SAFE MILK
 NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times says in a dispatch from Knoxville, Tenn, that milk can be made safe as a source of calcium by a process that removes strontium-90, a by-product of nuclear fallout. The Times says a research team of the University of Tennessee and the atomic energy commission reports that it has demonstrated the possibility of removing up to 94 per cent of radioactive strontium-90 from milk. The process is not ready for commercial use, the research team adds.
