The Progress of Canada.

COMMENTING upon the report that Lord Dufferin and his wife will return to England from India by way of Canada, the Empire refers to some of the changes and improvements which have taken place since the noble Lord and his charming lady left our shores ten short years ago.

"The greatest and most sweeping change that has taken place since Lord Dufferin left us, let us briefly call attention to the fact that the National Policy, which has proved to be by far the most potent factor in our national growth, was as yet an untried policy in Canada ten years ago.

"Happy is the bride the sun shines on," is an old saying, and we hope a true one, in the present case particularly. On Thursday morning the sun shone in all its splendour, and James Church was filled with the friends of Miss Janet Cantley, to witness her marriage with Mr. Adam Fyfe, manager of Jas. Paton & Co's branch dry goods store at Summerside, P. E. I.

"But perhaps the most wonderful things in all our history of progress are the development and extension of our railway system, with the consequent increase of immigration and the conversion of our wild Northwest prairie lands into one of the most important granaries of the world.

"The Manitoba legislature has been formally called for the 28th inst. The British budget shows £57,000 for extra police for the coming year, in consequence of the dynamite scare.

"The Oxford English Dictionary shows that there are 15,000 words in current use beginning with the letters A and B. The mails are carried by men in many of the back districts of Kentucky, some of them walking 35 miles every day.

"There has been intense heat in Greece, and it is feared that a large portion of the current crop will be lost. The mercury has registered 90 deg. after sunset. Two Buffalo girls are carrying on a drug store. They have both taken a course in pharmacy at a medical college, and are eminently qualified to make a success of the enterprise.

"It is stated that the story of 'A Strange Manuscript Found in a Copper Cylinder,' now being published anonymously in Harper's Magazine, was written by the late Professor DeMille, of Dalhousie College—that Harper's purchased it from him ten years ago. Mrs. DeMille, who now lives in the suburbs of Halifax, vouches for the truth of the statement.

"Trade between Vancouver and Yokohama, is developing. The cargo of a steamer which left Vancouver recently included 400 tons, comprising 6,000 sacks of flour and 620 bales of Canadian cotton piece goods.

"Londoners interested in the cattle trade are reported to have said that the Canadian cattle reaching the London market this year are excellent, indicating much progress in quality during the last four years.

Exports.

WE are indebted to E. L. Lydiard, Esq., for the following statement of exports of produce from King's and Queen's Counties for the month of July:—

Table with columns for commodity (Potatoes, Oats, Meats, Eggs, etc.), quantity, and value. Total value is $88,909.

Latest News Notes.

"The Manitoba legislature has been formally called for the 28th inst. The British budget shows £57,000 for extra police for the coming year, in consequence of the dynamite scare.

"Caterpillars have so overrun the county of Kent, England, that the fruit farmers, whose products are all eaten up, are collecting them and selling them at $20 a sack as food for peasants.

"In order that the English prime minister's mind may not be biased in selecting members of the cabinet, Mr. Rathbone has moved that all cabinet officers shall be made equal in position and salary.

"Thomas G. Reid, a farmer living near Teeswater, Ont., took cramps while bathing on Thursday night and was drowned. He leaves a wife and six young children, two of the latter witnessing the accident.

"An Indiana man has leaved upon a yoke of oxen belonging to his daughter's lover, because he did not put in an appearance on the day fixed for the marriage. He claims $40 as the price paid for the wedding breakfast. They mean business out in Indiana every time.

"James Dunn, a prisoner confined in Montreal jail, made his escape Thursday by making a rope of his blankets, sheets and quilts and letting himself down from the roof of the building to which he had gained access by removing the skylight—a distance of 80 feet. He has not yet been found.

"A crop of white huckleberries was gathered in Pike County, Pa., last week. The berries are about the size of a wild cherry, are a creamy white in color and are very sweet. The bushes yielded this year about 12 bushels, as opposed to 20 bushels in other seasons. They are usually purchased by a Philadelphia fruit dealer at $2 a bushel.

"PROGLISTIC.—The skin glove fight between Jack Havlin, of Boston, and Frank Murphy, of Birmingham, Eng., for the feather-weight championship of the world, and $1,000 a side, began at 5.37 o'clock, Thursday morning, in a dancing pavilion, at Verplauk's Point, N. Y. At the conclusion of the 49th round referee Smith jumped into the ring, and led the fighters together, at the same time declaring that the battle had gone far enough, and he would call it a draw. The decision met the approbation of all the spectators, both the Murphy and Havlin sympathizers.

"SHAM CHAMPAGNE.—1 ounce of tartaric acid, 1 ounce ginger root, 2 gallons water, 1 good sized lemon, 2 1/2 pounds white sugar, 1 gill yeast. Slice lemon, bruise sugar, and mix all, except yeast; boil the water and pour on, letting it stand till cool to blood heat. Add the yeast and stand in the sun one day. Bottle at night, tying the cork. In two days it may be used.

Irish Affairs.

THE PARNELL-CHAMBERLAIN CONTROVERSY—A REMARKABLE LETTER FROM MR. O'SHEA—THE "DUBLIN FREEMAN" HEARD OF SHEA.

Mr. O'Shea writes to the London Times in regard to the interview between Mr. Parnell and Mr. Chamberlain:—"Both are right, but full of horror as Mr. Parnell was on the day after the Phoenix Park murder, it is not astonishing that he has forgotten that he asked me to arrange an interview with a minister he then considered his benefactor. It is quite true that he went with Mr. McCarthy after I left Mr. Chamberlain. I only wish that those who believe Mr. Parnell cognizant of crime had seen him on that day. Innocence never showed itself more clearly under a terrible ordeal. Wild as his attack may appear, I know that for a long time he has been imbued with the fixed idea that Mr. Chamberlain divulged cabinet secrets. The last time I spoke to Mr. Parnell, shortly before the division on Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule bill, he threatened to publish the charge, and I advised him to make up his mind, Mr. Chamberlain would not object. In regard to local government Mr. Parnell's memory is curiously at fault. The scheme was altogether Mr. Parnell's own. Chamberlain hesitated, and only adopted it because it was Parnell's. Why he now repudiates it is a mystery. Surely, also, there is some mistake about the renewal of the Coercion Act. Chamberlain must still have in his possession a draft of the Coercion Act appended in Parnell's own hand, into the form in which he proposed it should be passed, with just enough show of opposition in parliament to satisfy those concerned."

The Times thinks that Mr. Morley's daring to accuse it of acts of the deepest infamy on the unsupported testimony of a reckless Parnellite is scandalous, but it does not attempt to refute Mr. Redmond's charge.

A London special to the New York World says: "An extraordinary letter from Captain O'Shea, published in to-day's Times, concerning the interview between Parnell and Chamberlain has attracted much attention by reason of the vindictive tone it displays towards the Irish leader. The intense bitterness which marks the captain's missive lends some color to the generally accepted rumor that the so-called Parnell letters, now in the possession of Mr. O'Shea, until nine months ago the Irish leader's Egeria, but now his worst enemy. For years, in fact ever since the famous Kilmainham treaty, Parnell had been the most intimate friend of the O'Shea family, at whose villa at Ellham, near London, he resided permanently, even keeping horses and carriages there. A year ago a quarrel occurred, the intimacy came to an end, and at the present moment Parnell has no more bitter enemies than Captain O'Shea and his wife, who is a sister-in-law of the well-known General Sir Evelyn Wood."

The Dublin Freeman, commenting on the debate of the Parnell bill in the House of Commons, asserts that neither the house nor the country have heard all that Mr. and his friends have to say in the matter of the Irish leader's charges against Mr. Chamberlain. There is a great deal more behind what has already come to the surface, the paper declares, and it will all be produced in good time, the whole tendency of the debate being in the direction of a grand showing up all around. About the bill itself, the Freeman thinks that everything has been said that can be said, and expresses the opinion that the longer the debate lasts the worse the government's position becomes.

The London Daily News says that the Parnellites have no intention at present to offer further serious opposition to the commission bill. The commission will probably not commence its inquiry until November or thereabouts.

The Rome correspondent of the Boston Pilot, writing on the 7th ult., says:—"This morning the Holy See returned Cardinal Moran in special audience, whereby to his Eminence, and was very satisfactory to his Eminence. On the conclusion of his audience, the Cardinal presented to His Holiness Mr. Sullivan, Premier of Prince Edward Island, and Mrs. Sullivan. The Holy Father was particularly interested in Mrs. Sullivan, as her mother was born in Sicily, and the family of Pucci, to which his Holiness belongs, originally came from that city."
