THE DAILY EXAMINER

FEBRUARY 22, 1900

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—A correspondent at the front reports that, despite the heat and dust, and the weight of the kit, the health and spirits of the British troops are remarkable. Very few cases of men suffering from footsores on account of the march are reported from the hospitals.

—The Montreal Gazette of the 19th, reports Attorney-General McKinnon as having said that "he is going home to Charlottetown with the (bridge) contract in his pocket." Let us see. Wern't the people of Belfast and Murray Harbour assured that the contract was made last fall,—previous to the bye-elections?

—The death of Mrs. Cameron is one of the sad events which pass man's understanding. A few days ago she was youthful and full of life and health; now her spirit has departed and her body lies ready for the grave. To say that we deeply sympathize with Captain Cameron and his little ones, as well as with all the bereaved relatives, is but a feeble expression of the feeling of THE EXAMINER and the community; and yet it is all that we can say now.

—The Parliamentary correspondent of the St. John Sun (Mr. S. D. Scott) reports that "Mr. Bell of Prince Edward Island, who was the last speaker gave as the reason for his taking the floor the explanation that if he did not speak the attitude of P. E. Island might be misunderstood. Having thus shown his scant confidence and that of his province in the Minister of Marine, Mr. Bell discussed at considerable length and with obvious profundity the various problems that present themselves in the Transvaal."

—The correspondent of the London Standard states that the death of Captain C. A. Hensley, whose relatives reside in Halifax, is particularly regretted in his regiment, the Dublin Fusiliers. The correspondent states that Captain Hensley knew not what fear was. He was loved and admired by his men. He further explains how the young officer met his fate. It was at Venter's Spruit on January 20th. During a lull in the fighting he was standing up trying to locate a trench with the aid of his field glasses, when he was mortally wounded, the bullet entering just over his eye. He was hurried to the field hospital at Fairview, where he succumbed. He lies buried with others of his rank in a green field below Three Tree hill.

Bargain week at the big store; don't forget it, 28c sheeing 16c; 14c cotton 8c; 9c flannelette 5c; this week—Prowse Bros.

SEE the new City Council at the Carnival Friday night. There will be a much larger number of skaters than have taken part for years. Some of the costumes are magnificent, and some are comical.

HIGH VERSUS LOW AVERAGES.

Sir, Many factory managers have published a summary of the business transacted at their dairy stations during the past season. These statements are interesting, and we are sorry that there are a number not yet reported. After a careful study of those already coming under our observation we are forcibly impressed with the fact that there is a wide variation in the quantity of milk required to make a pound of cheese. We admit that there are conditions which render a slight difference in this quantity inevitable. But as all factory managers have these conditions, favorable and unfavorable alike, we think there should be some nearer approach towards uniformity in the average last season there is practically a difference of three quarters of a pound of milk between the lowest and highest.

Now we think that 35,000,000 pounds is an under-estimate of the quantity of milk manufactured into cheese last season. But this quantity, taking the lower average of 10 pounds, will turn 3,500,000 pounds of cheese. And with the higher average of 10½ pounds we get 3,255,814 pounds of cheese, or a difference of 244,186 pounds, representing a cash value of $24,418.60. We cannot say that this amount was lost to the cheese revenue last season, but if a first class quantity of cheese can be made from an average of ten or even ten and a quarter pounds of milk, then there was a serious loss in this direction—a loss of at least $10,000.

Is the matter one of interest? To the average factory it means a difference of six or seven hundred dollars in the amount of revenue. When it is shown that the smaller average can be attained, under ordinary conditions, it becomes the duty of all cheese-makers to make an effort to reach this desirable result. But in our zeal to accomplish this great care must be exercised lest we make the serious mistake of sacrificing quality to quantity.

This matter should appeal to all engaged in the business. If they can, by a united effort, succeed in increasing the annual revenue from this source by $10,000 they should be encouraged to make that effort.

W. L. McLAREN,
 New Perth, Feb'y. 20th, 1900.

Mr. McCormac's Explanation.

Sir,—A correspondent in the last issue of THE WEEKLY EXAMINER calls attention to a problem in arithmetic given in my Educational Column dated Feb. 10th. The problem, as given in THE EXAMINER, reads as follows: "Bought 50 shares of stock, $100 each, at 80 per cent, received a dividend of 4 per cent, did I gain or lose, and how much? Answer $300 gain." "School Boy" says it puzzles him to get $300 as an answer. Well, I should say it would puzzle him. The printer omitted part of the problem, hence the misunderstanding. The following is the problem correctly stated: "Bought 50 shares of stock of $100 each, at 80 per cent; received a dividend of 4 per cent, and sold 30 shares at 90 per cent, and remainder at 70 per cent; did I gain or lose and how much?" I trust that "School Boy" will have no trouble in getting $300 as an answer to this problem, and I thank him for calling attention to the mistake.
