik

In the front meadow, sweetened now by the low-growing white clover, a cow with the sheen of summer on her coat moved along leisurely this afternoon, making her way toward the millstream below. Her calf, a stocky lad in attendance, now following demurely at her heels then scouting playfully beside. Suddenly he paced to the mother who at once stopped in her path. And then a young meal was in progress.

"There's a pretty picture," we nodded to the visitor with whom we chatted on the shaded front veranda.

She chuckled. "I was wondering if you were noticing! Mother Nature is a grand old lady, isn't she?" she offered. "What lovely pictures she gives us to enjoy, particularly in summer."

"Do you know what I saw the other evening?" she queried, smiling at the memory. "I had herded the cows back to pasture and stopped a few minutes to pick some wild strawberries. I happened to see there. It's a quiet field that, and so peaceful back there. I don't know what made me look up from my picking...perhaps it was too still, but when I did, my heart skipped a beat!"

"There not too far away from me, a mother-skunk-a-polecat! Granny always called them! - was strolling casually by with five of the cutest little polecats I ever saw. Yes, striped," and she giggled "no doubt ready to defend themselves too! But it was the prettiest picture I had seen for many a day...with the summer flowering about them."

"And one evening of the haying last summer," we remembered "Just at first dusk it was, when we stopped at a gate back in a field by the stream to "listen" to the silence about, a mother wild duck and her family passed so near, we could have picked up one of the small ones. What a fetching picture too they made, off to some nest in the twilight!"

Now the cow was in the stream head bowed drinking, the calf lingering in the grasses beside. And now nearer us, behind the orchard-pickets, a company of expectant sows roused from their napping in the shade and moved again to their pasturing.

"James was reading at noon" we commented "that two little piglets proved to be the star attraction of the United States Exhibit at a recent Trade Fair in Poland. Thousands watched one litter enjoying a meal at a new-style mechanical feeder, and the other nursing at its mother's broad 'bummum' we chuckled. "And at times," we news' item said, the piglets drew bigger crowds than the giant Sputniks in the rival Russian Pavilion."

"I can understand that" the visitor nodded. "It takes Nature to paint the most attractive scenes."

A hundred pictures... enchanting things, these July days of offer to those with "eyes to see" to have and to hold forever.

Until tomorrow - - - Diary Good-night.
