A "Close" Shave. "What makes my face so dry and dusty?" asked a man in one of the chairs at the hotel barber shop. "You shave too close," replied the barber. "You get down under the skin and irritate it." "Well, I have to shave close. I don't want to bother with shaving every day, so I get a shave every other day, and then get a good, close one." "There's no need of that," replied the barber. "There isn't so much difference between a single going over and a very close shave. After the razor has been over your face once you can still feel a fine stubble. By a second or third scraping you can get the face feeling perfectly smooth. But in three hours' time the beard has grown out to where it was after the first going over. What I mean is that you save only about three hours by getting what we call a 'close' shave, and for a man who shaves every other day that isn't much of an advantage. Besides it irritates the face and is liable to make the skin hard and scaly. A man who shaves himself simply goes over his face once. But in a barber shop the customer thinks he is not getting the worth of his money unless the barber scrapes for about ten minutes to get rid of that extra three hours' growth of beard." —Chicago Tribune.

A Chicago Solomon. Justice of the Peace Bonnetot is known in Chicago as the "North Side Solomon." Two neighbors had quarreled over the ownership of a mongrel dog. There had been several continuances, witnesses had been sworn and countersworn, and lawyers had wrangled until the justice and the spectators as well were all mixed as to the nature of the original proposition. Toward the close of a wordy session, a butcher's boy, who had stolen into the court with a basket of fresh meat for his employer's customers, started to leave the room. The dog, which had been tied to a leg of the justice's desk, smelled the meat, gave a tug that broke the string and bounded down the stairs after the butcher's boy. The crowd was on the point of rushing out to capture the fugitive dog, when Bonnetot sang out: "Hold on there! If anybody leaves the room, I'll fine him for contempt of court. Let that tam dog go." And the dog went, and went so well that the litigants failed to recover him, and the case was dropped. —San Francisco Argonaut.

A Novel Mousetrap. This is a story of how a sewing machine became a mousetrap. Miss Boucher of Federal street, below Seventh, is particularly fond of cake and has gotten into the habit of eating it while running her sewing machine. Every night she would leave some under the lid. For the past few mornings she has been missing much of her cake and naturally blamed her little brother for taking it. Her brother, however, always resented the charge and declared his innocence. The other night Miss Boucher left quite a large quantity of cake on the machine and concealed herself to watch the thief. When everything was quiet, she heard a scratching noise, and then she saw a very small mouse climbing up the strap of the machine which connects the lower wheel with the upper one. The first mouse had hardly disappeared through the small hole through which the strap is run when another appeared and followed its predecessor. The performance was repeated six times by as many mice. Miss Boucher hastily plugged up the hole through which the little thieves had entered, and, with the assistance of her brother, carried the machine into the kitchen. Five cats were quickly obtained from willing neighbors, and the lid was lifted. Only one mouse escaped. —Philadelphia Record.

Work by Artificial Light. Many persons experience great fatigue in working and reading by artificial light. Some attention has been given to this subject, especially in view of reading and study, and the type, paper and illumination most favorable to comfort and health. White light is recommended for all artificial illumination. One should never read at a lower degree of light than ordinary daylight. Very low intensities cause eye strain and weakness, which may result in exceedingly severe and even dangerous mental and physical conditions. It is now an established fact that epilepsy is sometimes caused by eye strain. There are also many other maladies that are primarily caused and greatly aggravated by bad light while using the eyes. Some authorities recommend white paper. Others, notably experienced journalists, insist that straw colored paper and black ink are less taxing to the eyes than white paper. —New York Ledger.

Sometimes. A well known humorist is fond of telling this story of his small daughter. At the dinner table one day there was a party of guests for whom he was doing his best in the way of entertainment. A lady turned to the little girl: "Your father is a very funny man," said she. "Yes," responded the child, "when we have company." — Pick Me Up.

William C. Ussery, M. D., of St. Louis, says that the best food for those suffering from typhoid fever is the banana.

Child Marriages in India. In India there are 100,000 boys and 627,000 girls under the age of 14 who are legally married, while 8,000 boys and 24,000 girls who have not attained the age of 4 are under marriage bonds as arranged by their parents.

His Explanation. "I wonder," he said musingly, "why it is that girls wear bloomers." "I know," yelled her small brother. "Willie!" she exclaimed, half threateningly and half pleadingly. "Why?" asked the caller with evident amusement. "Cause they won't admit they're old enough to get into long pants," answered Willie. —Chicago Post.

As Good as Gold. Is the friend that stands up in an emergency. "QUICKCURE" is The Great Emergency Remedy. Many of the best known people in the land testify to its efficiency. It promptly cures Toothache and all pain. (Quickly allays inflammation. Wherever the skin is cut, bruised, burned, inflamed or diseased in any form "Quickcure" will do its wonderful work. Dr. E. B. Ibbotson, Major Royal Scots, Montreal, and Commandant of Disley Team in 1894, writes: "'Quickcure' is a treasure, and does just what you say for it; when it is known every household will have it. It is worth its weight in gold to parents, who should keep it in the house for emergencies such as toothache, burns, cuts, etc.

IT IS FREE. Our booklet, "Paint Points," will help you in deciding what is the proper paint to use for your cupboards, baseboards, shelves, floors, buggies, wagons, boats, farm implements, barns, fences, chairs, houses—in fact, anything that can be painted. There are great differences in paints. Some give a bright, glossy finish, others an oil finish that can be washed. The secret of painting is to know the right paint for your purpose, then use it. The old zinc bath tub is an eye sore. You can make it look like porcelain, and wear like porcelain if you use THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS BATH ENAMEL. "Paint Points" tells what you want to know about paint. Tells the good and the bad points about good and bad paint. Tells about the brushes to use, and how to take care of them. THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS are made for every purpose, not one paint for all purposes. Send for the booklet to-day—it is free. For booklet, address 19 St. Antoine Street, Montreal.
