THE SIGN OF THE FOUR

BY A. COSAN DOYLE.

"But what a strange compensation! And how strangely made! Why, then, should I write a letter now, rather than six years ago? Again, the letter should be given to my father. What justice can she have? It is too much to suppose that her father is still alive. There is no other justice in her case that you know of."

"There are difficulties; there are certainly difficulties," said Sherlock Holmes, positively. "But our expedition to the north will solve them all. Ah, here is a four-wheeler, and Miss Morstan is inside. Are you all ready? Then we had better go down, for it is a little past twelve."

"I picked up my hat and my heaviest stick, but I observed that Holmes took his revolver from his drawer and slipped it into his pocket. It was curious, but I thought our night's work might be a serious one."

"Miss Morstan was muffled in a dark cloak, and her sensitive face was completely pale. She must have been more than woman if she did not feel some uneasiness at the strange enterprise upon which we were about to start."

"I do not see that this bears upon the matter," yet it is clearly a document of importance. It has been kept carefully in a pocket-book; for the one side is as clean as the other. It is written in very rough and coarse handwriting. The sign of the four is a diamond shape, like four crosses in a line with their arms touching. Beside it is written in small, round, and somewhat irregular characters, 'The Sign of the Four'.

"Preserve it carefully, then, Miss Morstan, for it may prove to be of use to us. It is a document of importance, and more so than I at first supposed. I must reconsider my advice. It is a document of importance, and more so than I at first supposed. I must reconsider my advice. It is a document of importance, and more so than I at first supposed. I must reconsider my advice."

"I am Miss Morstan, and these two gentlemen are my friends," said she. He bent a pair of wonderfully penetrating and questioning eyes upon us. "You will excuse me, miss," he said, with a certain dogged manner, "but I was to ask you to give me your word that neither of your companions is a police officer."

"I give you my word on that," she answered. He gave a shrill whistle, on which a street Arab led across a four-wheeler, and opened the door. The man who had addressed us mounted to the box, while we took our seats inside. We had hardly done so before the driver whipped up his horse, and we plunged away at a furious pace through the foggy streets of London.

"The situation was a curious one. We were driving to an unknown place, on an unknown errand. Yet our invitation was either a complete hoax, or else we had good reason to think that important issues might hang upon our journey. Miss Morstan's demeanor was as resolute and collected as ever. I endeavored to cheer and amuse her by reminiscences of my adventures in Afghanistan; but, to tell the truth, I was myself so excited at our situation and so curious as to our destination that my stories were slightly involved. For this day's adventures that I told her moving anecdote as to how my musket looked into my tent at the dead of night, and how I fired a double-barreled tiger cub at it, I had some idea as to the direction in which we were driving; but soon, when our pace, the fog, and my own limited knowledge of London, I lost my bearings, and knew nothing save that we were in the middle of a very long way."

DIABETES CURABLE. Given Up to Die—Used Dodd's Kidney Pills and is Cured by Eight Boxes. KIDNEY (Special) Dec. 23. Mr. Duncan McKenzie, miller and lumberman of this place, had returned from Summerside, had failed in health and strength, had lost fifty pounds in weight, was given up by his physician as well as by specialists in Toronto, and by his friends. Now come a change. He says in a letter to Dodd's Kidney Pills: "After commencing with your Dodd's Kidney Pills, I got help in eight weeks. I took eight boxes, and a complete cure, not a symptom left, great health, weight. Has regained my old health and liver; both a complete cure, the diabetes, I can have vanished with knowledge of London. I lost my bearings, and knew nothing save that we were in the middle of a very long way."

If you have any lung trouble, if you are threatened with consumption, use not an hour in obtaining a supply of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It is the great blood maker, and blood is what is wanted by the consumptive. Struck a New Idea. The Bordeaux Claret Co. struck a new and fruitful idea when it conceived the notion of putting a cheap wine upon the market at prices which would bring it within the reach of all. For the long period the slow sale is not a good business as the small profit at the great sale, and $3 and $4 per dozen quart aparts to the whole people, whereas $8 for a wine not one whit better—if the goods—could only appeal to a section of the people. We upon the poor man's table; good, wholesome wine which will do him and his family good, at a little over the price of port beer. The famous Medice wine, so long and ornately sold over Canada, is sold by the Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital St., Montreal.

CHAPTER IV. THE STORY OF THE BALD-HEADED MAN. We followed the Indian down the sordid and common passage, ill lit and worse furnished, until he came to a door upon the right, which he threw open. A line of yellow light streamed out upon us, and in the center of the glare there stood a small man with a very high head, a bristle of red hair all round the fringe of it, and a bald shining scalp, which shot out from among it like a mountain peak from fir trees. He rubbed his hands together as he stood, and his features were in perpetual jerk, now smiling, now scowling, but never for an instant in repose. Nature had given him a pendulous lip, and a feeble line of yellow hair, and regular teeth, which he strove feebly to conceal by constantly passing his hand over the lower part of his face. In spite of his obvious baldness, he gave the impression of youth. In point of fact he had just turned his thirtieth year.

He was a suitor for her hand several years ago, but she fled from him, who stood for his interference by falling ill and dying after obtaining a promise from his wife and his son that they would kiss and make up.

Timely Warning.

The great success of the chocolate preparations of the house of Walter Baker & Co. (established in 1780) has led to the placing on the market many misleading and unscrupulous imitations of their name, labels, and wrappers. Walter Baker & Co. are the oldest and largest manufacturers of pure and high-grade Cocos and Chocolates on this continent. No chemicals are used in their manufactures. Consumers should ask for, and be sure that they get, the genuine Walter Baker & Co.'s goods.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons? Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed? Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its form, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense? Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose? Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest? Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Dr. H. H. Pitcher is on every wrapper. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.
