

ARCHITECT'S VIEW OF NEW S'SIDE CHURCH

As it will be several months yet before the new St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church in Summerside is completed, the architect Peter A. MacNeill of Charlottetown has provided a drawing of what the church will look like when finished next year. The construction is progressing favorably with brick now being laid on the sides and south end of the building. The work is being done by the Ouelion Construction Company of Campbellton, N.B.

NO ARMS TO CUBA

He was answering questions about Cuba's request that Britain supply jet fighters in exchange for obsolete piston-engined aircraft, and about press reports connected with this.

D. MacLeod, Rev. W. A. Paterson, Rev. W. I. MacDonald, Rev. J. M. Sheen, Rev. Alexander MacDowall and Rev. Norman R. Green.

In the evening, Campbellton was filled to capacity for a most inspiring service. The history of this congregation goes back more than 100 years. "Moments of Truth" was the theme of Mr. MacLeod's sermon. In a graphic way he drew upon scenes and experiences of his recent trip to Europe, warning about each one a miniature sermon.

Again at this service, Miss Bryan gave generously of her singing talent. The organist was Mrs. Harry Thompson.
