by a labor lawyer they are trying the impossible. John Osler of Toronto said he seriously doubts whether legislators will ever agree to such a move as long as the possibility exists of strike violence such as beatings, burnings and unruly mob scenes.

Speaking to a special Canadian Labor Congress conference on labor laws, he said the injunction "represents a form of preventive justice that, in the long run, no civilized state could afford to do without."

Mr. Osler agreed that the injunction law has been abused in Canadian labor disputes. But the efforts of labor should be aimed at modifying the law rather than the "practical impossibility" of seeking its elimination.

The two-day conference, due to wind up later today, is the result of a resolution adopted by the CLC convention in Winnipeg last April calling for a "strong and militant campaign" against injunction laws.

CLC President Claude Jodoin told the opening session Tuesday that picketing-limiting injunctions are an interference with the basic rights and freedoms of union members.

ASKS POSITIVE APPROACH

Opposition Leader In Nfld. Critical Of Bell Island Deal

ST JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Opposition Leader Gerald Ottenheimer said here today that the hopes of the people of Bell Island were falsely raised for reasons of political expediency, it is a very serious matter indeed.

Mr. Ottenheimer was commenting in an interview on an announcement Monday that Roehling Steel of West Germany had agreed to purchase a provincial offer to operate a mine at Bell Island for two years with massive government aid.

He said people had been told during the campaign for the Sept. 8 provincial election that an agreement was on Premier Smallwood's desk waiting to be signed.

"How could the agreement be ready if negotiations were not completed?"

"Undoubtedly, many if not most of the residents of Bell Island were led to expect that the German company concerned would take over operation of the mine.

"However, the next thing now is what can be done to help the people of Bell Island to secure employment and to raise their families in an atmosphere of economic security."

He said the company decision "is additional proof that long-range economic and industrial planning is necessary."

"The province of Newfoundland cannot prosper on a policy of crash programs."

MADE NEW OFFER

Mr. Smallwood, announcing the West German firm's decision at a news conference Monday, said the government made a last-minute offer Saturday to provide $1,000,000 annually to help cover losses after the Germans first indicated rejection last Friday.

The premier said he was staggered by the decision because "we had no reason whatsoever, up to Friday, even to suspect that there would not be a favorable decision by the executive committee of Roehling and then by the full board."

The West Germans were asked to re-open the mine after Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. closed down the pit June 30 after 71 years of iron mining, which provided the economic mainstay of the island of 9,000. Doaco said the ore was too poor to be marketable in today's competition.

Opening lead—jack of clubs. Let's say you have the West hand and are defending against three notrump. You lead the jack of clubs, which South wins with the ace after dummy and East follow low.

Declarer then plays the three of diamonds, on which you play low, and dummy wins the trick with the queen. South now proceeds to cash his spades and clubs, and it then becomes evident that you could have beaten the hand had you gone up with the ace of diamonds at trick two
