Scientists Say Soaping Baby Old-Fashioned

LONDON (UPI) — Scientists doubt they will be able to dent an age-old tradition of motherhood, but soaping the baby is a really old-fashioned and there are better and safer ways of keeping the very young clean.

Some scientists, in fact, are against baths for newborn babies altogether. Taking up the cause of those who think mothers should change their methods, the British Medical Journal has conceded it does not expect the campaign to have much success. But it implied that mothers should at least know about the new concept.

The popular method of bathing the baby has these disadvantages, according to the medical journal.

It makes the baby slippery, thus leading to anxiety and tension in the mother who fears the baby will fall on its head; it takes too long; there is a risk the soap will get into the baby's eyes and there is scum on the baby from interaction of soap and hard water.

It quoted scientists who believe that a mixture of allantoin and hexachlorophene in the bathroom does away with the need for soap.

The no-bath scientists are concerned, mainly with the newborn. In one British experiment 160 infants who were not bathed but who were dabbed with an antiseptic solution were compared with 129 infants who were given daily soap and water baths.

The researchers found that the no-bathing technique did not increase the incidence of rashes or other conditions and they commended the method because it saved so much time.

"Mothers," said the medical journal, "will probably continue to use soap and water because it is traditional — in spite of the fact that they (or their husbands) will drop the baby on the floor, but in the nursery for newborn babies many pediatricians will prefer the no-bath technique — or hexachlorophene."

1769, records kept by the famous Thomas Chippendale indicated prices equivalent to nearly $400 each for 77 x 44-inch mirror plates.

Because the glass was uneven and heavy, mercury was used for silvering, few of the early English mirrors have survived in good condition. Some of the beautiful old mirror frames have been preserved in museums and private collections.

The members of Seven Mile Bay CWL held their monthly meeting in the parish hall recently with the president, Mrs. Ellisworth Noonan in the chair. Fifteen members responded to the roll call. Correspondence included letters from Mrs. A. P. Mulligan and Mrs. Elyndman concerning the new alcoholic content and the Red Cross. The treasurer reported a balance of $176.92 on hand after bills had been paid and $10.00 donated to the parish fund.

Mrs. Robert Carmichael, social action and welfare convener gave a brief account of the seminar held in Summerside. She reported distributing groceries, clothes and fruit to needy families.

Mrs. Gerald Murray, convener of education suggested a box be placed in the vestibule of the church for collection of used stamps.

The spiritual convener was asked to post a list of names for the perpetual rosary on the first Saturday of each month.

The idea of raising the membership fee to include the magazine subscription was discussed and favored by the majority.

It was decided to begin the weekly card parties on November 2nd. Mrs. Everett Muttart and Mrs. Lorne Noonan reported for their Units of North Carleton and Albany Rural respectively. North Carleton members are busily quilting while the main topic of Albany Rural's unit meeting was congregational singing. Mrs. George Murphy requested Father MacDonald's permission to invite Sister Mary Jude from Kinkora Convent to direct singing for a few Sundays. Father MacDonald and all members present were in accord with this request.

Father MacDonald read a letter concerning the sale of copies of "The Catholic Church in Early Times". Several members were interested in purchasing same.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of the past president's pin to Mrs. Gerald Murray with the presentation being made by Father MacDonald.

Texas Teener The Tops In Party Giving Contest

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN
Eighteen-year-old Linda Ellis, the nation's top teen hostess from Houston, Tex., has been cooking since she was 10, baking since she was 12, and trying out new recipes for her family and friends for as long as she can remember.

The attractive brunette recently won first prize in a "Party-of-the-Year" contest given by a leading teenagers' magazine with her plan for an international "Passport Party" for teens. She took to the kitchen early, because she thought that being able to cook was a sign of being grown up.

Eventually she graduated to cooking meals for the family. This project was encouraged by her mother, Mrs. Norma Ellis, who agreed to pay Linda one dollar a week for planning and cooking dinner during summer vacations.

"Innovation is the spice of cooking," Linda believes, and she's always eager to try new ideas and to experiment with recipes.

PIZZA PARTY
(Each of 4 couples completes a pizza)

For this party, the dough for four (12") plain pizzas is made from a pkg. mix, and the pizza shells are made ahead of time—ready-to-bake. Thin green pepper strips divide each pan into 2 portions per couple.

Setting the Table: Put ready-to-bake pizza shells along the back of a 6-ft. narrow table. Put napkins for the sticky-fingered guests at right-hand end. Line up platters of pizza "toppers" (follow) ready for guests to use. Meat sauce goes over a heating unit to keep hot. Grated cheese and oil for sprinkling the completed pizzas come last. Each couple (in turn) takes a pizza shell from the table, adds Italian meat sauce and a choice of several toppings.

When the guests have done their bit, the pizzas are sent to the kitchen for baking about 30 min., or according to pizza pkg. directions.

Recipes for 6

ITALIAN MEAT SAUCE
Ingredients: 1/2 c. chopped, peeled onion; 2 tsp. olive oil; 1 lb. chopped beef chuck; 1 tsp. garlic salt; 1/2 tsp. ground pepper; 2 cans (8 oz.) tomato sauce; 1 bay leaf; 1/4 tsp. crushed oregano; 1/4 tsp. ground rosemary.

To Prepare: Sauté onion in olive oil 3 min. Add meat and cook, stirring 2 min. more. Dust with garlic salt and pepper. Stir in tomato sauce and seasonings. Simmer 5 min. Remove bay leaf.

TOPPERS
Ingredients: 1/2 lb. sweet Italian sausage; 1/2 lb. hot Italian sausage; 1 lb. mozzarella cheese; 2 sweet red onions; 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms; 1 lb. shrimp cooked, shelled and deveined.

To Prepare: Cook each kind of sausage in separate skillet slowly and thoroughly. Remove and slice. Slice the cheese. Peel and slice onions; separate into rings. Slice mushrooms. Cut shrimp into bite-sizes. Arrange foods separately on platters, cover, refrigerate.

THE CHEF LIKES PIZZAS
Mesdames et Mademoiselles: After Linda's arty what can we think of for dinner except pizzas? They are always fun and appropriate. For the menu, "Minestrone soup, homemade or canned; pizzas with a choice of toppings (not all of them a shrimp); a tossed mixed green salad; and for dessert, a big basket of red apples, pears and grapes with coffee to top it off. Et voila!

The opening of the new bridge across the Morell River has been delayed as the railing is still not placed. When this has been done the bridge will open for traffic. This is the fourth bridge across the river in less than 100 years.

The old Bristol United Church which has been reported sold several times, still stands on the corner of the mill road and the main highway as a silent sentinel. Built in 1866, seventy-eight years ago, its doors were closed a few years ago when a new church was erected in Morell village to serve the combined districts. Many of the older class both here and in other parts of the world recall many happy days and happy events in this old church when its walls rang with the voices of one of

BALTIC

Sharon Crizler, Halifax spent the weekend in Baltic.

Her many friends will be pleased to learn Mrs. Richard Wall, Baltic, is making a good recovery following surgery in the Prince County Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Caseley, Baltic spent a most enjoyable holiday in Newfoundland and also visited relatives in Halifax, N.S., returning home on Tuesday.
