Georgetown and Vicinity

Mr. John L. Campbell of Newport was a visitor to Georgetown on Saturday.

Friends are pleased to hear that the baby son of Mr. and Mrs. James Llewellyn, who has been a patient in the King's County Memorial Hospital in Montague for the past two weeks, has improved sufficiently in health to enable his return home.

Miss Eleanor Hobbs returned a few days ago to the Prince Edward Island Hospital where she will resume her duties as a student nurse. Miss Hobbs has been convalescing at her home in Georgetown for several weeks, following an operation.

Miss Florence Lavers, R. N., and Miss Mae Lavers, R. N., returned home a few days ago from Edmonton and other points in Western Canada, where they have been engaged in nursing. Before returning home they visited their brother, Dr. Percy Lavers, who resides on the west coast.

The Charlottetown - Georgetown train left the tracks, about two miles from Georgetown on Saturday night, in the vicinity of McAulay's Cutting. The forward trucks of a reefer car left the rails and it was necessary for the engine to proceed to Georgetown where the Canadian National Railway sectionmen were called out and taken to the scene of the derailment. In a short time the necessary work was completed and the train arrived here about two hours late.

Pure Seed Is a Money Saver

Though the new chemical weed killers are a valuable aid in fighting weeds, they should only be regarded as complementary to good cultural practices and the use of pure seed. Some weeds will get into a growing crop under almost all normal field conditions, but there will obviously be fewer of them if they are not planted along with the original crop seed. Planting pure seed is always worth while. The competition that weeds offer is easily illustrated. The quantity of water required to produce one pound of lamb's quarters in dried form is 800 pounds; to produce one the same quantity of oats it is 597 pounds. Thus the demand made by lamb's quarters on the soil moisture is considerably greater than by oats. Many weeds require and use more than double as much nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, as a well developed oat plant. In addition to increasing the cost of labour and equipment used in growing the crop, weeds increase the cost of processing the crop for either animal or human consumption.

Using pure seed is just as good an investment as building up a good dairy herd, for once a field has become infested with such weeds as field bindweed or wild morning glory, bladder campion, white cockle and many others, these seeds may re-occur for many years despite the use of weed killers and additional cultivation designed to control them. It is false economy to use low grade seed, for the additional expense of fighting more weeds will soon offset any original saving.

LATEST TWIST, PEACHES, MEAT

Try this "Delicious Peach Chili Sauce" on meat loaf the next time you're serving it for dinner. You can make the sauce in a matter of a very few minutes and yet it adds tremendously to the flavor of the meat. It's made with chopped canned cling peaches, catsup and sauteed chopped minced onion.

- Delicious Peach Chili Sauce 3 tablespoons finely minced onion.
 - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.
 - 1-2 cup syrup from canned cling peaches.
 - 3 canned cling peach halves.
 - 1-2 cup catsup.
- Cook onion in butter until golden brown. Add peach syrup, finely chopped peach halves and catsup, and simmer 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Use as sauce with meat loaf, hamburger patties, spaghetti, etc. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

JACOBY ON Canasta

For Beginners - 3

We have watched two plays in a game of Canasta, and we can now observe East making the third play of the hand. East holds:

Joker-A-K J-J 10-8-7-6-4-2 The top card of the discard pile is a seven, and we happen to know that the hidden cards of the discard pile are a queen and another seven.

East has no trouble meeting the minimum count requirement's since his joker is worth 50 points all by itself. If he wishes to do so, he can put down the joker with the two jacks, for a count of 70 points.

If he does so, at the proper time, it will thereafter be easier for his side to take the discard pile. Instead of needing a pair of natural cards that match the top discard, they will need only one matching card and one wild card (joker or deuce). It is usually much easier to produce one matching card and one wild card than two matching cards.

Here we might take up a point that hundreds of readers have written me about. Is East allowed to put down the joker with the two jacks, thus meeting the requirement of 50 points -- and then take the discard pile with the matching seven and his deuce? The answer is no. Several hundred times no, as a matter of fact. He cannot do it.

You are allowed to use a wild card to take the discard pile only if the first meld for your side has been made on a previous turn. You are not allowed to do everything on just one turn to play.

Since there is no legal way for East to take the discard pile, he deaws the top card of the stock. It happens to be a black three (spades or clubs). He puts down the joker and the two jacks, thus making the first meld for his side. And then he discards the black three.

Save these simple installments. If you're a beginner, you'll soon be able to profit from the tips given in the second part of each article. If you're an experienced player, save the first half to each the game to others.

For Experienced Players - 9

We have seen that North should not meld ace-ace-deuce from his hand when that will leave him with a discard to be made from these cards:

K Q Q J-9-8 7-7-7 We then see that East melds two jacks and a joker from his hand, leaving himself with:

A-K-10-8-7-6-4-2 Why is a three-card meld from the hand correct in one case and incorrect in the other case?

If North melded, he would have no wild card left in his hand. He would be able to take this discard pile only if a queen or a seven were thrown to him.

When East melds, he has a wild card (the deuce) left in his hand. He will be able to take the discard pile if his right-hand opponent throws an ace, king, ten, eight, six, or four. He has seven ways of getting the discard pile after his meld.

We have also seen that if North fails to meld he will have just as good a chance to get the discard pile later on. That is not true of East. If East fails to meld, he will have only one way to get the pile -- if a jack is thrown to him. By melding, he increases his chances sevenfold!

IN MEMORIAM

MR. PETER JACKMAN

Village Green lost one of its most highly respected citizens in the passing away on March 3, 1950 of Mr. Peter Jackman at the advanced age of 83 years.

His wife, the former Katherine Duffy, predeceased him just twelve years ago, and almost since that time he was in failing health but was usually able to be up and about until last November, when he suffered a stroke, from which he never fully recovered.

The late Mr. Jackman was a farmer all his life and loved the things surrounding a farm and although he was unable to work for a number of years, he retained a keen interest in all the activities of the home and community. Of a jovial disposition, he was never happier than when friends came to enjoy the hospitality of his home, and as a neighbor, he was ever ready to lend a helping hand in time of need.

He was frequently visited during his illness by his pastor Rev. Urban Gillis also by Rev. Sylvère Gallant who administered the last rites of the Church.

His funeral which was largely attended was held on Monday morning to St. Joachim's Church.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS BESSIE JANE STEWART

On Monday, January 23rd, 1950, Miss Bessie Jane Stewart of Union Road, Queen's County, P. E. I. died in the Prince Edward Island Hospital in Charlottetown, after a short illness.

In the death of Miss Stewart we have lost one of the finest personalities of this or any Island community. Bessie was a wonderful person and a splendid friend and neighbor. Few people escape adverse criticism at one time or another. But we never hear anything but favorable comment of Miss Stewart. She was one who could always be depended on, loyal, friendly, intelligent, sincere.

Vernon River, where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. U. Gillis and the service at the grave conducted by Rev. S. Gallant, the pall bearers were Leo Praught, Earl Buell, Charles Duffy, Fred Mossman, Ewen McNeill, and William Doyle.

He is survived by three daughters and one son, Mrs. J. W. Trainor who came from Springfield, Mass. to attend the funeral, Mrs. J. T. McKenna of Vernon and Josie and Martin at home, also one brother, William of Charlottetown.

IN MEMORIAM

Her passing is indeed a great loss to this community and especially so to her bereaved brother Robert at home.

Miss Stewart was born on January 29th, 1882 at the family homestead in Union Road, where she lived her life through. Her parents were the late Charles and Jane Stewart; and she leaves to mourn her loss and reverence her memory two brothers, Lemuel in British Columbia and Robert on the homestead. Her other brother John went Overseas in the first World War. Her sister Annie, who lived at home with her, died fifteen years ago.

Miss Stewart was a member of the Harrington Presbyterian Church, and the funeral service was reverently conducted there on January 25th by the Rev. Carlisle Webster of Zion Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, assisted by the Rev. Thomas A. Wilson of the Covehead United Church of Canada. The hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd", "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me". The burial was in the Stewart Cemetery in Harrington, and the pallbearers were Messrs. Ira Carr, Ray Carr, Leigh Stewart, Wallace Morrow and Ambrose Rodd.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. Robert Stewart in his great loneliness and loss, and to Mr. Lemuel Stewart in British Columbia.
