BEEF FOR BRITAIN.

Armours' Scheme for Daily Delivery of Fresh Meats.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The most elaborate scheme to furnish the people of Great Britain with American dressed beef that has ever been attempted has just been inaugurated by Armour and Co., the packers, in the form of a daily service of dressed beef shipments from New York to London. This service will furnish American beef to the English markets direct from refrigerator cars, without the intervention of wholesale houses or special agents.
Refrigerator space in vessels of several transatlantic steamship companies already have been engaged, and sufficient room will be chartered in this manner to furnish the daily service. Arrangements already have been made with the White Star and Cunard lines, and within a few weeks hundreds of tons of American beef will be rushed across the country to the seaboard, and from there by fast steamship to England.
Preliminary arrangements for the gigantic enterprise were completed in England several months ago by Arthur Meeker, export manager for Armour & Co, and since then the preparations for inaugurating the service have been carried on so quietly that the news has just leaked out. A number of the firm's oldest employees, both from Chicago and New York offices, have arranged to locate permanently in Great Britain, and the finishing touches to the deal are being given by J. Odgen Armour, who is now in England.

Wheat in the West.

WINNEPEG, Oct. 12.—The return of wet weather seriously retards the stacking of grain, which still stands stooked in the fields. It is feared that the grain will be impaired. It is impossible to buy No 1 hard for Fort William, although 70 cents was offered for spot wheat yesterday: No 1 Northern is worth 66 cents. For October delivery the prices are:—No 1 hard, 68½; No 1 Northern, 65½.

THE SOUDAN CAMPAIGN.

Warm Praise for the British Troops.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Sirdar's despatch recording the events of the Sudan campaign from the concentration at Nasri to the planting of the British and Egyptian flags on the ruined palace of Khartoum, near where Gordon fell, is published in the London Gazette. The despatch is introduced by one from Sir Francis Grenfell, General Commanding in Egypt, who describes the campaign as one of the most successful ever conducted by a British general against a savage foe, and as resulting in the reopening of the waterway to the equatorial provinces. The operations, says Sir Francis, were conducted with a precision and completeness beyond all praise. Never were greater results achieved at such a trifling cost. As to the charge of the 21st Lancers, Sir Francis Grenfell says it was worthy of the best traditions of the British cavalry. "As regards the force employed, I can say with truth that never in the course of my service have I seen a finer body of troops than the British contingent of cavalry, artillery, engineers, and infantry placed at the disposal of the Sirdar, as regards physique, smartness, and soldier-like bearing. The appearance of the men speaks well for the present recruiting department, and was a source of pride to every Englishman who saw them."

Kowtowed to the Union Jack.

HONG KONG, Oct. 12.—A deputation from the village of Kattinhu, a place near here, who last August refused to allow the British Commission to enter until force was threatened, waited on Mr. Smith, the acting Colonial Secretary, and presented a petition, apologising for their conduct, and pleading that the villagers acted through ignorance.
Mr. Smith admonished them, and said that their village was a marked village, and would soon come under British jurisdiction. No doubt whoever was appointed to govern the new territory would pay special attention to their education.
He concluded by ordering them to kowtow the British flag, a command with which they all complied, kneeling in line.

LET UP.—That's what the carpet man at Paton's says about the odd bits of oil suitable for oil stoves, etc., etc. He says the demand exceeds the supply. The advertising man says: "Get down on your two knees" and cut up more of those "plain old ugly patterns," that were sent you before the duty went up on foreign oils. Also don't forget to cut them the right size for under the dining-room stove, and some large enough for under the hall stove, and remember to cut the price. That's sell the goods (at the low price.) This ad. will only bring the carpet man the customers, the price and quality will do the rest.—Jas. Paton & Co.

Killed by Indians.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 12.—A special from Bomidji to the Journal says: "Joseph Gould, formerly an Indian trader and of late a farmer, was murdered Saturday night near the Leech lake dam. It is believed that the crime was the deed of hostile Indians, whose illwill Gould had incurred in his operations. He claimed to be a cousin of Jay Gould."

HIS NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

THE EXODUS.—The exodus of our young men and women to the United States, about which the Grits when in opposition kept up such a continual howl, is still going on notwithstanding the change of government that took place at the last Dominion election. Whole settlements are not becoming depopulated, as was stated on the floor of the House by the exaggerated Mr. Davies, but the truth remains that many are leaving our shores in search of employment that cannot be obtained at home. And what are the Grits, who are now in power, going to do about it? Free trade has been abandoned as a catchword for the unwary. Like many another cry it has seen its day among the political humbugs who promised so many things when fighting to get in. Now that they are in, the promises are forgotten. The people, however, will hold them to a strict account when the day of reckoning comes.

BURNS.

(The National Republican, Washington D. C.)
The reader seems to have caught the poet's true meaning, and the poems, were delivered with a ring and energy that moved her audience, and evoked frequent bursts of applause. Her delivery is wonderfully clear and accurate, while her manner is taking and effective.
Miss Jean Howison will lecture on Burns on Friday night at the Opera House. Tickets on sale at Paton & Co's.

The French and Fashoda.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The comments in public and in the newspapers show that the Marquis of Salisbury's determined stand on the question of the occupation of Fashoda has come as a most agreeable relief, and as disposing of all the stories of a possible compromise. No whisper of dissent is heard anywhere. Both friends and opponents of the Premier are rejoicing at the fact that, in publishing the bluebook on the Fashoda question, he has burned his bridges behind him. While it is recognized that the situation, by this publication, has become more difficult for France, there is almost an entire absence of disposition anywhere to believe that France proposes to press her claims to the point of danger. This confidence was demonstrated by the tone of the London Stock Exchange after a momentary scare, and such comment as comes from Paris also tends to abate alarm.
A prominent member of the French Embassy in London expressed the following views on the situation this evening:—"The advent of the French and British on the Upper Nile ought not to be regarded as the meeting of opposing policies, which necessarily exclude one another, but as the clash of commercial interests, which should be carefully defined and embodied in a permanent agreement. War, which has not been provoked by the question of Egypt, will certainly not break out over the Upper Nile question. The issues at Fashoda will be settled in a friendly manner, to the general satisfaction; but an agreement will be much more easily reached when the newspapers of the two countries cease exciting public opinion."

A PHARMACY LAW.

SIR,—I am heartily in accord with the sentiments of "Temperance" in your issue of last night. In all the other Provinces of the Dominion, as well as every State in the United States, and in fact throughout the whole of the civilized world—except P. E. Island—a good Pharmacy Law is in force which is for the protection of the people, not the druggist, as is generally supposed. If such a law is good for the rest of the world, ought it not to be good for us here, and if good why should we not have it?
The "rum shops in disguise" is a good point well taken. The saloons of the city are required by law to be specially fitted and closed at 10 o'clock, Saturday nights at 6 o'clock. Why should not drug stores, doing the same class of business, be placed under similar restrictions? It is an open secret that certain drug stores in this city, sell more liquor than many saloons, yet are not required to close until they want to. These same places are open nearly all day Sunday, too, and their principal trade is in cigars and liquors. Now, why is this permitted? Surely our Stipendiary Magistrate does not know this, or it would be stopped. The Chairman of the Police Committee is also a regular church goer. Does he know whether or not the police are doing their duty in this matter. There is no difficulty in ascertaining if these statements are true, as there is no effort at concealment.

Yours,
OBSERVER.
