TROTTERS AND PACERS.

Onoqua recently trotted a quarter in 51 seconds.

Rect, by Direct, 2:05½, is reported to be able to pace close to 2:10.

Horses suitable for cavalry purposes are being sold now in California for $150.

Beuzetta's first fast work for this season was given her by Trainer Hickok at Cleveland recently.

Barometer, by Baron Wilkes, now in John Splan's stable, is said to be one of the fastest green trotters in the country.

Monroe Salisbury says that Lady Salisbury, a 3-year-old chestnut filly by Directum, 2:05½, is the best trotter living.

Freeland, the bay gelding by Alfonso, won a matinee race to wagon at Cleveland recently, trotting the last mile in 2:19.

Joe Thayer, the Kentucky horseman, is said to have a sensational colt in the 2-year-old pacer Billy Andrews, by Bow Bella.

Trainer Bert Van Evert, at Mt. Sterling, Ky., recently drove the bay mare Zelica, 2:19¼, by Recorder, a mile in 2:13½.

The Vermont mare Mabel W, 2:17, is not on a ringing tour, as reported, but is in the stable of R. Wesley, at Scranton, Pa.

It is probable that Ananias, 2:12, by Patron, will make his first start for this season at the Cleveland grand circuit meeting.

Clinton H. Briggs, proprietor of the Alma Mater stock farm, at Omaha, has employed Dick Tilden to campaign a select lot from his farm.

Thirty-five head of horses are in training at Marchmont, near Paris, Ky., in the hands of Douglas Thomas, John P. Hughes and Ed Bedford.

Mr. W. R. Brasfield of Lexington recently drove Isaac, with a pacing record of 2:25½, a mile in 2:24 at the trotting gait.—Turf, Field and Farm.

Horsemen in the vicinity of Downingtown, Pa., have organized a driving association and secured the Gardner track, where a meeting will be held the latter part of this month.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Chemisettes and fronts of thin fabrics and lace are worn with nearly all dressy costumes.

Young girls are wearing wreaths of flowers around their heads at parties and entertainments.

Tam O'Shanter hats of the finest straw are trimmed with rosettes of black velvet and a couple of black quills.

Among the important revivals for dress is grosgrain silk, which is to be one of the popular fabrics of the season.

There are but few women to whom bright red is becoming, but for those whom it suits it is the perfection of shade.

The effort to broaden the shoulders is evident in the straight out epaulets, cape shaped frills and outstanding shoulder puffs.

Crape dresses are very fashionable and are thought extremely elegant, especially in the finest grades of Japanese and China crapes.

Among the new garnitures are pattern sets of collar cuffs, ruffs and the like of white kid elaborately wrought with colored beads and metal threads.

Shoulder capes in the extreme summer styles are little more than very wide, fluffy collars. They are made of lace or other thin or semitransparent summer materials and elaborately trimmed with jet and edging.

The velvet costume is much liked, and most well dressed women like to own one. To be in most perfect style it is made up with satin collar, cuffs, revers and sometimes there is an extra vest with a turned over collar.

A stylish costume of black Japanese crape has a plain skirt with shirred flounces covering the lower half of the skirt. The waist is gathered full and drawn down at the back to the waist line. The front is loose on either side of a drooping vest of fancy material which is tucked inside of a folded belt.—New York Ledger.

STAGE GLINTS.

"Johannes" is the title of Sudermann's latest play.

Glen McDonough's new farce is entitled "The Marquise Michigan."

Mabel Amber will play next season the lead in "The Wandering Minstrel."

Otis Skinner has finished a new play on a French theme, in the Directoire period.

Amelia Summerville has been engaged by Augustus Pitou for "Cumberland '61."

In her 29 years of busy stage life Sarah Bernhardt has played 112 roles, of which she created 38.

John and Emma Ray are to have a farce comedy next season with the warm title "A Hot Old Time."

John E. Keller has been engaged by Augustus Pitou to originate the leading role in "Cumberland '61."

"Social Aristocrats" is the title of a new play by Arno Holz, which will soon be performed at Berlin.

Marie Vallean has been engaged to take Caroline Miskell Hoyt's place in "A Contented Woman" next season.

Gustave Walters of the San Francisco Orpheus has leased the American theater in New York for vaudeville purposes.

Thomas Whiffen has recovered from his attack of typhoid fever and has sailed for Europe, to be gone until September.

William H. Crane may be seen almost any day enjoying life on his swift steam yacht the Senator between Boston and Cobasset.

CONCERT AND PIE SOCIAL

A concert and pie social was held in North Lake hall last week under the auspices of the Eastern Gem Lodge, I. O. G. T., for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of an organ.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the hall was crowded with people anxious to hear the entertainment provided by some of the foremost talent of this community, ably supplemented by friends from Souris and Charlottetown, and to taste the excellent pies furnished by the ladies. By request of the committee on arrangements, Mr. A. F. Rose occupied the chair and the following programme was well carried out:

Remarks..... Chairman.
Chorus..... Wayside Inn Glee Club.
Recitation..... The Unsuccessful Plan Miss Josephine Barrett.
Vocal Solo..... (Selected) Miss McLean.
Declamation..... Mr. Potter Goes to a Temperance Meeting Mr. J. H. Baker.
Recitation..... The Ride of Jennie McNeill Mrs. Frank Heartz.
Quartet..... Misses McLean and McKie, Messrs. McMunnis and Morrow.
Recitation..... The Freckled Face Girl Miss Maud Morrow.
Vocal Solo..... Lover's Sorrow Miss Lottie McWade.
Dialogue..... A Beer Drinker's Courtship Messrs. Dingwell, W. and E. Fraser, Miss Baker.
Recitation..... A Baby's Lament Little Miss Hughes.
Chorus..... Wayside Inn Glee Club.

The applause following each part was so prolonged that several of the actors had to reappear to quiet the tumult.

All did so well, however that we will not make special mention of any, as this would be casting a shadow on some other actor, equally good.

The pies were next auctioned by the Chairman in his usual able manner, and brought splendid prices. When the merits of these had been discussed the entertainment was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem, and all went home at a late hour well satisfied with the evening's entertainment, and fully determined to come again should the opportunity present itself. The handsome sum of $40 was realized. The Eastern Gem Lodge in its next regular session tendered a vote of thanks to the ladies from Charlottetown and Souris, and to Mr. McInnis of Lakeville for their generous assistance.—Cox.
