Sparking at the morning session of the 41st annual convention of the Association of Nurses in P.E.I., Dr. E. J. Fullerton, St. John's Hospital, St. John's, said "although there is a great deal of research going on in all countries to determine the cause of cancer, there is still no positive answer."

He pointed out that however there is general agreement that smoking has a definite relationship to lung cancer, in addition there is enough evidence available that carcinogenic substances may be inhaled in heavily industrialized areas.

The speaker who was introduced by Mrs. Marjorie Vesey, assured the meeting that steps are being taken to remove these substances from the air. He also gave an outline of what took place at recent World Congress on Cancer, which was held in Rome, and in which 22,000 were one of 5,000 doctors from all parts of the world that attended.

The day-long sessions which opened with registration at 8:45 a.m. were attended by some 900 delegates and 1,200 guests. President's Report

STUDENT NURSES ELECT OFFICERS

The newly elected officers of the recently formed Students of Nursing in Prince Edward Island were the guests at the annual banquet of the 41st convention of the Association of

Myrna Nicholson, Charlottetown Hospital, first vice-president; Shirley Green, Charlottetown Hospital, secretary; Elaine Nicholson, Prince Edward Island Hospital, second vice-president.

Also emphasized was the fact that United Appeal is not demanding or asking, or even "sugging" people to donate - just suggesting. One way of doing this was by having a voluntary day, which was held on Sept. 10, and was very successful.

Mrs. Seller had as his guests, Mrs. William Brennan, Charlottetown and Jack Ambler, executive director of the fund. Mr. Ambler was formerly executive director in Moose Jaw, Sask.

The next step will be to call a meeting to ascertain whether or not organizations in the Summerside area are in favour of joining the fund.

Mrs. Seller briefly reviewed the fund's present activities and status on the Island and discussed tag days. He said tag days were not very popular with the general public and canvassers and did not seem a very dignified way to raise money.

By holding one major tag day, such inconveniences could be halted. The United Fund stands for the people who give the money, he concluded.

During a question period representatives of the various organizations of Summerside discussed problems among themselves and with the fund advisers.

It was noted that if the United Fund is adopted in Summerside, and one major tag day held, town council would pass legislation making it illegal for any other organization or group to take advantage of the space previously occupied by various tag day projects.

Central Street just off Main Street in the village continues to be a major problem to house-holders and business establishments as trapped water continues to lodge in that area.

This water problem has been posing a major problem for a number of years. A drainage system was named at the meeting to meet with the minister of highways, and the acting police chief, to immediate action in a village commissioners present.

Other business before the meeting was the repairing of some sections of the sidewalk, and other minor improvements. A dog law put into effect recently will be extended for one year. Following that period action will be taken on overdue tax.

Lobsters Hit Record Price

SURSUMDINE - Lobster prices to fishermen hit an all time record high as catches have diminished during the past few days. Fred L.D. Arsenault, Summerside buyer, was reported paying 42 cents for canners and 50 cents for the large market sized lobsters.

Prices to consumers for the small sized lobsters is 70 cents a pound for cooked lobsters in shell, the same price as at the start of the season.

Catches earlier were said to have been quite satisfactory in most areas, but rough water since a recent fall off in catches is said to have contributed to the new high - prices to fishermen.

Mrs. Seller congratulated the Summerside members for their energetic enthusiasm and stated that the fund to date has received terrific co-operation from everyone. He said that its success was due partly to the fact that P.E.I. is the first province in Canada to join United Appeal on a province-wide basis.

United Appeal it does not mean no work will be required of it. If objectives of the fund were surpassed, it was suggested that these reserves be set aside to meet with any emergency provisions, which was agreed to.
