Reports School Sanitation Shows Big Improvement

In the space of just three years Prince Edward Island has moved from last place in the Dominion to second place in the matter of school sanitation, according to information received last night from Mr. Robert E. Dent, of the Canadian Sanitation Company, Dundas, Ont.

Mr. Dent, who is an annual visitor to the Province is presently a guest of The Charlottetown. He stated that he change in rural school sanitation is due mainly to the efforts of Premier J. Walter Jones, Minister of Education, and the Women's Institutes. The latter organization, he said, has done much in the matter of providing school toilet facilities for the children and are to be commended for their efforts.

He believes that the progress made in this Province is remarkable considering the short period of time in which officials and organizations have become interested in the problem.

On return they will reside at Travellers Rest where the groom is a successful farmer. The bride is on the office staff of R. T. Holman Ltd.—S.

Ukrainian Immigrant Sentenced To Hang

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 28 (CP)—George Gregor Hladky, 35-year-old Ukrainian immigrant, was sentenced to be hanged Dec. 9 by Mr. Justice D. R. J. Kelly in assize court Saturday for the murder July 26 of another immigrant, Josef Panok.

Panok's body, trussed around the neck with rope, and with two railway plates weighing 20 pounds each wired to the neck and feet, was found floating in the McIntyre River here Aug. 8. Hladky had known Panok 34, and his wife, Margaret, in Germany since 1948, and had helped to bring the family to Canada.

Mrs. Panok, key crown witness, told the four-day trial that Hladky admitted to her he had killed her husband and thrown his body into the river. She did not report it to police, she said, because Hladky threatened to get rid of her too.

Defence counsel Hugh Cunningham of Port Arthur claimed that provocation led to the crime. He cited one of three statements Hladky gave police in which the accused said Panok grabbed him from behind with a piece of rope the night of July 26 when the two men were gathering grain from railway cars in a remote section of Fort William.

Former Dumbells Star Dies Of Heart Attack

TORONTO, Sept. 28 (CP)—Red Newman, who rolled theatre audiences in the 20s in the aisles with his characterization of a feathery First World War infantryman, died Friday of a heart attack. He was 67.

Newman, a star with the Dumbells theatrical troupe during 10 successful years, operated a resort hotel at Wasaga Beach, where he was stricken.

Red (his given name was Albert Edward) but no one used them) made thousands laugh with his song "Oh It's A Lovely War" when the Dumbells, outgrowth of a 3rd Division concert party, played across Canada to packed theatres and appeared briefly on Broadway.

When he came on stage with web gear askew, puttees undone, and red wig sticking out under a battered helmet, audiences cheered just to see him. When he started "Up to your waist in slush" there were lumps in the throat.

With Mer, Al and Morley Plunkett, Ross Hamilton (as Marjorie, the belle of the Dumbells), Pat Rafferty, Jack Newman and the rest, Newman played in dozens of cities and towns during the Dumbells' golden years.

Their show died when vaudeville died and was revived only in the movies.

SASKATOON, Sept. 28 (CP)—William Donoh, who drank some beer while standing up in a beer parlor, Saturday was fined $100 minimum with the alternative of 45 days in jail.

The Saskatchewan Liquor Act stipulates that a person must be seated at a table to drink beer in a beer parlor.

Acting-Magistrate J. M. Goldenberg refused to assess the $3.30 in court costs, gave Doreen 20 days to raise the fine and sent a copy of his written judgment to the Attorney-General who has the power to remit part of the fine.

His judgment said in part: "I am faced with the possibility that I will send this man to jail for 45 days for what cannot be described otherwise than a very petty offence. That strikes me as a punishment that is much more severe than the offence calls for."
