

AREN'T ONLY ONES IN SHAPE

Large coach Hampton Pool and army Williams try to pay attention to business, which is slightly difficult with distractions like ajorettes Mary Orbs and Ina McCormick beside them. The helms are currently rehearsing for the football season's all-time shows at Varsity Stadium in Toronto. Hamp has been a very busy man these days, having to date 11 "new" imports. Sam De Luca is the latest. Last year he was loaned to the Toronto club by the New York Giants. This season the tackle, who it seems prefers to play his football in Canada, will be the Scullers' property.

Vernon River Edges Montague

Vernon River shaded Montague 23-21 in a wide open football game in Vernon River yesterday. The game was loosely played by both teams but nevertheless it produced some smart plays. K. MacDonald went the distance for Montague and Dunn did the catching. Mc-

Another Aaron, and one who looks the part, has joined the Milwaukee Braves organization. Tommy, brother of Henry "Hank" Aaron has been assigned Eau Claire in the class C Northern league where brother Henry also got his start. Also like "Hank" the younger will begin his professional baseball career as a shortstop.

World Series heroes never got a bigger and better reception at the one given last week to Los Angeles Dodgers when they returned home from their recent road trip. Of course the Chavez avine was still two days away and the reception was a political move rather than honest-to-goodness welcome for the one-time heroes.

Several thousands fans turned out at the airport to greet, not league leaders but the occupants of the National League cellar. Even at the airport some engaged in pre-election campaigning.

It was really quite a show and it leaves one wondering what Los Angeles folks would do if the Dodgers really gave them something to be happy about. Placards were all over the place—Vote for Baseball! Two hands played. Vendors sold Dodger emblems. Players were introduced as they emerged from the plane. They were loud cheers for all but rookie Stan Williams at the greatest ovation. Stan had just pitched a two-hitter the day before, blanking the Chicago Cubs 1-0.

The arrival was covered by television. The coverage was part of a four hour "Dodgerthon" on which Hollywood celebrities and Los Angeles civic leaders appealed for a "yes" vote in the avine referendum. Joe E. Brown, Ronald Reagan, Debbie Reynolds, Dean Martin, Laraine Day, Danny Thomas, George Burns, ack Benny, Jerry Lewis, Ray Bolger and Jeff Chandler were Hollywood stars who urged the voters to say "yes".

Of course the star of the show was Dodgers' president, Walter "Malley puffing his big cigar. O'Malley told everyone how much he loves Los Angeles and how much big league ball means to the west coast city.

It was quite an affair—the kind you will never see a basement outfit like the Dodgers get again.

Just to prove that Los Angeles hasn't all the baseball enthusiasm on the west coast, San Francisco fans did something about homecoming of their Giants.

San Francisco's welcome had no political taint but Giants fans were on hand at the airport to welcome the leaders of the national league. Even the most optimistic San Francisco never expected such an occasion in this first year of big league ball in their city.

But here were the Giants home after a 21 day road trip that saw them win 13 out of those 21 games. Giants led the world champion Braves by one game at the end of that road trip and an Francisco felt that was real cause for some celebration. So about they did.

About 2,500 shouting placard-carrying fans and a band greeted the Giants and made them feel as if they had won a pennant.

"Nothing like this ever happened to us in New York" said manager Bill Rigney, obviously delighted as he watched from the cabin window of the Giants' chartered plane. "This is great."

The death of Pat O'Connor in last week's "500" caused much to be said and written.

Since the fatality we have argued that there is no necessity these happenings but we have quite the arguments on our minds.

We wholeheartedly agree with a letter sent to the sports editor of one of North America's leading dailies. Here it is:

Dear Sir: From the president of the United States to the cop in the village, everybody wants safety on the highways. Everybody preaches it—on billboards, in newspapers, on radio and TV. Why, then, do we allow slaughter on race tracks such as occurred at Indianapolis last Friday? What can make us safety conscious in a "sport that legalizes smashups and death? Your argument could be that these men know they take their lives in their hands when they qualify for a race like the "500" Or that they really contribute something in mechanical improvements that eventually find their way to our pleasure cars. I can't accept such reasons. It is plain slaughter and it hangs over every rack in the world. It is a miserable sport and I for one am eminently irate that it is permitted to continue. Adults criticize sen-agers to the hilt for their wildness but they do nothing about their own kind just as wild and crazy. Just look at the picture in your own paper today of 16 cars scattered all over the track after a smashup—and Pat O'Connor dead.

That's the letter and here's what the sports editor had to say in reply. "No argument from me, especially on the point that the big races, as proving grounds contribute something to automotive engineering. Every large manufacturer, with a new gadget or new mechanical principal, works it out on his own expensive proving grounds. The stomach curdling speeds of the speedway, among closely bunched cars, are not necessary at all to test out new innovations. And that these men know they take their lives in their hands can be little justification, either, for the chance they take".

To all of which we add our hearty agreement.

From now on if a pitcher intentionally tries to dust off a letter in the major leagues it will cost him $50.

If he continues, he will be ejected from the game and his name referred to the league president. The penalty of either a fine or suspension will be up to the president.

Presidents Will Harridge and Warren Giles of the American National League made the rule Friday to curb intentional dusting. The umpire will decide if such a pitch is deliberate.

The meeting between the two league presidents came about as a result of an outbreak of dusting recently in both major leagues.

Good Races Seen At Opening Meet

War Cry Ranger, a six year old gelding owned by Francis Breaux, Moncton and driven by Charlottetown's Joey Arsenault, paced the Charlottetown Driving Park oval in 2:12 Saturday night, the fastest mile this season on a Maritime track.

War Cry Ranger's performance came at the initial performance of the pacers and trotters for the 1958 season on the Charlottetown track. Next time out in the Junior Free for All's second dash the Moncton-owned horse had to settle for the runner-up position to Sir Joseph, owned by H.R. Bevan of Charlottetown. This time the pacers took their own good time of it, Sir Joseph winning in 2:20.3.

Upward of 1000 fans braved the rather chilly atmosphere to witness an exciting opening card. Sister Dawn, owned by S.R. Johnston and driven by Joe Hennessey must have thought it was mid-season. Sister went out and took a new mark for herself of 2:15.3 in the night's second dash after a thrilling stretch battle with Ken's Pride. Sally Volstadt did a similar chore, grabbing a new tab of 2:15 in the opening dash.

Other winners on the eight-event menu were Sally Volstadt, Uscita's Boy, Ginger B., Peter

Snead Wins Dallas Open

DALLAS (AP) — Sam Snead, the old battler from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., caught them in the stretch Sunday and then won a four-way playoff for $3,500 first money in the $25,000 Dallas Open.

Snead, who has captured more tournaments than anybody else in golf history—100—was repeating as champion of the Dallas Open when it appeared it was far out of his reach.

Winding up with a one-under-par 69, Snead tied young John McMullin of Fair Oaks, Calif., the leader for three rounds; Julius Boros, the dead-panned man from Mid Pines, N.C., and youthful Gary Player, the star shot-maker from Johannesburg, South Africa. All had 272 for 72 holes.

Then, in a sudden death playoff, Snead birdied the first hole with a 15-foot putt and stuck $3,500 first money in his pocket.

Player, Boros and McMullin each got $1,000 for finishing in a tie for second place. On the extra hole, Player and Boros had pars while McMullin didn't even putt out.

Indians Win Twin Bill; Cubs Blank Pirates 4-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from the American League—leading New York Yankees Sunday, winning 14-1 and 5-4, and beating Johnny Kucks twice.

Kucks was knocked out of the box in the first inning of the opener at Yankee Stadium, and absorbed the second defeat in relief when he gave up Russ Nixon's tie-breaking home run in the sixth inning of the nightcap.

Rocky Colavito led the Indians in the first game, triple and a homer in the first game, and Mickey Mantle dropped Preston Ward's fly ball for a "three-base error" for one of three Yank misplays in the weird opener.

Maule and Enos, Slaughter homered for the Yanks in the second game, while Colavito hit a two-run homer for the Tribe.

Boston Red Sox made a sweep of their series with Chicago by defeating the White Sox 6-5 on Jackie Jensen's two run 10th inning homer and then winning the nightcap 4-1 on two-run blasts by Jimmy Piersall and Gene Stephens.

Jensen's 13th homer of the campaign was only the fifth Boston hit off southpaw Billy Pierce, who suffered his fifth setback in nine decisions.

Saturday, Boston won by a 7-6 score.
Rightfielder Bob Martyn cut down the potential tying run on a throw to the plate in the eighth inning to preserve a 2-1 Kansas City victory over Baltimore Sunday in the second game of a twin-bill.

Baltimore won the opener 4-0 behind the pitching of Hal Brown and George Zuerink.

Gus Triandos homered for the Orioles in the first game.
Kansas City downed the Birds 5-2 on Saturday.

At Washington Sunday, Detroit by Gus Zernial, Frank Boll and Billy Martin. Pedro Rank and the Senators, despite home runs (Continued on Page 13)

Locals Beat Leonard In National Golf Tourney

Art MacKenzie, local golf amateur matched Stan Leonard's gross score of 70, in the National Golf competition, at Belvedere Course over the week-end. He had a net score of 67 and a 3 handicap, thus giving him a gross of 70.

Out of the twenty eight golfers participating in this event, only three other players had a better net score than Leonard's gross. Their names with their scores are as follows: G. Meredith, 64 with a 24 handicap for a 88 gross; R. Ketch 68 net, 19 handicap and 87 gross. Dr. MacEachern 68 gross 30 handicap and 98 gross.

These four golfers, in bettering Leonard's gross with their net score can apply to the Royal Canadian Golf Association for a "I beat the Champion" card. All players participating had to pay a fee of one dollar and this money went towards a junior golfers development program.

In the women's division, none of the local female golfers were able to equal or better the mark of Miss Betty Stanhope, who shot a 76 to set the mark for the ladies participating in this annual event.

There's INCO NICKEL in modern stainless steel dairy tank trucks... and it helps keep your milk pure

STAINLESS STEEL is a modern miracle metal. It resists rust and corrosion. It won't stain or tarnish. It has a bright, shiny surface that is easy to keep clean.

No wonder so many modern housewives want stainless steel sinks in their kitchens... stainless steel tableware in their dining rooms. Architects have used stainless steel for years to brighten and beautify the interiors of the buildings they design... and now they're using it for the exterior walls of buildings. Food processing industries depend on it to help keep their products pure.

Take the dairy industry, for example. Modern farms and dairies are now using stainless steel equipment for handling and processing milk. The milk seldom touches anything but stainless steel from milking to bottling time. Even the tanks on the huge trucks that haul milk from the farm to the dairy are made with stainless steel to protect the milk from contamination.

These dairy tank trucks are manufactured in Canada. The stainless steel that goes into them is also produced in Canada. Most of the stainless steel made in Canada for dairy equipment contains Inco Nickel. Another example of the way Inco metals serve the Canadian industries that serve you.
