Civil Defense Program Well Under Way In PEI

Altogether about 50 Prince Edward Island communities have been surveyed and committees named to co-ordinate civil defense. It was announced yesterday by Hon. J. Wilfrid Arsenault, Provincial Secretary and Minister in charge of civil defense.

Practically every town and village as well as a number of smaller communities have been visited by Mr. Peter W. Pate of O'Leary who is conducting the work. Besides organizing committees, Mr. Pate has inspected buildings which could be used to house evacuees from other Provinces in case of a national emergency. Fire equipment has also been catalogued and other vital services listed.

Wednesday Mr. Pate was in Charlottetown en route from the eastern part of the Island to Tryon, Crapaud and Victoria. Last night he spoke at a meeting of the Alton Canadian Legion.

On Monday and Tuesday he was in Georgetown, Montague and Cardigan and also organized a committee in Lorne Valley. He met with Mayor P. L. Boudreau in Georgetown, Mayor W. H. Lane in Montague and John A. MacDonald in Cardigan.

A joint meeting of the Cardigan and Georgetown committees will be held in Georgetown on Wednesday, Dec. 13 at which Mr. Pate will outline the program mapped out for civil defense in this Province.

Turk Broda Gets Credit

MONTREAL, Dec. 7 — (CP) — National Hockey League records today showed that goalie Turk Broda and Al Rollins together have played in more games this season than their club, Toronto Maple Leafs.

The mathematical puzzle came out of that scoreless tie last Saturday between Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks. What's more, Broda gets the credit for the shutout, from the Toronto side.

It happened that Thin Man Rollins was out by a flying puck at 6:50 of the second period. Fat Man Broda came on and finished out the game.

Since Broda played 33 minutes and 10 seconds compared with Rollins' 26 minutes and 50 seconds, the statistics compilers at the N. H. L. awarded the shutout to Broda—he served a longer period of play.

Brownie News.

The Brownies of St. James are doing splendid work with their new Leaders Mrs. Ian Burnett and Mrs. Morton Dew introducing lots of fun and new ideas. It is only a small Pack as yet and new Brownies will be gladly welcomed. Tweenies passing the first test were, Carolyn Owen, Brenda Large, Pamela Stewart, and Louanne Nicholson. Pasty Shaw, Katherine Campbell and Suzanne Shaw passed Golden Bar tests also Barbara Kennedy. I almost forgot you Barbara. A game introducing good posture was conducted by Mrs. Dew and caused a lot of enthusiasm and some spilled milk. This Pack is all out to achieve results this year and we shall be hearing more about them later.

Parkdale Brownies

The largest achievement so far this year has been reached by our Parkdale Pack. Four Golden Hand Brownies isn't that wonderful. They have been working very hard to get this First Class award and they have really earned it. Who are they? Dianne Dixon, Joycelyn Stewart, Fay Hickox and Brenda McKay. We must not forget to thank the Leaders for their training and also the mothers who cooperated to make them First Class in all ways.

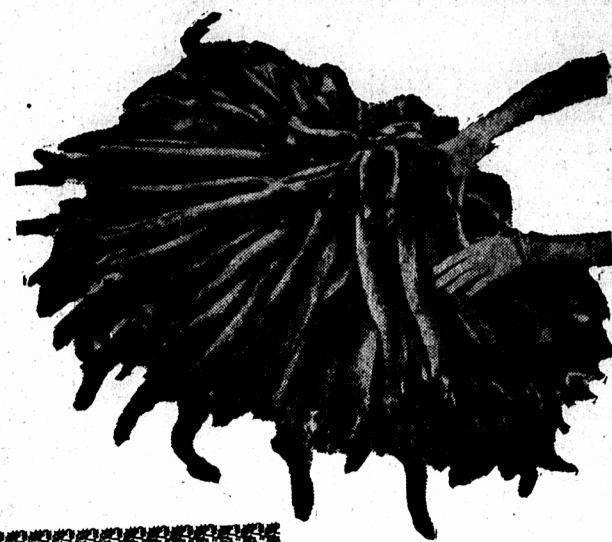

If all the tests are anything to go by, these little girls must be the most helpful and courteous ones on P.E.I. They also will be receiving their Thrift Badges very soon and the collectors will be started also. Gwen O'Brien completed the Golden Bar and Carol McKay, Alberta Murphy, Jeannette Connolly and Florence Gormley passed some of the work successfully. It was a work day for the Brownies but Tawny Owl, Mrs. McKay, did manage to sandwich in a story while the Golden Hand Brownies conducted two singing games with the correct rhythm. The enthusiasm of this pack is really tremendous and reflects much credit on Brown Owl, Mrs. Ivan Vessey and Tawny Owl, Mrs. McKay.

Holding Muster Pay Parades For Reserve Forces

Two Canadian Army soldiers, Captain J. R. B. Rankin and Sergeant R. Paddock, both of Eastern Command Headquarters, Halifax, are in Charlottetown this week making out what is probably the longest Christmas gift list in Prince Edward Island. They are holding muster parades for all Reserve Force units on the Island and checking off the names of every Reserve Force soldier so that all may be paid before Christmas.

Starting last Monday, Captain Rankin and Sergeant Paddock visited the 21st Field Ambulance, RCAMC, and the 5th Signal Regiment, RCSS. On Tuesday, they held parades for the St. Dunstan's University Contingent, COTC, HQ 21st Armoured Brigade and for "C" Squadron, Prince Edward Island Regiment located at Summerside. By the end of the week they will have visited "E" Troop, 204 Battery, 28th Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment at Montague; Regimental Headquarters and the 14th Battery of the same unit in Charlottetown; "F" Troop of 204 Battery at Souris and Headquarters and "A" and "B" Squadrons of the Prince Edward Island Regiment. It's been a busy week. So busy in fact that Captain Rankin says that when he gets insomnia now, he doesn't bother counting sheep.
