public meeting lately held near St. Andrew's—have at length found their way into print. They repeat, almost verbatim, the threadbare story about the non-fulfilment of the conditions in the original grants. There is not one new idea or argument in the whole of the documents now published. That they can do the present Government any injury, it is absurd in the extreme to suppose. The Petition for a dissolution is about the silliest thing of the lot.

CIVIC ELECTIONS.

As the day approaches for the inauguration of our first Municipal Government, the number of candidates for civic honors greatly increases, while the candidates themselves redouble their zeal and activity in soliciting the suffrages of their fellow-citizens. It appears that in every Ward of the City there will be a contest for the office of Common Councillor. We give below the names of the respective candidates, as far as our information of them extends. If we have omitted any, it is through want of sufficient information, and we will cheerfully supply the omission, if pointed out:—

FOR MAYOR:

T. Heath Haviland and Robert Hutchinson, Esquires.

FOR COUNCILMEN:

Ward No. 1.—Messrs. Arthur O'Neill, James Anderson and James Duncan.

Ward No. 2.—Messrs. Donald McIsaac, John Coll Macdonald and Neil Rankin.

Ward No. 3.—Messrs. Silas Barnard, A. G. Sims and J. McLellan.

Ward No. 4.—Messrs. N. Brown, H. W. Lobban, David Stewart, Thomas Dodd, J. Williams and G. Beer.

Ward No. 5.—Several candidates are spoken of for this Ward, but none have yet signified their desire for election, if we except Mr. H. B. Smith.

☞ The Colonial and United States Mails which arrived here on Friday last brought the gratifying intelligence, which came by the electric telegraph from New York, that the loss of the British troops, in the recent encounters in the Crimea, had not been near so great as at first reported. It has now been correctly ascertained, we understand, that the loss of the British was 1300, and that of the French 3000. Lord Raglan is reported as dangerously ill, and as having applied to be removed from the command.

TWO WEEKS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ENCOURAGING MINING NEWS.—GREAT FIRE AT SAN FRANCISCO.

The steamer Star of the West, from San Juan, arrived at New York on Sunday last, with $625,000 in specie and 500 passengers. Her dates are to the 1st inst.

The Star of the West left at San Juan the French Frigate Acheron, said to be awaiting the arrival of the Kinney Expedition.

The Municipal election of San Francisco took place on the 28th ult., and resulted in the election of James Van Ness, Democrat, as Mayor, and four K. N. Aldermen.

The mining news from the state is of the most encouraging kind, and it is thought that at no previous time in the history of the state has the yield of gold been as great as at present.

The entire block of buildings, bounded by Davis, Front, Commerical, and Sacramento streets, San Francisco, was destroyed by fire. Loss estimated at $75,000.

40,327 ounces of gold were deposited in the branch of the mint at San Francisco, during eight days, from the 8th of May.

The reported defalcation of Angus Fnerson, of Wells, Fargo & Co's Banking House, proves to be correct. His deficits amount to $179,000.

The affairs of Adams & Co. are now before the Court, and it has been decided that they are entitled to no benefit of the Insolvent law.

The dates from the Sandwich Islands are to May 5th, but the news is unimportant.

At a general meeting of the creditors of Page, Bacon & Co., on the 29th, Mr. C. K. Garrison pledged himself in the sum of $400,000 to support the House by way of securing creditors and staying further legal proceedings. The proposition gave very general satisfaction, and the creditors are looking forward with a renewed hope of being finally indemnified.

The papers contain accounts of an unusual number of big strikes among the miners, and the usual record of crime in different parts of the State.

LATER.—The steamer George Law arrived at New York on Monday, with California dates to the 2d inst. She brings $1,052 000 in treasure and 714 passengers.

The California papers contain but little additional news of interest.

The gold mines of San Francisco del Oro, back of Acapulco, are exciting some attention.

The difficulties between the American Consul at San Juan del Sud and the Government had been settled, without the interference of the U. S. sloop-of-war St. Mary's.

The gambling law went into operation on the 17th May, when all the gambling saloons in the State were shut up.

The great nugget of gold which has been on exhibition at the banking institution of James King, has been melted down, and nets the owner $8,829,28.

At Lewiston lately were discovered buried in the earth seven skeletons in a sitting posture, supposed to be the remains of those killed in a fight with the Indians on the spot near two hundred years ago. Around the neck of one was a necklace of fifteen or twenty copper links, strung on a cord which seemed to be made of hide, but yet so tough that the strength of man could not break it.

COMMERCIAL MATTERS IN CALIFORNIA.—An intelligent correspondent writing from San Francisco gives the following brief but comprehensive account of commercial affairs:—

"California continues in the same very unsatisfactory state of depression in commercial affairs as per previous advices. Within the last two months many vessels have loaded in our harbour with staple goods, and shipped to various parts of the globe—several to New York.—Our great trouble here is that everybody that has anything to do with California overtrades; expecting that our little State of California, with half a million inhabitants, just because it produces gold, must necessarily consume, if not quite equal to New York, very nearly as much. We are living in hopes that eastern merchants will sometime or other cease to think that California is all the world, and will temper our markets accordingly. There is no state in the Union that ought to be in so good condition as this.—At present we know of no one so near bankrupting. We shall see!"

THE MYSTERIOUS DISEASE IN N. YORK.

We are informed by the New York Post that the disease which has attracted some attention lately in that city, from the peculiarity of its symptoms, the rapidity of its course and its fatal results, is now said to be a disease known among the medical men as the pustule maligne or charbon; a full account of which the Post has gleaned from a paper recently prepared by Dr. Wainwright, son of the late Bishop of that Diocese. It is described as a gangrenous inflammation of the skin, involving, more or less deeply, the subcutaneous arcolo tissue. The part where this disease generally appears is either on the face or neck, though it may attack any other part of the body. It often shows itself on the labia of children; and what is called spontaneous gangrene is in many cases a veritable Pustule Maligne.

The duration of this disease is generally from three to nine days, yet it may prove fatal in less than forty-eight and even twenty-four hours.

Dr. Wainwright's paper, all of which is full of instructions and interest, closes with an account of two recent cases which occurred in New York:

First.—Mrs. S., the mother of a family, had been subject to attacks of nervous headache, otherwise had enjoyed good health.—"For two or three days previous to the appearance of this disease she had been confined to her bed with a severe attack of influenza. She was able, however, on Thursday, October 4th, to go out. It was on this day that she first noticed a small pimple on the left of the centre of the under lip. She said nothing about it, supposing it to be a mere trifle."

The disease continued to advance, though not rapidly. On Sunday morning, having risen, she was compelled to retire again.—"The pain had extended over the whole scalp, and down the back of the neck, and was so constant and severe that her mind began to wander,—and so decidedly worse was she getting, as to induce a closer inquiry as to the seat and cause of the pain, when it was very clearly traceable to the pimple on the under lip, which had become enlarged to about the size of a large pea, hard, of a purple color, and from the centre a slight watery discharge issued. The sensation was that of constant shooting pains of the most intense character from this pimple over the whole face, head and neck, even down to the breast; and what was equally remarkable, great prostration of the vital energies.

"At this stage of the case, Dr. Hosack was called, and at once recognized it as Pustule Maligne. As it was then midnight, he deferred operating. All the symptoms had greatly aggravated by morning, which induced him to operate at once."

"He made a crucial incision of about eight lines by six."

"After the bleeding ceased, which, however, was kept up by the application of a warm poultice, the wound was dressed with a stimulating ointment, so as to keep up a free suppuration for two or three days. When this ceased, the wound was drawn together with adhesive straps, and healed with little or no trace of the incision.

"The true character of the disease was clearly shown by the appearance of the incised surfaces."

Second.—H., a young man, 26 years of age, on Wednesday morning, October 17th, 1854, observed a small vesicle on the upper lip, which he opened, and from that time he began to experience great pain in and around the tumor. The disease continued rapidly to increase, and the shooting pains were so severe that he was not able to sleep that night. On Thursday morning he took a dose of medicine, but without any relief, and in the afternoon his state so alarmed the family, that they sent for Dr. Hosack; and in two or three hours after, when I went with him to assist at the operation, the tubercle upon the upper lip had enlarged to about the size of a small grape, rendering speaking difficult; at the centre it was of a dark color, and there was a slight discharge of sanies from a small opening at the apex. The tumor was freely divided, and the sides of the incision presented in a marked degree the honey-combed appearance of which I have before spoken. This case was treated as were the others, and the patient, in about ten days from the time of the attack, was perfectly well.

EDUCATION OF CHILDREN IN OHIO.—Mr. H. H. Barney, State Commissioner of Schools, states in his annual report that the total amount of funds and property appropriated to the purposes of education in Ohio, during the year 1854, is $2,266,457 12.

The enumeration of youth of the school age, as certified by the County Auditors, furnish an aggregate of $16,408, or 4,451 more than for 1853.

The number of schoolhouses in the State is about 10,300, estimated to be worth $3,704,720. Of these 770 have been constructed during the past year, at a cost of $346,944, being an average of $451. The amount paid to teachers is set down at $1,364,431 31.

The Milwaukie Wisconsin of June 9th says, there are stored in the warehouses in that City 175,000 bushels of wheat. The shipments during the past week had exceeded the receipts only about 15,000, which accounts for this large storage.

The project of introducing camels for the overland route to California some time since received the sanction of the U. S. Government; but latest advices state that the idea has been acted upon, that an expedition has been organized, and is about to sail from New York. Lieut. D. D. Porter, U. S. Navy, has command of the ship which is to transport the camels and stores; and we believe Major Wayne, of the army, is in charge of the party which is to procure the animals.

Flour is offered in the New York markets for delivery in July and August at less than $9 a barrel, without finding a purchaser.—Boston Transcript.

NEW BRUNSWICK ELOQUENCE ABROAD.

The following expressions appear in the New York Daily Times, in the speech of the Hon. Mr. Tilley, when addressing the Sons of Temperance at the Tabernacle, on his late visit to that city:—

"He felt like an old horse, accustomed to the invarying rounds of the bark mill, let loose on a three mile course. If he bolted he hoped they would deal indulgently with him, and apply the whip lightly."

Again, when speaking of the anti-temperance party in New Brunswick, and the petition they had forwarded to the Queen, he is reported to have "illustrated this opposition of the anti-temperance party, by relating the remarkable conduct of a certain old gander, who seeing his respectable female companion employed in incubation, thought he should do something too, scraped up several pieces of crockery and loose straw, and actually set down with the hope to do something himself."

We hope Mr. Tilley was incorrectly reported, for if the report is correct, what opinion must the New Yorkers form of New Brunswick, when one of the first officers of the Crown expresses himself in such low style.—Fredericton Hd. Quar.

DECLINE AND FALL OF TORY-MINISTERIAL JOURNALS.—We recently announced the suspension of the Tory-Ministerial Journal La Patrie. Another Montreal Tory-Ministerial Journal is dropped. This makes two Tory-Ministerial Journals dropped in Montreal in the short space of six weeks. The air of the City and District of Montreal is decidedly unfavorable to Tory-Ministerial Journals. There are two more Journals of the same class in the same City, one French and the other English, that exhibit symptoms of the same incurable malady that carried La Patrie and the Sun to the tomb; they have already lost their color, and are as yellow as leaves in autumn. It is to be feared they will shortly succumb.—Canada Paper.

ALLEGED BRITISH RECRUITING OFFICERS ARRESTED.—Baron Frederick E. M. Von Carstenan, a Captain in the English service in Canada, Count De Bongarde, formerly a General in the French service under Napoleon, Mr. Maximilian Augustus Thomson, and Lieut. Peter Jorganson, of the English army, were arrested yesterday, upon warrants issued by the U. S. Commissioner, wherein they stand charged with enlisting recruits for the British army. They were committed for examination, but were subsequently liberated upon bail.

MURDER OFF THE COAST OF NEWFOUNDLAND.—We regret to announce a case of murder which has lately taken place at sea, on board an American fishing vessel on our western coast. It appears that on the 14th instant two of the crew of this vessel (of whom an American named Peter Cremmell was one) having got into a scuffle, and a third called Blundell, also an American, having interposed to make peace, Cremmell instantly stabbed Blundell with a clasp-knife, and thus terminated the unfortunate man's existence.—Cremmell was landed at Placentia by the Captain and handed over to the magistrate, Mr. Bradshaw, by whom he was sent on in custody here, where he arrived on Saturday evening. He was of course immediately lodged in Signal Hill Goal.—An inquest was held at Placentia, where also deceased was interred.

A NOTED CRIMINAL.—During the last two years our readers will remember to have read "considerable" of a female of notoriety—one Mrs. Henrietta Robinson—charged, at sundry times and in divers places, of arson, poisoning, murder, and such like.

The said Hearietta displayed, on the several occasions, no small amount of self-possession, (a Yankee editor would say "cheek"). We learn from a Troy exchange that this petticoat demon, caught at last, is to be hanged on the third day of August next, having been convicted of her seventh murder, the victim being one Timothy Flannigan. At the conclusion of the sentence, when the judge commended her soul to God's mercy, she told him he had better pray for his own soul, declaring that she was the victim of a political conspiracy which was calculated to crush a man. She was about to say something more, when her counsel desired her to remain quiet. When about to leave the court-room, she turned, and pointing her finger towards Judge Harris, solemnly exclaimed, Judge Harris, may the Judge of Judges be your Judge—considerable excitement was manifested by the spectators during the time occupied in passing the sentence.

LOSSES OF THE FRENCH ARMY IN THE CRIMEA.—The Paris correspondent of the London Times states, on authority of official information, that the number of French troops in the Crimea, from the commencement of the war, is 182,000, of which number 120,000 are now effective, sous les armes. The loss subsequently is 62,000.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM INJURY BY LIGHTNING.—During the heavy storm on Thursday, the 28th ult., which was accompanied with terrific lightning, the electric fluid struck the dwelling house of Mr. John Tremer, North Wiltshire, and descended to the earth apparently by two routes. In the one case, it passed down a brick flue, stove-pipe and stove, tearing all to pieces in its road, ran across a room, burning the carpet up in its track, and burst out the end of the house, destroying the cellar hatch. In the other, it shivered one of the rafters to splinters, and descending into the apartment where the family were assembled, struck the mistress of the house on the left shoulder and laid her prostrate and senseless on the floor; after some time she was restored to consciousness and gradually recovered. Providentially no other injury was effected.—Has. Gaz.

CIVIC ELECTIONS.

To the Electors of the fourth Ward of Charlottetown.

GENTLEMEN;—Observing myself nominated for the Office of Common Councilman, at a meeting held at Mr. Hobb's a few evenings since, and from the truly liberal support on my recent canvass of the District or Ward, I shall most certainly respond to the call—and if elected, I hope to be found the Merchant's friend, Mechanic's guardian, and poor man's helper, by endeavouring to suppress anything like heavy taxation. I believe I am known to you all, and if you think my services are worthy of the high honor now sought for, I shall feel grateful for your support at the ensuing Election.

Yours faithfully,

H. W. LOBBAN.

Charlottetown, 9th July. (Isl)

To the Electors of No. 4 Ward.

GENTLEMEN;—An Act having been passed incorporating the Town, by which two Common Councilmen are to be appointed for each Ward, I offer myself (at the request of several of the Electors) as a Candidate. Having resided in a Corporate Town for some years, I feel myself competent to undertake the office, and, if elected, I pledge myself to exert the utmost of my ability to carry out the Act with as little cost to the rate payers as possible.

An impression has gone abroad and been circulated, evidently with the object of injuring me in my canvass, that I am not duly qualified to act as a Common Councilman, not having resided twelve months in the city. This is incorrect. The 8th section of the Act states, "that no person be qualified to be elected a Councillor who shall not be seized or possessed of freehold or leasehold property, or both, situate in the said city, to the amount of two hundred pounds, or who shall not be in the possession, use or occupation of premises in the City, of the yearly rent of, or assessed at, forty pounds per annum." I occupy premises of the yearly value of £40, and as it is not specified in such clause that such person shall have held such property for a specified time, I am perfectly qualified. In this I am borne out by the opinion of one of our leading Barristers.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

Charlottetown, July 7. NICHOLAS BROWN.
