APEC Council President Discusses Annual Meeting

HALIFAX — Following a meeting of the governors of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council held at the Nova Scotia Hotel in Halifax yesterday, John R. O'Dea, council president, released some details concerning the forthcoming APEC Annual Meeting '66 to be held in Halifax on October 2, 3, and 4.

The general theme for this year's meeting is to be "Developing a Strategy" featuring in the president's keynote address an APEC policy statement relative to sustained and rationalized growth in the primary sector of the regional economy.

Speaking at the luncheon on October 3, Mr. O'Dea is expected to offer the Council's views as to the type of strategy that should be adopted in the Atlantic Provinces in order to maximize over-all economic opportunities in the region, and at the same time, enable fishing, farming, mining and forestry industries to make their maximum contributions to economic development. Structural changes taking place in agriculture and the adequacy of present marketing channels are to hold centre stage in discussions at the conference.

CONSIDER TOPIC

Speakers on the afternoon of October 3 will consider the topic "Agriculture—Where is it Going?" Under the chairmanship of D.L. Parks, Nova Scotia's Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Marketing, panelists will include Dr. W.J. Anderson, Director of Research, Agricultural Economics Research Council of Canada, Ottawa, speaking on "The Structure and Position of Agriculture in the Canadian Economy;" J.A. Dawson, Economist with the Economic Council of Canada, Ottawa, discussing "The Implications of Increased Productivity in Agriculture;" R.K. Fletcher, APEC Economist, Fredericton, reviewing the findings contained in the Council's recent publication, "Agriculture and the Atlantic Economy;" and David L. Kirk, executive secretary of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, Ottawa. Mr. Kirk will present his views on "Future Policy for the Development of Agriculture in Atlantic Canada."

Attention will also be focused on agriculture on Tuesday morning, October 4, when a panel with R.D. Gilbert, deputy minister of agriculture for New Brunswick, as Chairman, will examine the ability of present marketing practices to offer an equitable distribution of the food dollar to all levels of the industry.

DISCUSS PRODUCTS

Discussing "The Marketing of Agricultural Products" will be Dr. David L. MacFarlane, head of the department of agricultural economics at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue; H.K. Leckie, General Manager of the Meat Packers Council of Canada, Islington, and A.E. Calkin, General Manager of the Meat Packers Council of Canada, Islington, and A.E. Calkin, General Manager of Scotian Cold Co-operative Limited in Kentville.

Other topics to be covered at the Conference include "Expansion of the Manufacturing Sector," "Labor-Management

Plans Following Retirement Discussed By Mrs. Pearson

By CAROL KENNEDY
LONDON (CP) — MARYON Pearson says she hopes to travel when the prime minister retires.

"I'd like to go to Greece—I've never been there," the Canadian leader's wife said in an interview Monday. "The trouble is, my husband has travelled so much he may not be so keen, but he says he will."

Will Pearson write his memoirs?

"Well, he should, but he hasn't kept a diary," she said. "I regret myself that I haven't done so—after a time you find it had to remember little intimate conversations with people over the years."

Without indicating when retirement would come, Mrs. Pearson said they would probably continue living in Ottawa.

MEETINGS MORE TENSE

Mrs. Pearson, the only one of the five Commonwealth leaders' wives in town to have attended both the 1965 and 1966 Commonwealth conferences, said she found the atmosphere of the meeting more tense than last year. There were many informal talks in hotel suites and late evening meetings behind the scenes.

As in 1965, Pearson emerged as the bridge-builder to whom both Britain and the Afro-Asian leaders look in hopes of shaping a solution to the Rhodesian crisis.

"He understands the British position and also the Africans' anxieties," said Mrs. Pearson. "I think the Africans respect him."

She has bought some clothes for her grandchildren—the Pearsons will have 10 when their daughter Patricia has her latest baby at the end of September.

Annual Report Is Presented

MONTAGUE — In presenting his annual report, Paul Kingsbury, chairman of the Montague Regional High School unit stated that in his opinion the Montague High School was very much in need of a vocational training unit as it has an enrollment of 810 students and represents the largest number of districts in the province.

We qualify, he said, we have been pressing for this and if you read the financial report you will note the amount paid to us in equalization grants was $370. We are practically running on our own money he continued, and Ottawa says Kings County qualifies for such a unit. He said the Minister of Education was to be invited to meet with the trustees of this school in the near future to discuss this important matter.

Mr. Kingsbury was reporting for the trustees during the annual meeting of the Regional High School last evening.

New trustees appointed to take the place of retiring trustees were: Hurmon Martin replacing Ewart Keeping, Hazen MacLure, James King replacing Andrew Mackenzie and Donald MacLeod replacing James Cain.

Operation and transportation expenses less government grants were $69,183. This amount along with bank loans and capital debt charges less revenue left a deficit of $70, the amount of the equalization grants paid by the provincial government.

Approximately 80 ratepayers were in attendance.

Trade Board Arranges Meeting

Sixteen assistant trade commissioners arrived here Monday afternoon from Halifax for a two-day meeting with businessmen and other interested persons. The meeting was arranged by the Charlottetown Board of Trade and sessions were held on Monday evening and yesterday morning at the Charlottetown Hotel.

Shortly after their arrival yesterday the group was briefed in Confederation Centre on the Northumberland Crossing project by Reg MacLean and Bill Hunt. The group were shown the model of the project on display in the Centre.

A breakfast meeting was held at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday and a welcome was extended by Mayor Walter Cox and C.F. Downe, president of the Charlottetown Board of Trade.

During the morning seminar talks were given by a number of industrialists and manufacturers.

Along with a luncheon at noon yesterday in the Confederation Centre the delegates were taken on a tour of the Confederation Centre and Confederation Chambers.

Before leaving the province yesterday they visited the National Park.

K of C Officers Are Selected

Last night at the Knights of Columbus Home in Charlottetown, the District Deputy of the P.E.I. Knights of Columbus State-Council, Everett Cameron of Summerside, called on Past State Deputy, R.M. Callaghan, to install the following officers of Charlottetown Council number 824 for the ensuing year: Grand Knight, George McGulgan; Deputy Grand Knight, William Campbell; Chancellor, Merrill McAlduff; Recording Secretary, Charles Fisher; Financial Secretary, Leonard MacDonald; Treasurer, Roddie Rossiter; Advocate, Ian MacDonald; Warden, Daniel MacAskill; Lecturer, Peter McGonnell; Inside Guard, Ted Creighton; Outside Guard, Mel MacDougall and Trustees, George Fraser, Abe Zakem and Gerald Madigan.

The Chaplain appointed for the council is Rev. Gerard Tingley. Other officers present for the installation ceremony were: State Deputy, M.F. Hagan; State Warden, Ralph Blacquiere and the Past Grand Knight, Connie LeClair.

station, off the east coast of Dick back in," said Conrad. "He got so hot and sweaty, he couldn't see. So we're back inside now and he's resting."

Several major objectives of the walk were lost. Gordon did not have time to experiment with a special power tool that would have qualified him as the first space mechanic. He also did not get a chance to dart to and fro with a jet gun.

He did straddle the Agena rocket linked to Gemini 11's nose, looping a loose end of a 100-foot cord to the spacecraft. It set the stage for the Agena and Gemini 11 to stretch apart, the cord tied between them, to see whether this might be a fuel-saving way to fly in formation.

O'Leary Has Teacher's Convention

A large attendance of teachers was present at the annual fall convention held at O'Leary Regional High School and presided over by president Alden Weeks.

Mrs. Blanche Crockett acted as secretary. Following an address by the local president, the superintendent, Merritt Callaghan spoke to teachers on the book situation.

Wilson Ross, superintendent of High Schools addressed the group. Mrs. W. W. Reid of Junior Red Cross Society told of the work of this society with our young people.

Gerard Doucette of Tignish, one of two representatives of Canada who attended Red Cross international study camp in Poland, told the teachers of his jet flight, his stay and experiences in Europe.

Mrs. Leone Ross explained centennial projects for our schools. Mrs. John Greer introduced Allan Andrews who addressed teachers on subject of physical education and also gave a demonstration. David Boswell spoke briefly on Canadian Athletic program.

Following a dinner served by Hospital Ladies Aid in the High School, the teachers began the afternoon with a sing-song accompanied by Mrs. Rogan at piano.

Director of Curriculum and Registrar, Department of Education, J. A. Williams brought to attention of teachers many changes in text books for different grades. Mr. Williams also explained the caravans and centennial trains. Caravans will be at O'Leary High School grounds on Saturday July 8, 1967.

Norman Moase who is absent from this local was replaced on Board of Governors by Robert Grindlay.

The chairman of nominations committee, Mrs. Inez Howard, brought in following state of officers: President, William Costain; vice-president, Robert Grindlay; secretary, Mrs. Blanche Crockett.

FIRMS KNUCKLE UNDER

The Arab anti-Israel boycott bureau says 213 Western firms were induced in the first half of this year to stop trading with Israel.

HAMPERED BY SUIT

Gordon, connected to the spacecraft by a 30-foot oxygen tether, seemed to have difficulty from the start. He found, as three other American space-walkers did, that even though one is in weightlessness, where things are light as a feather, simple tasks are hard to do. A man in orbit is hampered by a bulky pressure suit and also has nothing to brace against.

One of the first things Gordon did outside the spacecraft was move to the Agena, only a few feet from his hatch.

"I'm here, I guess," Gordon said, sitting astride the 26-foot long Agena, firmly locked to Gemini 11.

"You sure are," Conrad barked, peering at Gordon who was right out his window. "Ride 'em cowboy!"

Later, after Gordon returned to the spacecraft, Conrad explained what happened:

"We stayed out about 44 minutes there and Dick got so much sweat in his right eye that he couldn't see any more out of his right eye. Therefore, I didn't want him to get any hotter during this workout there with the possibility of not being able to see out of the other one. So I called him in."

Space-walking is important to the American space program. For one thing, when a man strolls the moon's surface, he, in essence, is walking in space.

JOLTING RIDE EXPECTED

Around 3 a.m. EDT today, the big blast from the Agena rocket was scheduled. It was expected to be a jolting ride as the 16,000-pound thrust engine fires, shooting the astronauts into an egg-shaped orbit ranging from 863 miles to 161 miles.

This will break the record of 475 miles set by Gemini 10 in July.

From the lofty outpost, Gordon and Conrad should be able to get the best view of earth ever seen by man.

Gemini 11 plans to stay in the high flying orbit only twice around the world, then return to the lower course that is virtually a 185-mile circular path.

CITY AREA FUNERALS

SOBEY FUNERAL — The funeral for Harry Sobeys of Searle-town was held Tuesday, September 13, from the Chisholm Funeral Home. Service was conducted by Rev. R. M. Cameron. Hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Abide With Me." Organist was Mrs. Walker Crabb. Pall bearers were Lorne Sobeys, Hillard Murray, Eric Taylor, Arnold MacLean, Maurice Howatt and Ralph Foy. Flower bearers were Reginald Thomas, Bertram Thomas, Malcolm Bradshaw and Lorne Foy. Interment was in the Searle-town cemetery.

Chief Justice Campbell Speaks To Visiting Group

The evolution of parliamentary democracy in Prince Edward Island which spans centuries of Island history was related to delegates of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association by Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell.

JUDGE CAMPBELL

Chief Justice Campbell, in speaking yesterday to the visiting parliamentarians, which represent Ceylon, Great Britain, Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, Malaysia and Africa, dealt with the history of Prince Edward Island from its first inhabitants, its founding, early government, division of lands, to Saskatchewan was added after Liberal Premier Ross Thatcher denounced the new formula last month because it would have wiped out equalization payments to his province starting April 1.

WILL VARY EACH YEAR

Under the new formula, payments would vary automatically from year to year in line with each province's total revenues, tax rates and population.

Mr. Sharp said equalization payments, which have existed since Confederation in various forms, "represent one of the dividends of Canadian unity."

EXPRESSES GRATITUDE

Mr. Hamilton expressed gratitude for the hospitality bestowed upon the foreign visitors during their brief stay. He referred to the delegation of Commonwealth parliamentarians as a mixture of a group representing the old and new Commonwealth.

Asked about the upcoming Conference to be held in Ottawa September 28, Mr. Winter stated: "we shall have very short words on the Rhodesia situation."

WILL END GRANTS

The Minister also proposed to terminate the Atlantic province adjustment grants, set at $35,000,000 annually, and replace them with the new formula. He said these grants do not escalate and do not benefit Quebec, which had great numbers of residents earning less than 80 per cent of the national average income.

There were suggestions the final draft would include reservations on some points by individual Commonwealth members, a practice followed in previous conference communiques.

MET IN SECRET

The leaders met in two secret meetings. At the second one they debated a draft produced by the Commonwealth secretary-riat which covered suggestions from both the Africans, who have demanded tough action, and the British, who counselled moderation.

They discussed Rhodesia again informally Tuesday night. Between times they discussed world affairs and another thorny topic, the India-Pakistan dispute over Kashmir, came up briefly and Australia's Prime Minister Holt strongly condemned China.

Wilson, pressing for adoption of a moderate stand, gave up his post as chairman of the conference during a 90-minute review of world problems to devote himself to consultations on Rhodesia.

Other prime ministers and heads of delegations also absented themselves from time to time to concentrate on Rhodesia.

Canada's Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary-general, said delegates will go into restricted session this morning—with only heads of delegation and one assistant in the room—to resume discussion on Rhodesia.

MIGHT BE EXTENDED

Although the conference devoted some time a review of world problems, many delegates still had not spoken when the day's session adjourned. The possibility was growing that the conference might extend beyond the scheduled Thursday adjournment.

The major issue continued to be the African demand for majority rule in Rhodesia before the colony is granted independence.

Wilson has insisted such a commitment would kill any chance for negotiating an end to the Rhodesian rebellion.

The Africans, with some Asian and Caribbean support, also demanded mandatory economic sanctions, if not force.

Wilson budgeted minimally Monday, with a pledge to con-reception and seafood luncheon at the summer home of Lt. Col. J.D. Stewart at Cavendish.

The Summerside town council was host for a reception and acting-mayor Grant Mollison welcomed the visitors.

Included in the delegation are the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Obeyesekere, Ceylon; Jack Nivison, Isle of Man; Hon. Mrs. Ethel Wilson, Alberta; Sir Stephen McAdden, United Kingdom; W.H. Hamilton, United Kingdom; Senator T.L. Bull, Australia; Enche Lim Joo Keng, Malaysia; Hon. Sherif M. Dibba, Gambia; R. Genidion, Harold Smith, P.E.I.; Reid Scott, Canada; Eugene Whelan, Hon. J. Angus MacLean, P.E.I.; David MacDonald, MP for Prince; Hon. Donald Morrow, Ontario; Charles de Salaberry, tour coordinator; Mile. Lise Quimet, tour assistant; and W.J. Gunther, finance officer.
