

THE DAILY EXAMINER

NOVEMBER 21, 1896.

NEWS NOTES

Premier Laurier was fifty-one years old yesterday. The North Perth election petition has been withdrawn by the writs.

Miss Frances E. Willard has been re-elected President of the World's W. C. T. U. During October there were 1,183 deaths in Havana, 272 of these being from yellow fever and 149 from smallpox.

The lower branch of the Vermont legislature has declined to pass the senate woman suffrage by a vote of 135 to 89. Sixty horses were burned to death in Chicago at a fire in the Fort Dearborn Company's transfer stables a few nights ago.

Hundreds of cattle, sheep and hogs have been drowned and a great deal of wheat and hay crops destroyed by the floods in Washington and Oregon.

The Manitoba wheat prices continue up to the top record, farmers realizing a rich benefit from the keen competition among the millers.

Scarlet fever and diphtheria are so prevalent in Portsmouth, N. H., that the board of health has closed the schools to prevent further spreading of the infections.

There are four candidates in the field for the Winnipeg mayoralty, but the social party league is not satisfied with any of them, and they propose bringing out a fifth candidate.

Mrs. Isabella Riddell, a centenarian, died at Markham, Ont., a few days ago at the age of 106. The deceased was in possession of all her faculties to the end and always enjoyed her pipe.

A fire damp explosion has occurred in a colliery at Recklinghausen, Westphalia recently. Twenty-five bodies have been recovered, and 40 or 50 men are known to be still entombed.

Prof. Robertson goes to Chicago next week to look into the recent improvement in the refrigerator cars, some new devices having recently been put into operation on American railways.

The Customs Department at Ottawa has received two bags of gold dust valued at $10,000 from the customs collections at Fort Carleton and Yukon district up to January 1st last.

A despatch from Macon, Ga., says 39 people, 3,000 bales cotton and hundreds of tons of heavy timber all went down in one crash at central railway compress. It is thought that a number of people are under the ruins.

In the Police Court, at Portland, Me., the other day, a father and his three sons, aged respectively 14, 17 and 19 years, were sentenced for drunkenness. The mother was already in the county jail for the same offence.

A British syndicate is arranging for the purchase of petroleum deposits on the west coast of Newfoundland. Boring made show a splendid flow of rich oil, yielding 54 per cent. of lubricating oil and 43 per cent. for illuminating purposes.

An official despatch received at Madrid from Manila says that the insurgents have been defeated in engagements with the Spanish troops at Santa Cruz and Anglat, the enemy losing 500 men killed, and the government loss being slight.

A great project is now being discussed at Winnipeg, being the lowering Lake Manitoba. This would provide a great boon to the farmers and would also, it is thought, make Winnipeg a manufacturing centre, as it would develop power.

A West despatch states that the torpedo boats known by the numbers 83 and 61, of the French navy were lost during the manoeuvres off Cape de Chevre. The former boat was sunk and its crew is missing. Number 61 was badly damaged.

Reports from Australia indicate that the umpire in a football game has a hard time over there. Several umpires were attacked by the crowds, and the advice says that even the women joined in the onslaughts, endeavoring to use hats and umbrellas on the poor umpires.

Miss Helen Gould has recently given $250,000 to the Presbyterian Board of Christian Missions for the purpose of building a new church. Her father, Jay Gould, was born in Roxbury, and Miss Gould has a beautiful home there. She gave the citizens a fine reading room and free library.

Lord Dufferin's name is mentioned in connection with the Venezuelan Commission, and no letter appointment could be made, but it is to be feared that his growing deafness will prevent him from accepting the position, which Lord Salisbury would doubtless be glad to offer to him.

make one of his upsetting speeches. A grand old man on the shelf is about as nerve-disturbing as a ton of dynamite in the cellar during a thunderstorm.

Some indication of the state of affairs in the Sultan's dominions is to be found in the fact that Monsignor Maghaki, who is Archbishop of Armenia and has just been elected patriarch, lies under sentence of death on a charge of treason. Irish politicians used to find that the readiest way to the British House of Commons lay through the door of the jail, but imprisonment is a new way of securing ecclesiastical promotion at Ottawa.

Herbert Spencer's third volume of "The Principles of Sociology," published on Saturday, completes his life task, begun 36 years ago, and the London Times in an editorial of congratulations on the work, but still more at first planning the work, but still more at first planning the work, but still more at first planning the work.

The annual banquet of the Master Craftsmen's Association was held at St. Hubert's on Thursday last. Among the speakers was Sir Donald Smith. He cited statistics showing the development of the colonies and predicted that thence forward their progress would be greater in a very few years, while at the same time he hoped their relations with the mother country would grow closer. Sir Donald advocated the establishment of commercial relations as pronounced by the Intercolonial conference at Ottawa.

Lord Wolsley, the Commander-in-Chief of the British force, continues to make himself unpopular. At the Guildhall banquet he referred to the British navy, which, he said, "has not fought a battle in sixty-nine years, while the army has done more than 100 battles." There is also mention in the Horse Guards (Army Headquarters) owing to a dispute over the army surgeons between Lord Wolsley and the Marquis of Lansdowne, the Secretary of State for War, and the feeling of discontent in the army is spreading on account of other matters besides the Hussars scandal.

Lucien Baicalpoli, the totally blind son of the keeper of a public X ray display at San Francisco, has discovered that by the aid of the Roentgen ray he can see "sufficiently to distinguish objects." While with Dr. G. Waverley Clarke in the laboratory recently, he had said he could see light. Keys, nails and other metallic objects were placed behind blocks of wood and in purses, and he had distinguished the forms readily. The test was made complete, and it has made such a stir among medical and scientific men that a number of experiments will be made with persons who are blind at once.

According to the annual statement of one of the largest wine houses in England, the French vintage of 1895, is remarkable both for quantity and quality. Heavy rains have done much damage in Champagne and Burgundy, but elsewhere the crops of the vintage are excellent. The only persons discontented at this state of affairs are the Bordeaux merchants, who have on hand an immense quantity of old stock, which gains nothing in value in the presence of the new and abundant yield.

It is estimated that the total production of wine this year will exceed one billion gallons, an amount which has been reached only once—in 1893—since 1878. Of this vast quantity ninety per cent. will be consumed in France, the remaining ten per cent. only being available for export. If it had not been for bad weather in the season, the crop would have been still larger and more valuable.

FACTS ABOUT CUBA. One of Maceo's Captains Tells of the Island's Campaigns. Capt. Coronado Andrade, one of the youngest and bravest of General Maceo's staff, and Mr. Manuel M. Coronado, of Havana, have arrived at New Orleans from Cuba.

Mr. Coronado says: "The Cubans are fighting for life, for liberty, for all they possess, and you know when a man fights for that he fights hard. The outcome, I think, will mean a victory for the Cubans. Further than that I do not care to speak."

Captain Andrade said: "General Maceo counts in the province of Pinar del Rio about 20,000 men of all arms divided in groups of 500 men or less, as the case may be, which operate each in one district, but in constant communication with the general headquarters of the army. Maceo, with his staff, and perhaps about 40,000 men, has his headquarters in the hills between San Cristobal and Cayo. The men are all well clothed and fed, with plenty of ammunition, and give a good account of themselves."

"General Maceo's positions are impregnable."

"Yes, I consider them so. The cordillera of hills in which Maceo is established is 200 miles in length by 16 to 24 in width, and every hill is a stronghold. The sides of these hills, which rise to 1,000 feet above the sea level, are covered with a very thick undergrowth of mangrove, often in stretches by thick forests, and here and there pieces of open land. The only way to get to the mountain tops is by the paths and as these are more than two to four miles long, and are these places are all held by the Cubans, and are also protected by mines and traps which are unknown to any but the guides of the Cuban army. Should the Spaniards succeed in getting to the top of any of the hills, they would have to pass over some less dynamite mines, which are ready to be set off by the pressing of a button. The Spaniards have only twice managed to get to the top of the hills. Once when General Surrae Inclan attempted it at Taco Taco, and another time when General Gonzalez Munes attacked Carraquines, both attempts ending in signal defeats for the Spaniards."

"In this range of hills, there are spots of one to five acres where Gen. Maceo has established prefectures, and which are cultivated, and where are manufactories of powder, dynamite and other explosives; also our hospitals, and it is impossible for the Spaniards to reach these places without first destroying the Cuban army."

In conclusion, Capt. Andrade said: "The sun is rising and every day it grows brighter. I can plainly see in the not far distant future a new republic on the American continent, advanced, civilized, in close touch of friendship with this country."

A despatch to the Paris Journal from Madrid gives the substance of an interview with the Spanish Premier, Senor Canovas del Castillo, in which he is quoted as making the following statement: "The United States has always observed a correct attitude and it is to be hoped she will never cease to respect the rights of Spain in one of internal politics. I believe in the United States will not change its policy for the sake of Cuban negroes, but in the event she did so, Spain will not be the rights to be respected. So long as I remain in power I will not make any concession or yield to anybody."

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION

Premier Laurier Thinks the Settlement Fair.

Archbishop O'Brien Says it is a Feasible Compact of Incompetent Expediency.

OTTAWA, Nov. 21. Referring to the terms of the school settlement Premier Laurier said: "In my opinion all reasonable people will consider the settlement a fair one."

Sir A. P. Caron said: "The settlement which has been promised with such a flourish of trumpets will neither satisfy the Catholic minority nor the people of the province of Quebec."

Mr. Beausoleil, M. P., said: "If they think that Quebec will be satisfied with it they are very much mistaken."

HALIFAX, Nov. 21. Archbishop O'Brien, referring to the settlement, said: "The Fabian-like policy of delay in giving effect to the decision of the Privy Council wrecked our Government. The cynical injustice of this so-called 'settlement' will assuredly wreck another." His Grace calls the settlement a feasible compact of incompetent expediency.
