

Speak Easy

What SPEAK EASY Has Done for Me

...talking about anyway"? You realize that your speech was boring or you were not able to attract their attention.

Speak Easy should be a compulsory course when attending the University of Prince Edward Island. Everyone needs some help when it comes to speaking in public. The majority of students who attend U.P.E.I. are purposely avoiding subjects which require a seminar presentation.

In order to involve oneself in today's society one has to be able to make others understand their point of view. Concerning all of the careers that are offered in today's society, one has to be confident that their material and the way they are going to present it will convince others that there is no other possible answer. Many students need a course to help themselves improve their speaking ability.

They encounter a feeling of nervousness and fear that they would make a fool of themselves in front of their peer group.

Before a person can improve the way they express themselves they first have to realize that they have a problem and find help. Once that person realizes their problem, they have to be willing to continue, no matter what is asked of them. Over a period of time that person will benefit.

People often judge others by the way they express themselves such as eye contact, gestures, posture, and your voice inflection. They are more concerned about the way you look on the outside rather than what you have to say. Imagine what it would be like to be perfect in all of these categories and then the audience would concentrate on what you have to say. When you have completed your speech you often hear people say, "Did you see what she had on"? "I felt like tying her hands behind her back," or "What was he which helps students develop confidence, skills, and fun over a six week period. Students are given the chance to do something about their problem right here on campus. The program is not as easy as one might think at first, but eventually becomes rewarding.

I feel Speak Easy should be compulsory because each one of us has learned different methods of communicating with others, whether in a large or small group of people. The importance of arranging and delivering a speech.

We have learned as an audience, to encourage others, not to judge others hastily, to listen to what others have to say, that everyone has something to say, and most important, to tell the honest truth.

Each one of us realizes that we have something important, interesting, and humorous to say, just like everyone else.

Come home to a real meal

Our pizza dough is made fresh each day. So are our sauces, made to our own secret recipe. And each day, our fresh vegetables and other toppings are diced, sliced and baked to perfection on a pizza made to your specifications.

The same painstaking care goes into the preparation of all Mother's dishes...pasta, chicken, every last morsel.

Top quality cooking and a little bit more...that's what Mother's is all about.
