

To The Conservative Electors of Prince Edward Island

I have been requested by numerous electors to allow my name to go up for nomination for Party Leadership at the Provincial Convention on June 29th next and have consented so to do.

At this time I desire to introduce myself to you and to place before you my qualifications and record with the Conservative Party.

Since the 1917 election I have been an active organizer and worker in every election and a candidate for Second Queen's in the past three general provincial elections. In 1939 I was asked to run in the strong Liberal district of Second Queen's on the Councillor ballot. In 1939 election the Liberal candidate, and my opponent in 1939, had a majority of some three hundred and forty-five votes on the property ballot. In 1939 I cut that majority to nothing and have never been beaten in a general election since. Despite the fact that a Liberal Government was strongly returned in the past three general elections, I have increased my majority in each election and Second Queen's is, after a great many years, a Conservative riding, being the only rural riding to return two Conservative candidates in the past two elections.

I was born on a farm forty-eight years ago and have always been interested in agriculture. As representing one of the leading agricultural districts in the Province, and to better acquaint myself with the farmers' problems, some four years ago, I actively engaged in farming operations, and, in addition to my legal business at Charlottetown, am now personally operating over two hundred acres of land at New Glasgow and Mayfield and where I reside with my wife and two children six months of the year. I have been raising Shorthorn cattle for the past eight years, now having a herd of forty head. I am a member of the Farmers Federation, the Shorthorn Breeders Association, and Swine Breeders Association.

I have resided in Charlottetown for over thirty years and have always taken an interest in all matters dealing with Civic affairs and improvements. I have been a member of the Board of Trade for over twenty years and was its President in 1937.

With the above experience with all classes of our people, I humbly feel that I have some qualifications for the difficult and onerous position that is to be the lot of some one on June 29th. I feel that the time is ripe for a vigorous and fighting Conservative Campaign and I, for one, whether the leader or not, will do my part to aid in the return of sound Government to this Province under Conservative rule.

Sincerely yours,

R. R. BELL

Dr. MacKinnon's Address

Following is a summary of Dr. MacKinnon's remarks:
"Graduation is a time, not only for celebration, but also for critical reflection on the efforts of the past and clear thinking on the responsibilities of the future.
"In your school experiences you owe much to the support and guidance of parents, teachers, and the Church, and your association with your friends. These and your own work have brought you to this day. Your responsibility now is to justify them by entering with vigor into the tasks of adult life.
"The big change you will face is in the element of responsibility. When you were small children it was your parents and teachers who were largely responsible for what you did. Gradually you began to take over and also do your own thinking and make your own decisions. In the near future you will be entirely on your own. Life is like that and you should prepare yourselves accordingly, for your education and experiences henceforth will be designed to help you become responsible individuals who will be called upon to meet the challenges of a difficult world.
"Is fashionable nowadays for convocation speakers to tell graduates that they are going out into the world at a very difficult time. That is true in your case, but actually it's true of every generation, for life has always been uncertain and it always presents a challenge; if it's not wars and bombs it's something else.

The Big Problem
"The big problem is not the external difficulties but yourselves. Your lives will be what you make of them and their success or failure will depend on your relationships to your responsibilities, your fellow men, and, most of all, to your God. Like good metal, you must be tempered in the fires of experience and you will have to stand up to both adversity and good fortune. No one can settle the problems of life unless he first prepares himself to meet them.
"You must take yourselves seriously, and realize that you must bear your share of the work which your contemporaries will face. But you should not take yourselves too seriously and have an over-exalted opinion of yourselves and your importance. Above all remember that influence, power, wealth are in themselves superficial; it's what you do with them that counts. The happiness of life depends, not on the grandness of the scale on which it is lived, but on how well you live in relation to the resources and advantages at your command.
"Is essential to remember these things if you go on to further education, for they are the real foundation of the educational system. When you leave school, now or later, they are what you will meet in the school of practical experience.
"Graduation day, therefore, is an opportunity for reflection on your status as a maturing individual.

MacNevin-MacNeill Wedding

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the Christian Church parsonage, Kent Street, on the 24th of May, when Kathleen, youngest daughter of Mrs. MacNeill and the late Elmer N. MacNeill, Malpeque Road, became the bride of Ivan Alexander MacNevin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. MacNevin, Cornwall. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. D. Dunbar.

The bride was attired in a grey, check sharkskin suit, with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Her attendant was her sister, Miss Mary MacNeill, who wore a grey suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red carnations.
The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Lorne MacNeill. After the ceremony the happy couple left on a short motor trip through the Maritimes.
On their return a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride to the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The table was centered with a beautiful wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, while tall white tapers graced either end of the table. The wedding cake was cut in the traditional manner by the bride and groom.
The wedding gifts were many and beautiful.
