Some job description, eh?
 Forty bucks walking around money. Spending your working hours listening to the wretched pour out their misery.

Our customers cut through every stratum of society. Our territory is all over: prisons, tough bars, squalid rooms jammed with families of five, broadloomed suburban living rooms jammed with everything but hope. All those folk standing in their own garbage.

Those are our people. We try to help them take the garbage and re-cycle it into something useful, rewarding and Christian.

We're helped by a decent education. By intelligence, empathy and a sense of humour. By developing a tough and gentle spirit. By having as a well-spring a rock-like faith in Christ.

Come help us help others to help themselves. It's an extraordinary life for the right kind of man.

Think about it. Then, if you'd like to hear more, write or call us.
