CHARLOTTETOWN BUSINESS COLLEGE.—The Charlottetown Business College and Writing Academy opened to-day for the fall and winter session. Intending students should make application at once. PROF. FONTANA.—At the Opera House at noon to-day Prof. Fontana entertained a number of our citizens at an exhibition of mind reading. In addition to finding hidden objects, the professor traced a knife that had passed through the hands of three persons before it was finally secreted. The best effort however was finding a fan which Mr. F. H. Beer had taken from Haszard & Moore's store and hidden in the cornmeal bin in Beer & Goff's shop. Although Prof. Fontana had been in the Masonic Temple during this operation, he, on Mr. Beer's return, went with the latter, found the article and returned it to the owners. His power is marvellous, and should be the means of attracting a large audience to the entertainment this evening.

A THING OF BEAUTY.—Those who admire beautiful flowers and plants—and who does not?—should visit the garden and conservatory of Mr. G. Herbert Haszard, in the rear of his residence, Hillsborough Park. What they will see there will more than reward them for the time thus spent. A representative of THE EXAMINER was kindly shown over the place on Saturday by Mr. Haszard, and was charmed with what he saw. Besides a large collection of Island and other ferns, there are fuschias, single and double begonias and begonia rex, coleus, chrysanthemums, verbenas, poppies, etc., in abundance. In the garden the newspaper man noticed a beautiful Marechal Neil rose grafted on thorn and bearing many beautiful flowers. Mr. Haszard has gone to great trouble and expense to bring his garden and conservatory to its present condition, and his enterprise should be substantially encouraged.

THE WEATHER.—Westerly to southerly winds; fine; higher temperature in most places.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

LETTER FROM MR. BAYFIELDE.

SIR,—I shall be glad if, through the medium of your valuable paper, you will allow me space to thank my friends for their support and kindness during the past few months.

Through the unfortunate occurrence of last week, I fear there is little prospect for the autumn season, although I had hoped to remain in Charlottetown; but this, under the present circumstances I fear is impossible, and I deeply regret it, for in this short time I have become deeply attached to my work, surroundings, and many true friends. Before leaving the city I shall endeavor by every means possible, to meet the few accounts which I have of necessity been obliged to incur. I propose to give a series of dramatic recitals in the city and vicinity, including presentations of "Our Boys" and "Caste," in both which plays I have always been successful. To produce these I shall require the help of local players and feel sure that I shall not fail through want of proper support. I shall be glad to receive as early as possible names of ladies and gentlemen willing to help me either in concert or dramatically. Again thanking you

I remain Sir,
Yours very obediently,
WILLIAM BAYFIELDE.

"THE WAGES OF SIN."

Harry Lindley and his players presented the emotional melo-drama, "The Wages of Sin," to a fair audience at the Opera House on Saturday evening. The play, like the previous productions, was well acted throughout, and the applause was most generous. Miss Flint gave a splendid impersonation of "Ruth Hope," and Miss Mathes was excellent as "Julianna Bloggs," the stage-struck young lady who was to play "Juliet" to Mr. Bayfielde's "Romeo." Miss Sutton, in the dual characters of "Barbara Dale" and "Rose Deane," was good, and Lenella Beck (Mrs. Harry Lindley) was most amusing as "Mrs. Bloggs." Harry Lindley was very comical as "Ned Drummond," and Mr. Chapman gave a finished impersonation of "Rev. Geo. Brand." The other characters were well taken by Messrs. Marsh, Woodall, Secord and King. Between the acts and during the rendition of the drama the orchestra rendered excellent music. The Lindley Company is a good, evenly-balanced one, and their plays are all new here. They carry their own orchestra and special scenery for their plays, and deserve to be well patronized wherever they appear. After giving performances in Summerside and Kensington they will return to Charlottetown, playing in the Opera House on Friday and Saturday evenings next. On Friday evening the comedy-drama "Over the Hills to the Poor House," will be presented, and on Saturday evening Bartley Campbell's great play "Divorce."

To Clense The System

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs. .....

During the hot weather impurities in the blood may seriously annoy you. Expel them by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.
